Disability And Mothering Liminal Spaces Of Embodied Knowledge Critical Perspectives On Disability:

Disability and Mothering Cynthia Lewiecki-Wilson, 2019-02-19 Editors Lewiecki Wilson and Cellio have put together the first book to focus on the intersecting spaces both cultural and personal of disability and mothering Derived from the Latin for threshold the word liminal calls attention to the book's focus on the transitional moments and spaces where the personal and social inside and outside self and other converge The volume features twenty one previously unpublished essays by new as well as established scholars and community activists Contributors some of whom are themselves disabled or mothers of children with disabilities present moving personal accounts and accessible scholarship grounded in historical study experiential and retrospective analysis interviews social research and feminist and disability studies theories In their introduction the editors survey the theoretical frameworks of feminism and disability studies locating the points of overlap crucial to a study of disability and mothering Organized in five sections the book engages questions about reproductive technologies diagnoses and cultural scripts the ability to rewrite narratives of mothering and disability political activism and the tensions formed by the overlapping identities of race class nation and disability The essays speak to a broad audience from undergraduate and graduate students in women's studies and disability studies to therapeutic and health care professionals to anyone grappling with issues such as genetic testing and counseling raising a child with a disability or being disabled and contemplating starting a family

Disability Rhetoric Jay Timothy Dolmage, 2014-01-22 Disability Rhetoric is the first book to view rhetorical theory and history through the lens of disability studies Traditionally the body has been seen as at best a rhetorical distraction at worst those whose bodies do not conform to a narrow range of norms are disqualified from speaking Yet Dolmage argues that communication has always been obsessed with the meaning of the body and that bodily difference is always highly rhetorical Following from this rewriting of rhetorical history he outlines the development of a new theory affirming the ideas that all communication is embodied that the body plays a central role in all expression and that greater attention to a range of bodies is therefore essential to a better understanding of rhetorical histories theories and possibilities

Picturing Disability Robert Bogdan, 2012-11-19 Midget feeble minded crippled lame and insane these terms and the historical photographs that accompany them may seem shocking to present day audiences A young woman with no arms wears a sequined tutu and smiles for the camera as she smokes a cigarette with her toes a man holds up two prosthetic legs while his own legs are bared to the knees to show his missing feet The photos were used as promotional material for circus sideshows charity drives and art galleries They were found on begging cards and in family albums In Picturing Disability Bogdan and his collaborators gather over 200 historical photographs showing how people with disabilities have been presented and exploring the contexts in which they were photographed Rather than focus on the subjects Bogdan turns his gaze on the people behind the camera He examines the historic and cultural environment of the photographs to decipher the relationship between the images and the perspectives of the picture makers In analyzing the visual rhetoric of these photographs Bogdan identifies the wide variety of genres from sideshow souvenirs to clinical photographs Ranging from the 1860s when photographs first became readily available to the 1970s when the disability rights movement became a force for significant change Bogdan chronicles the evolution of disability image creation Picturing Disability takes the reader beyond judging images as positive or slanderous to reveal how particular contexts generate specific emotions and lasting depictions

