Dirty Sacred Rivers Confronting South Asia's Water Crisis:

Dirty, Sacred Rivers Cheryl Colopy, 2012-10-18 One journalist's account of her 7 year journey through the Ganges river basin to explore the revered yet highly polluted rivers of South Asia Shared Watercourses and Water Security in South Asia Salman M.A. Salman, Kishor Upreti, 2018-08-13 Shared water resources in South Asia face various challenges including scarcity population growth and climate change impacts on all the riparians Consequently national calls for water security have become louder As a result collaboration among the nations of South Asia for ensuring equitable sharing of such water resources has not been optimal While most countries do not have reliable systems for data generation those possessing some hydrological data consider them state secrets restricting their exchange Even when treaty obligations exist data sharing practices are ad hoc and the range of information shared is limited Thus negotiating new transboundary water treaties amongst South Asia's riparian countries has become a daunting task and enforcing existing ones remains a real challenge

River of Life, River of Death Victor Mallet, 2017-10-13 India is killing the Ganges and the Ganges in turn is killing India The waterway that has nourished more people than any on earth for three millennia is now so polluted with sewage and toxic waste that it has become a menace to human and animal health Victor Mallet traces the holy river from source to mouth and from ancient times to the present day to find that the battle to rescue what is arguably the world's most important river is far from lost As one Hindu sage told the author in Rishikesh on the banks of the upper Ganges known to Hindus as the goddess Ganga If Ganga dies India dies If Ganga thrives India thrives The lives of 500 million people is no small thing Drawing on four years of first hand reporting and detailed historical and scientific research Mallet delves into the religious historical and biological mysteries of the Ganges and explains how Hindus can simultaneously revere and abuse their national river Starting at the Himalayan glacier where the Ganges emerges pure and cold from an icy cave known as the Cow's Mouth and ending in the tiger infested mangrove swamps of the Bay of Bengal Mallet encounters everyone from the naked holy men who worship the river to the engineers who divert its waters for irrigation the scientists who study its bacteria and Narendra Modi the Hindu nationalist prime minister who says he wants to save India's mother river for posterity Can they succeed in saving the river from catastrophe or is it too late Complexity of Transboundary Water Conflicts Enamul

