Discourse And Language Education Cambridge Language Teaching Library:

Discourse and Language Education Evelyn Hatch, 1992-01-31 Discourse and Language Education is part of the Cambridge Language Teaching Library series Discourse Analysis for Language Teachers Michael McCarthy, 1991-05-02 A practical introduction to the field of discourse analysis and its relevance for language teaching Teaching Languages to Young Learners Lynne Cameron, 2001-03-15 This book will develop readers understanding of children are being taught a foreign language Task-Based Language Teaching David Nunan, 2004-12-09 The field of task based language teaching has developed considerably since the publication of Designing Tasks for the Communicative Classroom Nunan 1989 a book which helped to set the research agenda in teaching methodology for the following decade While Designing Tasks underpins this new title the material has been thoroughly updated and includes four completely new chapters Task Based Language Teaching offers a comprehensive and up to date appraisal of the field Routledge Encyclopedia of Language Teaching and Learning Michael Byram, 2004 This handbook deals with all aspects of contemporary language teaching and its history Produced for language teaching professionals it is also useful as a reference work for academic studies at postgraduate level

Discourse and Language Education. Evelyn Hatch, 1992-01 Motivational Strategies in the Language Classroom Zoltán Dörnyei, 2001 The book takes a practical approach to teaching motivational strategies in the language classroom and gives the teacher 35 motivational strategies that they can use with language learners Teacher Learning in Language Teaching Donald Freeman, Jack C. Richards, 1996-02-23 This book introduces a new field of educational research called teacher learning as it applies to the teaching of languages Up until recently the study of second language teacher education has focused mainly on the knowledge base and specific skills needed for effective teaching This book invites us to look at teacher education from a fresh point of view through an exploration of the thinking and learning processes of individuals as they learn to teach Seventeen original articles based on studies done in North America Europe Asia and Australia provide examples of pioneering research into the ways that individuals learn to teach languages and the roles that previous experience social context and professional training play in the process The collection thus helps establish a research base for this newly developing field Learner-centredness as Language Education Ian Tudor, 1996 A collaborative approach to language teaching which takes account of the individual and cultural identities of the learners involved Pro-active Language Teacher Education in a Multicultural Society Riana Roos Paola, 2001 This book explores some issues relating to the sociolinguistic situation in South Africa attending especially to language variety and language attitudes The focus is on the teaching of language specifically English and on the relevant education of language teachers in a multicultural country such as South Africa In school systems such as the South African education system which has for many years provided real access to education and power for a limited group of students only the demands of modern society for greater language and cultural knowledge imply radical adjustments to literacy teaching and the training of language teachers The central section of the book focuses on assessing the attitudes of several groups of English teacher trainees towards the use of four varieties of South African English in education The effect of group discussions and lectures aimed at raising awareness of language varieties and of questions of standard and evaluation is measured by a subsequent language attitude assessment The book makes some suggestions as to how language awareness and critical language studies that extend to a critical awareness of genre could contribute to the effective preparation of language teachers Students

Writing in the University Carys Jones, Joan Turner, Brian Street, 2000-01-15 This volume aims to raise awareness of the underlying complexities concerning student writing in the universities The authors address a series of theoretical as well as practical questions regarding the literacies required of students in Higher Education from the perspective of both students themselves and of their tutors The research described here intends to move beyond the narrow confines of current policy debates and the quick fix solutions of writing manuals to explore the epistemological cultural historical and theoretical bases of such writing Issues addressed include the nature of competing epistemologies that underlie the writing process and the varying degrees of explicitness about what academic writing entails ways of challenging the institutional marginalisation of academic writing as teaching learning and research practice what counts as knowledge and how far it is mediated by the rhetorical conventions of one culture to what extent the challenging of such rhetorical conventions is itself a crucial epistemological issue Writing in this volume then is addressed in terms of academic literacy practices involving relations of power issues of identity and theories of knowledge Subject Guide to Books in Print, 2001 Acquisition in

Interlanguage Pragmatics Anne Barron, 2003 This study reports on an investigation designed to in some way meet the need for acquisition research in L2 pragmatics in particular in the form of longitudinal studies and also to meet the need for research into the acquisition of L2 pragmatic competence in German Specifically it concerns a longitudinal study in which the development of the L2 pragmatic competence of a group of 32 Irish learners of German is investigated over ten months spent studying in the target speech community Germany The study is anchored in the field of interlanguage pragmatics and the approach taken is speech act based interest focusing on productions of requests offers and refusals of offers The study also draws on research from discourse analysis in the investigation of offer refusal of offer exchanges The objective of this study was to record any developments whether towards or away from the L2 norm in the L2 pragmatic competence of the current group of learners over time spent in the target community Border Crossings Yves Gambier, Luc van

Doorslaer, 2016-09-14 For decades Translation Studies has been perceived not merely as a discipline but rather as an interdiscipline a trans disciplinary field operating across a number of boundaries This has implied and still implies a considerable amount of interaction with other disciplines There is often much more awareness of and attention to translation and Translation Studies than many translation scholars are aware of This volume crosses the boundaries to other disciplines and explicitly sets up dialogic formats every chapter is co authored both by a specialist from Translation Studies and a scholar from another discipline with a special interest in translation Sixteen disciplinary dialogues about and around translation are the result sometimes with expected partners such as scholars from Computational Linguistics History and Comparative Literature but sometimes also with less expected interlocutors such as scholars from Biosemiotics Game Localization Research and Gender Studies The volume not only challenges the boundaries of Translation Studies but also raises issues such as the institutional division of disciplines the cross fertilization of a given field the trends and turns within an interdisciplinary Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2003 Pragmatics and Language Learning Janusz Arabski,2004