Disabled Mothers: Stories and Scholarship By and About Mother with Disabilities Gloria Filax,2014-03-01 This collection of 18 scholarly works and personal accounts from Canada the U S and Australia explores and analyzes issues of parenting by mothers with a variety of physical and mental disabilities The book delves into pregnancy birth adoption child custody discrimination and disability politics Noticing dominant ideas meanings and narratives about mothering and disability as the contributors of this book do exposes how the actual lives and experiences of mothers with disabilities are key to challenging cultural norms and therefore discrimination Authoring Autism M. Remi Yergeau,2018-01-05 In Authoring Autism M Remi Yergeau defines neurodivergence as an identity neuroqueerness rather than an impairment Using a queer theory framework Yergeau notes the stereotypes that deny autistic people their humanity and the chance to define themselves while also challenging cognitive studies scholarship and its reification of the neurological passivity of autistics They also critique early intensive behavioral interventions which have much in common with gay conversion therapy and questions the ableist privileging of intentionality and diplomacy in rhetorical traditions Using storying as their method they present an alternative view of autistic rhetoricity by foregrounding the cunning rhetorical abilities of autistics and by framing autism as a narrative condition wherein autistics are the best equipped people to define their experience Contending that autism represents a queer way of being that simultaneously embraces and rejects the rhetorical Yergeau shows how autistic people queer the lines of rhetoric humanity and agency In so doing they demonstrate how an autistic rhetoric requires the reconceptualization of rhetoric s very essence Design, Disability and Embodiment Janice Rieger, 2023-07-31 This timely book explores the spatial and social injustices within our streets malls schools and public institutions Taken for granted acts like going for a walk seeing an exhibition with a friend and going to school are for people with disabilities conditional or precluded acts due to exclusion by design This book stimulates debate and discussion about current practice and studies in spatial design in the context of disability and the growing need for inclusive design globally Case studies of inclusive design in spaces like museums malls galleries and universities are presented to challenge and expose the perspectives of power and spatial injustices that still exist within these spaces today The international case studies presented purposely privilege the voices and perspectives of people with disabilities to expose the multisensorial perspectives of spatial justice in order to understand inclusion more holistically through embodiment If you are an architect designer arts educator curator or museum professional or just want a world where spatial justice is possible then this book will provide you with a new perspective of spatial design through critical disability studies allyship and codesign where tangible approaches and practices for inclusive design are explored Bodies of Knowledge Shelley Tremain, 1999 This sort of interdisciplinary collection of essays on disablement and disabled with its critical theoretical women focus has never been published in Canada Although there have been collections published in the United States these have been few and few between Politicised analyses on disablement remain urgently needed From a disability rights perspective disablement is by and large an effect of inaccessible forms of communication exclusionary architectural design and infrastructural planning and demoralising attitudes Viewing disablement in this way enables us to recognise the way in which ableism interconnects with other systems of oppression such as racism poverty and sexism Topics discussed in this collection include disablement and representation the relations between ableism and racism classism homophobia anti ableist activism and other progressive social political movements feminist antiracist etc and the social construction of disablement Embodied Inequalities in Disability and Development Hisayo Katsui ,Virpi Mesiäislehto ,2022-04-08 This book highlights the embodied knowledge of persons with disabilities as a vital resource for understanding equality without taking disability and development for granted The perspective of embodied inequality offers alternative ways to comprehend our normality as until now the notion of normality has too frequently excluded persons with disabilities and their perspectives Disability inclusion has never been as important as it is today in the development discourse yet systematic discrimination against people due to their disabilities persists To address this the link between theories and practices is strengthened in this book Through using different contexts in the different book chapters the readers are informed of how profoundly inequalities are embedded in our society and pronounced as embodied experiences of persons with disabilities The chapters are written not only by academics but also by disability activists and NGO representatives The chapters focus on disabilities and development as embodied inequalities manifested at different levels including theory law and policy and practice In conclusion the book presents 6 A s as lessons learned from decolonial understanding and conceptions of embodied inequalities in different contexts of disability and development Availability Affordability Accessibility Accountability Assistance and Affection

