Disability Hate Crime And Violence Routledge Advances In Disability Studies:

Disability, Hate Crime and Violence Alan Roulstone, Hannah Mason-Bish, 2012-08-21 This book provides a comprehensive and interdisciplinary examination of disability hate crime and violence exploring its emergence on the policy agenda Engaging with the latest debates in criminology disability and violence studies it goes beyond conventional notions of hate crime to look at violences in their myriad forms as they are seen to impact upon disabled people's lives Despite a raft of relevant policy and legislation few have attempted to draw together research on the disabled as victims of hate crime and violence This innovative volume conceptualizes issues of disability hate crime and violence and connects empirical research with theoretical insights Making links between criminal justice policy social care and welfare it highlights areas of best practice and makes suggestions for policy and legislative reform Disability Hate Crime and Violence is written in accessible language with minimal jargon and an international focus Each chapter is grounded in research and practice with relevant policy and legislation clearly signposted throughout Disability Hate Crime and Violence provides a much needed theoretical and practical investigation of the key issues around disabled hate crime and violence It is an important work for students and academics researching and studying in disability studies criminology social policy and sociology as well as those with an interest in domestic violence studies and broader historical and philosophical constructions of disability violence and social harms

Disability Hate Crime Leah Burch, David Wilkin, 2024-09-16 Bringing together perspectives from academics practitioners campaigners and activists this book explores the victimology of disability hate crime DHC For the first time this book brings together recent academic thought the stance of those working for the United Nations to further the rights of disabled people and a helpful toolkit on how to advance the status of the disabled victim of hate crime Campaigners support workers and legal scholars present a tangential approach to revealing the plight of disabled victims and their associates The book will reveal the expertise required to understand experiences of victimisation and how to help reconstruct the lives of those affected by this type of violence Never before has a book produced such a nuanced and multidisciplinary approach to discussing disability hate crime This volume will be useful not only for those academically interested in how disability hate crime is perpetrated but also for scholars who wish to study how to raise awareness and lobby for change It is essential reading for those engaged with hate studies victimology disability and vulnerable communities as well as practitioners and campaigners

Contemporary Intersectional Criminology in the UK Jane Healy, Ben Colliver, 2024-01-16 This is the first collection dedicated to the use of intersectionality as theory framework and methodology in criminological research It draws together contemporary British research to demonstrate the value of intersectionality theory in both familiar and innovative applications including race gender class disability sexual orientation and age Experts explore a range of experiences relating to harm hate crimes and offending and demonstrate the impacts of oppression on complex personal identities that do not fit neatly in homogenised communities Challenging conventional perspectives it positions intersectionality firmly into the mainstream of criminology The Changing Disability Policy System Rune Halvorsen, Bjørn Hvinden, Jerome Bickenbach, Delia Ferri, Ana Marta Guillén Rodríguez, 2017-04-28 Being an active citizen involves exercising social rights and duties enjoying choice and autonomy and participating in political decision making processes which are of importance for one's life. Amid the new challenges facing contemporary welfare states debate over just how active citizens can and ought to be has redoubled. Presenting research from the first major comparative and cross national study of active citizenship and disability in Europe this book analyses the consequences of ongoing changes in Europe what opportunities do persons with disabilities have to exercise Active Citizenship. The Changing Disability Policy System: Active Citizenship and Disability in Europe Volume 1 approaches the conditions for Active Citizenship from a macro perspective in order to capture the impact of the overall disability policy system. This system takes diverse and changing forms in the nine European countries under study. Central to the analysis are issues of coherence and coordination between three subsystems of the disability policy system and between levels of governance. This book identifies the implications and policy lessons of the findings for future disability policy in Europe and beyond. It will appeal to policymakers and policy officials as well as to researchers and students of disability studies comparative social policy international disability law and qualitative research methods. Affecting, Emoting, and Feeling Disability: Entanglements at the Intersection of Disability Studies and the Sociology of Emotions Yvonne Wechuli, Marie Sepulchre, Kelly Fritsch, Stina Bergman Blix, 2025-09-30 This Research Topic explores theorizing on disability and emotion as one frontier of the Sociology of Emotions as it intersects with Disability Studies. While the Sociology of Emotions has only engaged with disability in limited ways so far emancipatory knowledge produced about disability within the broad field of Disability Studies including fields like Mad Studies Deaf Studies and Critical Autism Studies provides a rich archive of emotional first hand accounts of feelings and affective relations such as joy pride shame disgust and fear that are often undertheorised. Importantly the fields of Sociology of Emotions and Disability Studies understand their central topics as primarily social cultural political and ecological phenomena challenging their conceptualization as natural individual or as limited to the realm of the human. By bringing both fields into conversation with one another this special issue aims to deepen our understanding of emotions feelings and affect related to disability. Autism in a Decentered World Alice Wexler, 2016-01-29 Autistic people are empirically and scientifically generalized as living in a fragmented alternate reality without a coherent continuous self. In Part I this book presents recent neuropsychological research and its implications for existing theories of autism selfhood and identity challenging common assumptions about the formation and structure of the autistic self and autism's relationship to neurotypicality. Through several case studies in Part II the book explores the ways in which artists diagnosed with autism have constructed their identities through participation within art communities and cultures and how the concept of self as story can be utilized to better understand the neurological differences between autism and typical cognition. This book will be of particular interest to researchers and scholars within the fields of Disability