Choudhury, Shafiqul Islam, 2018-12-07 Complexity of Transboundary Water Conflicts seeks to understand transboundary water issues as complex systems with contingent conditions and possibilities To address those conditions and leverage the possibilities it introduces the concept of enabling conditions as a pragmatic way to identify and act on the emergent possibilities to resolve transboundary water issues Based on this theoretical frame the book applies the ideas and tools from complexity science contingency and enabling conditions to account for events in the formulation of treaties agreements between disputing riparian states in river basins across the world Indus Jordan Nile Ganges Brahmaputra Colorado Danube Senegal and Zayandehrud It also includes a section with scholars' reflections on the relevance and weakness of the theoretical framework Transboundary Water Governance and International Actors in South Asia Paula Hanasz, 2017-10-12 International organisations such as the World Bank began to intervene in the transboundary water governance of the Ganges Brahmaputra Meghna river basin in the mid 2000s and the South Asia Water Initiative SAWI is its most ambitious project in this regard Yet neither SAWI nor other international initiatives such as those of the Australian and UK governments have been able to significantly improve transboundary water interaction between India Nepal Bhutan and Bangladesh This book identifies factors that contribute to water conflicts and that detract from water cooperation in this region It sheds light on how international organisations affect these transboundary water interactions The book discusses how donor led initiatives can better engage with transboundary hydropolitics to increase cooperation and decrease conflict over shared freshwater resources It is shown that there are several challenges addressing transboundary water issues is not a top priority for the riparian states there is concern about India's hydro hegemony and China's influence and international actors in general do not have substantial support of the local elites However the book suggests some ways forward for improving transboundary water interaction These include addressing the political context and historical grievances building trust and reducing power asymmetry between riparian states creating political will for cooperation de securitising water taking a problemshed view strengthening water sharing institutions and moving beyond narratives of water scarcity and supply side solutions At Nature's Edge Gunnel Cederlöf, Mahesh Rangarajan, 2018-09-18 In an epoch when environmental issues make the headlines this is a work that goes beyond the everyday Ecologies as diverse as the Himalayas and the Indian Ocean coast the Negev desert and the former military bases of Vietnam or the Namib desert and the east African savannah all have in common a long time human presence and the many ways people have modified nature With research covering countries from Asia Africa and Australia the authors come together to ask how and why human impacts on nature have grown in scale and pace from a long pre history The chapters in this volume illumine specific patterns and responses across time going beyond an overt centring of the European experience The tapestry of life and the human reshaping of environments evoke both concern and hope making it vital to understand when why and how we came to this particular turn in the road Eschewing easy labels and questioning eurocentrism in today's climate vocabulary this is a volume that will stimulate rethinking among scholars and citizens alike The Saturday Evening Post, 1924 Water Conflicts and Resistance Venkatesh Dutta, 2021-07-29 This book presents a systematic study of transboundary regional and local water conflicts and resistance across several river basins in South Asia Addressing hydro socio economic aspects in competing water sharing and transfer agreements as well as conflicting regimes of legal plurality property rights and policy implementation it discusses themes such as rights over land and natural resources resettlement of dam displaced people urban rural conflicts over water allocation peri urbanisation land use conflicts and water security tradeoffs and constraints in restoration of ecological flows in rivers resilience against water conflicts in a river basin and irrigation projects and sustainability of water resources Bringing together experts professionals lawyers government and the civil society the volume analyses water conflicts at local regional and transboundary scales reviews current debates with case studies and outlines emerging challenges in water policy law governance and institutions in South Asia It also offers alternative tools and frameworks of water sharing mechanisms conflict resolution dialogue and models of cooperation and collaboration for key stakeholders towards possible solutions for effective equitable and strategic water management This book will be useful to scholars and researchers of development studies environment studies water studies public policy political science international relations conflict resolution political economy economics sociology and social anthropology environmental law governance and South Asian studies It will also benefit practitioners water policy thinktanks and associations policymakers diplomats and NGOs

Erwin Wurm Peter Weibel, Christa Steinle, 2002-02-27 Dirty Sacred Rivers explores South Asia's increasingly urgent water crisis taking readers on a journey through North India Nepal and Bangladesh from the Himalaya to the Bay of Bengal The book shows how rivers traditionally revered by the people of the Indian subcontinent have in recent decades deteriorated dramatically due to economic progress and gross mismanagement Dams and ill advised embankments strangle the Ganges and its sacred tributaries Rivers have become sewage channels for a burgeoning population To tell the story of this enormous river basin environmental journalist Cheryl Colopy treks to high mountain glaciers with hydrologists bumps around the rough embankments of India's poorest state in a jeep with social workers and takes a boat excursion through the Sundarbans the mangrove forests at the end of the Ganges watershed She lingers in key places and hot spots in the debate over water the megacity Delhi a paradigm of water mismanagement Bihar India's poorest most crime ridden state thanks largely to the blunders of engineers who tried to tame powerful Himalayan rivers with embankments but instead created annual floods and Kathmandu the home of one of the most elegant and ancient traditional water systems on the subcontinent now the site of a water development boondoggle Colopy's vivid first person narrative brings exotic places and complex issues to life introducing the reader to a memorable cast of characters ranging from the most humble members of South Asian society to engineers and former ministers Here we find real life heroes bucking current trends trying to find rational ways to manage rivers and water They are reviving ingenious methods of water management that thrived for centuries in South Asia and may point the way to water sustainability and healthy rivers

Attitudes to Water in South Asia Gareth Price, 2014 Drawing on interviews with hundreds of policymakers and key stakeholders in five countries in South Asia this report assesses current thinking toward domestic water management and transboundary water issues and suggests strategies that could help to reframe water as a shared resource rather than a potential source of conflict