(Dis)embodied Form Anita Ghai, 2003 With reference to India Disability, the Family, and Society Janet Read, 2000 Their particular experiences and perspectives are linked to wider research and theory on motherhood and caring the life patterns of disabled children and their families and the discrimination faced by disabled children and adults Disability the Family and Society will be of interest to students of disability studies sociology women s studies social policy and social and community work Jacket Critical Disability Studies and the Disabled Child Harriet Cooper, 2020-03-20 This book examines the relationship between contemporary cultural representations of disabled children on the one hand and disability as a personal experience of internalised oppression on the other In focalising this debate through an exploration of the politically and emotionally charged figure of the disabled child Harriet Cooper raises questions both about what it means to speak for the other and about what resistance means when one is unknowingly invested in one s own abjection Drawing on both the author s personal experience of growing up with a physical impairment and on a range of critical theories and cultural objects from Frances Hodgson Burnett s novel The Secret Garden to Judith Butler s work on injurious speech the book theorises the making of disabled and rehabilitated subjectivities With a conceptual framework informed by both psychoanalysis and critical disability studies it investigates the ways in which cultural anxieties about disability come to be embodied and lived by the disabled child Posing new questions for disability studies and for identity politics about the relationships between lived experiences cultural representations and dominant discourses and demonstrating a new approach to the concept of internalised oppression this book will be of interest to scholars and students of disability studies medical humanities sociology and psychosocial studies as well as to those with an interest in identity politics more generally

Reading and Writing Disability Differently Tanya Titchkosky, 2007-05-05 Mixing rigorous social theory with concrete analysis Reading and Writing Disability Differently unpacks the marginality of disabled people by addressing how the meaning of our bodily existence is configured in everyday literate society Tanya Titchkosky begins by illustrating how news media and policy texts reveal dominant Western ways of constituting the meaning of people and the meaning of problems as they relate to our understandings of the embodied self Her goal is to configure disability as something more than a problem and beyond simply a positive or a negative and to treat texts on disability as potential sites to examine neo liberal culture Titchkosky holds that through an exploration of the potential behind limited representations of disability we can relate to disability as a meaningful form of resistance to the restricted normative order of contemporary embodiment Incorporating a textual analysis of ordinary depictions of disability this innovative study promises to represent embodied differences in new ways and alter our imaginative relations to the politics of the body

Narrative Universes of Disability Someshwar Sati, Shilpa Das, Banibrata Mahanta, 2025-04-28 This volume explores and critically examines how disability is communicated to and comprehended by individuals and societies focussing on the shaping of these narratives within diverse disciplinary environments and their interrelation with institutions like academia It delves into the intersection between disability and several new areas of study such as translation studies citizenship inclusive design and accessibility thereby broadening the scope of the discipline of disability studies The volume highlights how disability embodiment shapes narrative structure and challenges deeply entrenched ableist stratifications hegemonies and hierarchies that prevail in the humanities and social sciences It examines the theoretical methodological and ethical narratives of human embodiment and disability by bringing together papers from various parts of the globe from multiple disciplinary perspectives focusing on diverse time segments and dealing with different kinds of disability Read together the contributions to this volume reevaluate how disabled body minds have been historically devalued down the ages suggesting new ways of understanding re thinking this oppression and marginalization This anthology is a valuable resource for students and researchers in cultural and critical disability studies

Rethinking Disability Patrick Devlieger, Beatriz Miranda-Galarza, Steven E. Brown, Megan Strickfaden, 2016-06-15 The act of life is a lived experience common and unique that ties each of us to every other lived experience The fact of disability does not alter this fundamental truth In this edition of Rethinking Disability World Perspectives in Culture and Society we are presented with a system of thinking that considers the values of disability as a resource as a creative source of culture that moves disability out of the realm of victimized people and insurmountable barriers and provides opportunities to use the experience of disability to enter into networks that recognize strengths of differing abilities The authors within will intrigue you will move you will charm you but always will challenge your notion of sameness and difference as they confront the construct and de construct of disability and ableism They present compelling arguments for viewing disABILITY through the multiple lenses of disability culture They explore themes and issues that transcend past and origins time and place nuances of genetics to experiences of present and becoming and towards the future and beyond mere human yet always intrinsically connected to being human This book is intended for all audiences who dare to confront difference and sameness within themselves and in connection with others to inspire researchers who wish to explore and examine disability across social cultural and economic barriers It is an invitation to push away the barriers bring ableism inside to a place where the prosthesis is no longer the elephant in the room
