US designed plants exploded in Japan many countries moved to abandon reactors for renewables In the United States however powerful corporations and a compliant government still defend nuclear power while promising billion dollar bailouts to operators Each new disaster demonstrates that the nuclear industry and governments lie to avoid panic to preserve the myth of safe clean nuclear power and to sustain government subsidies Tokyo and Washington both covered up Fukushima's radiation risks and when confronted with damning evidence simply raised the levels of acceptable risk to match the greater levels of exposure Nuclear Roulette dismantles the core arguments behind the nuclear industrial complex's Nuclear Renaissance While some critiques are familiar nuclear power is too costly too dangerous and too unstable others are surprising Nuclear Roulette exposes historic links to nuclear weapons impacts on Indigenous lands and lives and the ways in which the Nuclear Regulatory Commission too often takes its lead from industry rewriting rules to keep failing plants in compliance Nuclear Roulette cites NRC records showing how corporations routinely defer maintenance and lists resulting near misses in the US which average more than one per month Nuclear Roulette chronicles the problems of aging reactors uncovers the costly challenge of decommissioning explores the industry's greatest seismic risks not on California's quake prone coast but in the Midwest and Southeast and explains how solar flares could black out power grids causing the world's 400 plus reactors to self destruct This powerful expos concludes with a roundup of proven and potential energy solutions that can replace nuclear technology with a Renewable Renaissance combined with conservation programs that can cleanse the air and cool the planet

the opulence of human society but at the expense of the depletion of nature Space observes Rifkin became synonymous with passive natural resources while a principal role of government and the economy was to manage nature as property This long adhered to temporal spatial orientation writes Rifkin has taken humanity to the commanding heights as the dominant species on Earth and to the ruin of the natural world In the emerging era says Rifkin efficiency is giving way to adaptivity as the all encompassing temporal value while space is perceived as animated self organizing and fluid A younger generation in turn is pivoting from growth to flourishing finance capital to ecological capital productivity to regenerativity Gross Domestic Product to Quality of Life Indicators hyper consumption to eco stewardship globalization to glocalization geopolitics to biosphere politics nation state sovereignty to bioregional governance and representative democracy to citizen assemblies and distributed peerocracy Future generations suggests Rifkin will likely experience existence less as objects and structures and more as patterns and processes and come to understand that each of us is literally an ecosystem made up of the microorganisms and elements that comprise the hydrosphere lithosphere atmosphere and biosphere The autonomous self of the Age of Progress is giving way to the ecological self of the Age of Resilience The now worn scientific method that underwrote the Age of Progress is also falling by the wayside making room for a new approach to science called Complex Adaptive Systems modeling Likewise detached reason is losing cachet while empathy and biophilia become the norm At a moment when the human family is deeply despairing of the future Rifkin gives us a window into a promising new world and a radically different future that can bring us back into nature s fold giving life a second chance to flourish on Earth Bright Green Future Gregory Schwartz,Trevor Decker Cohen,2021-04-13 Bright Green Future chronicles a renaissance at the edge of a crisis As climate change shifts our planet towards an uncertain future a movement of unlikely heroes are building a blueprint for a better world It s a world where clean power grows wealth for local communities resources regenerate themselves city planning is driven by the people and healthy soil is our greatest asset These changemakers have opened a gateway for ordinary people to begin imagining and building the bright future we deserve Greg Schwartz holds a Ph D in geography from the University of Texas Austin and his work focuses on cultural and technological solutions to climate change He has lived on four continents and traveled the world extensively Greg also has a plant based lifestyle and is a former pro athlete both of which inform his approach to human and planetary health Currently he lives in California with his wife and two sons For more about Greg visit <http://www.theplanetdoctor.com> Trevor Decker Cohen is a writer who s passionate about a better future for the planet He s edited two books Healthcare without Corruption provides a non profit vision for the US healthcare system Thermoinfocomplexity establishes a new theory on the way evolution works Sustainability Innovation Climate Change Renewable Energy Regenerative Farming Environmental Justice Cities Belief Systems Urban Development The Unnatural World David Biello,2016-11-15 A brilliant young environmental journalist argues that we must innovate and adapt to save planet Earth in this enlightening trip around the world to meet people working out new ways for humanity to live as well as survive The New York Times Book Review With the historical perspective of The Song of the Dodo and the urgency of Al Gore s An Inconvenient Truth The Unnatural World chronicles a disparate band of unlikely heroes an effervescent mad scientist who would fertilize the seas a pigeon obsessive bent on bringing back the extinct a low level government functionary in China doing his best to clean up his city and more These scientists billionaires and ordinary people are all working toward saving the best home humanity is ever likely to have What is the threat It is us In a time when a species dies out every ten minutes when summers are getting hotter winters colder and oceans higher some people still deny mankind s effect on the Earth But all of our impacts on the planet have ushered in what qualifies as a new geologic epoch thanks to global warming mass extinction and such technologies as nuclear weapons and plastics A futurist ray of hope amid the usual denial and despair Esquire The Unnatural World examines the world we have created and analyzes the glimmers of light emerging from the efforts of incredible individuals seeking to change our future Instead of a world without us this history of the future shows how to become good gardeners helping people thrive along with an abundance of plants animals all the exuberant profusion of life on Earth a better world with us The current era of humans need not be the end of the world and Biello describes both what we have done to alter our planet and what we should do in the future to ensure its habitability Scientific American

The Nature of Tomorrow Michael Rawson,2021-01-01 An examination of how Western visions of endless future growth have contributed to the global environmental crisis This book does something that is worth doing and that no other scholarly book I know of comes close to doing tracing the history of imagined environmental futures in the Western world William Meyer Colgate University For centuries the West has produced stories about the future in which humans use advanced science and technology to transform the earth Michael Rawson uses a wide range of works that include Francis Bacon s New Atlantis the science fiction novels of Jules Verne and even the speculations of think tanks like the RAND Corporation to reveal the environmental paradox at the heart of these narratives the single minded expectation of unlimited growth on a finite planet Rawson shows how these stories which have long pervaded Western dreams about the future have helped to enable an unprecedentedly abundant and technology driven lifestyle for some while bringing the threat of environmental disaster to all Adapting to ecological realities he argues hinges on the ability to create new visions of tomorrow that decouple growth from the idea of progress

The Human Age Diane Ackerman, 2014-09-09 As Diane Ackerman writes in her brilliant new book The Human Age our relationship with nature has changed radically irreversibly but by no means all for the bad Our new epoch is laced with invention Our mistakes are legion but our talent is immeasurable Ackerman is justly celebrated for her unique insight into the natural world and our place in it In this landmark book she confronts the unprecedented reality that one prodigiously intelligent and meddlesome creature Homo sapiens is now the dominant force shaping the future of planet Earth Humans have subdued 75 percent of the land surface concocted a wizardry of industrial and medical marvels strung lights all across the darkness We tinker with nature at every opportunity we garden the planet with our preferred species of plants and animals many of them invasive and we have even altered the climate threatening our own extinction Yet we reckon with our own destructive capabilities in extraordinary acts of hope filled creativity we collect the DNA of vanishing species in a frozen ark equip orangutans with iPads and create wearable technologies and synthetic species that might one day outsmart us With her distinctive gift for making scientific discovery intelligible to the layperson Ackerman takes us on an exhilarating journey through our new reality introducing us to many of the people and ideas now creating perhaps saving our future and that of our fellow creatures A beguiling optimistic engagement with the changes affecting every part of our lives The Human Age is a wise and beautiful book that will astound delight and inform intelligent life for a long time to come