Water Management in South Asia Sumana Bandyopadhyay, Habibullah Magsi, Sucharita Sen, Tomaz Ponce Dentinho, 2020-01-29 This book highlights various challenges and opportunities for water management and cooperation in South Asia In light of increasing urbanization and development in the region and related pressure on water resources the contributions investigate water conflictual and cooperative attitudes and gestures between countries and regions analyse management trade offs between nature agriculture and urban uses and examine water sustainable management and related policies By studying major river basins in the region such as Indus Ganges Brahmaputra Narmada Godavari and Krishna the chapters highlight socio economic infrastructural environmental and institutional aspects of water scarcity in South Asia and present best practices for improved sustainable water management and security in the region

Conflict and Cooperation on South Asia's International Rivers:A Legal Perspective Salman Salman,Kishor Uprety,2002-11-06 Water resources management is receiving increasing attention worldwide due to the considerable challenges that face the quantitative and qualitative aspects of water These challenges are attributed to a multitude of factors including the significant increase in population urbanization and environmental degradation Such factors are more apparent in the South Asian Sub continent Bangladesh India Nepal and Pakistan than many other parts of the world Moreover the problems of the Sub continent are compounded by the fact that it encompasses some 20 major international rivers As a result the Sub continent has had to deal with some of the most difficult disputes over international rivers while at the same time it has been successful in designing some interesting methods for cooperation This book by Dr Salman M A Salman and Dr Kishor Uprety focuses on the hydro politics and legal regime of international water in the Sub continent It discusses the bilateral treaty regimes between India and Pakistan India and Nepal and India and Bangladesh over some of the major shared rivers between them The book also provides an overview of main issues and common elements regarding shared rivers among those countries

Managing Water Conflict Ashok Swain,2004-06-01 Countries are meeting increasing water demand by building reservoirs and by diverting water from one area to another When the water belongs to an international river system these measures lead to riparian conflicts However water scarcity not only brings conflict to these regions but also plays its part in building cooperation In several international river basins in Asia Africa and the Middle East competing and disputing riparian countries are now moving towards a co operative sharing arrangement The signs of agreements on water sharing may be easy but the real problem is how to keep these arrangements on track Such agreements can positively contribute to peace and cooperation by addressing future needs making sustainable decisions and being progressive in their management Managing Water Conflict looks at these current stresses and likely future scenarios for this vitally important subject

Informing Water Policies in South Asia Anjal Prakash,Chanda Gurung Goodrich,Sreoshi Singh,2018-05-11 This book analyzes water policies in South Asia from the perspective of Integrated Water Resources Management IWRM It seeks to address the problems of water scarcity conflict and pollution resulting from the gross mismanagement and over exploitation of this finite resource Highlighting the need for IWRM in mitigating abuse and ensuring sustainable use it discusses issues relating to groundwater management inter state water conflicts peri urban water use local traditional water management practices coordination between water users and uses and water integration at the grassroots level With case studies from

India Bangladesh Pakistan and Nepal the innovative painstaking and transnational researches presented in the volume deal with questions of equity gender sustainability and democratic governance in water policy interventions It will interest researchers and students of development studies environmental studies natural resource management water governance and public administration as also water sector professionals policymakers civil society activists and governmental and nongovernmental organizations

Contested Waters Amit Ranjan, 2020-09-02 This book examines India's transboundary river water disputes with its South Asian riparian neighbours Pakistan Bangladesh Nepal and Bhutan It explores the history of disputes and cooperation over the transboundary river water in this region as well as discusses current disputes and future concerns It analyses how and why existing transboundary river water sharing treaties between India and its South Asian riparian neighbours are confronted with challenges The book indicates that India's transboundary river water disputes with its South Asian riparian neighbours are likely to escalate in coming years due to the widening of the demand supply gap in the respective countries It further shows the impact of bilateral relations on the resolution of transboundary river water disputes even as cordial relationships do not always guarantee the absence of river water disputes between riparian states The book looks at some key questions How political are India's transboundary rivers water disputes in South Asia Why do the roots of India's river water disputes with Bangladesh and Pakistan lie in the partition of the British India in 1947 Why are there reservations against India's hydroelectricity projects or allegations of water theft Is it possible to resolve transboundary river water disputes among these South Asian countries This book will greatly interest scholars and researchers working in the areas of river management environmental politics transnationalism water resources politics and international relations security studies peace and conflict studies geopolitics development studies governance and public administration and South Asian studies in addition to policymakers and journalists

