Far Fetched Facts A Parable Of Development Aid Inside Technology:

Far-Fetched Facts Richard Rottenburg, 2009-04-17 A fictionalized ethnographic study of development aid in sub Saharan Africa that focuses on technologies of inscription in the interactions of development banks international experts and local managers In 1996 the sub Saharan African country of Ruritania launched a massive waterworks improvement project funded by the Normesian Development Bank headquartered in Urbania Normland and with the guidance of Shilling Partner a consulting firm in Mercatoria Normland Far Fetched Facts tells the story of this project as narrated by anthropologists Edward B Drotlevski and Samuel A Martonosi Their account of the Ruritanian waterworks project views the problems of development from a new perspective focusing on technologies of inscription in the interactions of development bank international experts and local managers This development project is fictionalized of course although based closely on author Richard Rottenburg s experiences working on and observing different development projects in the 1990s Rottenburg uses the case of the Ruritanian waterworks project to examine issues of standardization database building documentation calculation and territory mapping The techniques and technologies of the representational practices of documentation are crucial Rottenburg argues both to day to day management of the project and to the demonstration of the project s legitimacy Five decades of development aid or development cooperation as it is now sometimes known have yielded disappointing results Rottenburg looks in particular at the role of the development consultant often called upon to act as mediator between the other actors and at the interstitial spaces where developmental cooperation actually occurs He argues that both critics and practitioners of development often misconstrue the grounds of cooperation which he claims are moral legal and political rather than techno scientific or epistemological

Developer's Dilemma Casey O'Donnell, 2014-11-21 Step inside the shoes of video game creators in this fascinating look at game development and how it can inform our understanding of work Rank and file game developers bring videogames from concept to product and yet their work is almost invisible hidden behind the famous names of publishers executives or console manufacturers In this book Casey O'Donnell examines the creative collaborative practice of typical game developers His investigation of why game developers work the way they do sheds light on our understanding of work the organization of work and the market forces that shape and are shaped by media industries O'Donnell shows that the ability to play with the underlying systems technical conceptual and social is at the core of creative and collaborative practice which is central to the New Economy When access to underlying systems is undermined so too is creative collaborative process Drawing on extensive fieldwork in game studios in the United States and India O'Donnell stakes out new territory empirically conceptually and methodologically Mimicking the structure of videogames the book is divided into worlds within which are levels and each world ends with a boss fight a rant about lessons learned and tools mastered O'Donnell describes the process of videogame development from pre production through production considering such aspects as experimental systems socially mandatory overtime and the perpetual startup machine that exhausts young initially enthusiastic workers He links work practice to broader systems of publishing manufacturing and distribution introduces the concept of a privileged actor intra internetwork and describes patent and copyright enforcement by industry and the state

Producing Power Sonja D. Schmid, 2015-02-06 An examination of how the technical choices social hierarchies economic structures and political dynamics shaped the Soviet nuclear industry leading up to Chernobyl The Chernobyl disaster has been variously ascribed to human error reactor design flaws and industry mismanagement Six former Chernobyl employees were convicted of criminal negligence they defended themselves by pointing to reactor design issues Other observers blamed the Soviet style of ideologically driven economic and industrial management In Producing Power Sonja Schmid draws on interviews with veterans of the Soviet nuclear industry and extensive research in Russian archives as she examines these alternate accounts Rather than pursue one definitive explanation she investigates how each of these narratives makes sense in its own way and demonstrates that each implies adherence to a particular set of ideas about high risk technologies human machine interactions organizational methods for ensuring safety and productivity and even about the legitimacy of the Soviet state She also shows how these attitudes shaped and were shaped by the Soviet nuclear industry from its very beginnings Schmid explains that Soviet experts established nuclear power as a driving force of social not just technical progress She examines the Soviet nuclear industry's dual origins in weapons and electrification programs and she traces the emergence of nuclear power experts as a professional community Schmid also fundamentally reassesses the design choices for nuclear power reactors in the shadow of the Cold War's arms race Schmid's account helps us understand how and why a complex sociotechnical system broke down Chernobyl while unique and specific to the Soviet experience can also provide valuable lessons for contemporary nuclear projects

Low Power to the People Christina Dunbar-Hester, 2014-11-07 The United States ushered in a new era of small scale broadcasting in 2000 when it began issuing low power FM LPFM licenses for noncommercial radio stations around the country Over the next decade several hundred of these newly created low wattage stations took to the airwaves This book describes the practices of an activist organization focused on LPFM during this era Publisher's description

Networks of Knowledge Production in Sudan Sondra Hale, Gada Kadoda, 2016-09-14 This is the first book of its kind on Sudan and arguably one of the first in North Africa We are part of an emerging more cosmopolitan approach that calls for a reassessment of ideas about not only the concept of identities but also about migration and technology especially social media Our essayists engage in redefinitions the broadening of our key variables the linking and intersecting of concepts and the investigations of methods and ethics and opt for an approach that is at once culturally specific to Sudan one of the most fluid social landscapes in the world and transnational Our essays address the narrowness of studies of migration and note the almost total neglect in the broader Sudan literature of the rise of technology mobile telephony and social media in particular Furthermore our essayists address the near neglect in the Sudan literature of certain categories of people such as youth or certain diverse spaces such as neighborhoods or gold mines We have also been attempting to move away from the nearly stereotypic descriptions of Sudan to deal with topics that align Sudan with transnational issues and themes knowledge production among them This multidisciplinary collection of essays is the first comprehensive work to grapple explicitly with the question of knowledge production in such a diverse social landscape We discuss the impact of current trends in information technology and contemporary forms of identity and mobility on knowledge production These issues are pertinent for different sectors such as academia government or business and as we demonstrate reveal a myriad of possibilities for studying diverse population groups like youth women diaspora or specific political contexts such as conflict or oppression

Beyond Imported Magic Eden Medina, Ivan da Costa Marques, Christina Holmes, 2014-08-15 Studies challenging the idea that technology and science flow only from global North to South The essays in this volume study the creation adaptation and use of science and technology in Latin America They challenge the view that scientific ideas and technology travel unchanged from the global North to the global South the view of technology as imported magic They describe not only alternate pathways for innovation invention and discovery but also how ideas and technologies circulate in Latin American contexts and transnationally The contributors explorations of these issues and their examination of specific Latin American experiences with science and technology offer a broader more nuanced understanding of how science technology politics and power interact in the past and present The essays in this book use methods from history and the social sciences to investigate forms of local creation and use of technologies the circulation of ideas people and artifacts in local and global networks and hybrid technologies and forms of knowledge production They address such topics as the work of female forensic geneticists in Colombia the pioneering Argentinean use of fingerprinting technology in the late nineteenth century the design use and meaning of the XO Laptops created and distributed by the One Laptop per Child Program and the development of nuclear energy in Argentina Mexico and Chile Contributors Pedro Ignacio Alonso Morgan G Ames Javiera Barandiar n Jo o Biehl Anita Say Chan Amy Cox Hall Henrique Cukierman Ana Delgado Rafael Dias Adriana D az del Castillo H Mariano Fressoli Jonathan Hagood Christina Holmes Matthieu Hubert Noela Invernizzi Michael Lemon Ivan da Costa Marques Gisela Mateos Eden Medina Mar a Fernanda Olarte Sierra Hugo Palmarola Tania P rez Bustos Julia Rodriguez Israel Rodr guez Giralt Edna Su rez D az Hern n Thomas Manuel Tironi Dominique Vinck