Imagining Industan Zafar Adeel, Robert G. Wirsing, 2016-10-20 This volume calls upon over a dozen Indus observers to imagine a scenario for the Indus basin in which transboundary cooperation over water resources overcomes the insecurity arising from water dependence and scarcity From diverse perspectives its essays examine the potential benefits to be gained from revisiting the 1960 Indus Waters Treaty as well as from mounting joint efforts to increase water supply to combat climate change to develop hydroelectric power and to improve water management The Indus basin is shared by four countries Afghanistan China India and Pakistan The basin's significance stems in part simply from the importance of these countries three of them among the planet's most populous states one of them boasting the world's second largest economy and three of them members of the exclusive nuclear weapons club However the basin's significance stems also from the great importance of the Indus waters themselves due especially to the region's massive dependence on irrigated agriculture as well as to the menace of climate change and advancing water scarcity The Industan this volume imagines is a definite departure from business as usual responses to the Indus basin's emerging fresh water crisis The objective is to kindle serious discussion of the cooperation needed to confront what many water experts believe is developing into one of the planet's most gravely threatened river basins. It is thus both an assessment of the current state of play in regard to water security in the Indus basin and a recommendation about where to go from here.

River Health and Ecology in South Asia Bidhan Chandra Patra, Pravat Kumar Shit, Gouri Sankar Bhunia, Manojit Bhattacharya, 2021-12-01. This volume reviews recent hydrological and environmental issues resulting from human-induced water pollution practices while providing case studies on the physical, chemical, and eco-biological techniques used to mitigate the impacts of river ecosystem pollution in South Asian countries. The book demonstrates the key methods of measurement, monitoring, mapping, and modeling of river water quality and how it is impacted by pollution and incorporates contemporary geospatial technological applications for the management and sustainability of future water resources. The major topics that the book addresses are the fundamental concepts of river ecosystem health, riverine ecology and habitats, risk assessment of riverine pollution, and technology-based river pollution control strategies. The book will serve as an interdisciplinary guide for researchers, students, and GIS specialists working in various disciplines including pollution hazards, river ecosystem restoration, water quality, remote sensing, zoology, natural resources management, and environmental geography.

Rivers in Contention: Is There a Water War in South Asia's Future? Robert G. Wirsing, 2008.

Water Resources Policies in South Asia Anjal Prakash, Sreoshi Singh, C. G. Goodrich, S. Janakarajan, 2020-11-29. Falling or stagnant agricultural growth, increasing dependence on groundwater, climate variability, swift industrialization, and unplanned and unregulated urbanization in South Asia have spawned a variety of challenges for water resources governance, management, and use. Groundwater overdraft, insufficient, ill-managed, and poor quality freshwater supply vis-à-vis escalating demand and water pollution. Water policies in each of the South Asian countries thus call for a more holistic understanding for the efficient management, equitable distribution, and sustainable use of this scarce resource. Analyzing the economic, demographic, and ideological context in which water policies are framed and implemented, this book argues for an integrated framework in formulating and implementing water policies in South Asia. It also highlights some common missing links in the national policies, problems of techno-centric and blueprint approach to water management, growing influence of international donor agencies, and inadequate concern for issues such as equity, sustainability, gender sensitivity, accountability, regional diversity, in property rights regimes, and water management practices and regional conflicts over water access. The innovative and nuanced knowledge on water resources produced from detailed case studies in India, Bangladesh, Bhutan, Nepal, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka will be useful for professionals, academics, policymakers, and activists, as well as those in development studies, environmental studies, natural resource management, and public administration.