Studies Art Education and Art Therapy The Routledge Handbook of Disability, Crime, and Justice Stephen J. Macdonald, Donna Peacock, 2025-05-22 Offering an interdisciplinary exploration of the complex relationships between disability crime and victimisation this comprehensive handbook gathers insights from leading scholars across diverse fields including disability studies criminology history sociology forensic psychology forensic psychiatry and the neurosciences who have conducted extensive research in these areas Adopting a global perspective this volume applies various theoretical frameworks to explore the experiences of diverse disabled communities including those with mental health issues neurodiversity sensory impairments and physical disabilities as they interact with the criminal justice system It also presents contemporary perspectives on crime and victimisation encompassing biomedical biopsychosocial structural cultural and realist approaches and in doing so it delves into critical issues including marginalisation discrimination exclusion and intersectionality while also addressing the inherent disablism and ableism apparent in the justice system Divided into five comprehensive sections Introduction to the Routledge International Handbook of Disability Crime and Justice Histories of Disability and Crime Biomedical and Biopsychosocial Criminology Structural Disability Criminology Cultural Disability Criminology and Realist Disability Criminology this groundbreaking publication covers a wide range of topics These include disability theory penal populations community interventions policing probation courts prisons hate crimes interpersonal victimisation domestic violence sex work marginalisation deviance media representations and systemic ableism disablism within the justice system The Routledge Handbook of Disability Crime and Justice stands as a definitive guide to disability crime and justice and will be of value to all those with an interest in this area Disability Hate Crime Leah Burch, David Wilkin, 2024-10 Bringing together perspectives from academics practitioners campaigners and activists this book explores the victimology of disability hate crime DHC It is essential reading for those engaged with hate studies victimology disability and vulnerable communities as well as practitioners and campaigners Institutional Violence and Disability Kate Rossiter, Jen Rinaldi, 2018-09-03 This was several times with that damn cribbage board I hate cribbage boards to this very day They never beat us on the arms or legs or stuff it was always on the bottom of the feet I couldn't figure it out Brian L Huronia Regional Centre Survivor Over the past two decades the public has borne witness to ongoing revelations of shocking intense and even sadistic forms of violence in spaces meant to provide care This has been particularly true in institutions designed to care for people with disabilities In this work the authors not only describe institutional violence but work to make sense of how and why institutional violence within care settings is both so pervasive and so profound Drawing on a wide range of primary data including oral histories of institutional survivors and staff ethnographic observation legal proceedings and archival data this book asks What does institutional violence look like in practice and how might it be usefully categorized How have extreme forms violence and neglect come to be the cultural norm across institutions What organizational strategies in institutions foster the abdication of personal morality and therefore violence How is institutional care the crucial first step in creating a culture that accepts violence as the norm This highly interdisciplinary work develops scholarly analysis of the history and importance of institutional violence and as such is of particular interest to scholars whose work engages with issues of disability health care law and policy violence incarceration organizational behaviour and critical theory Reimagining Disablist and Ableist Violence as Abjection Ryan Thorneycroft, 2020-07-26 Drawing upon vivid and harrowing life history narratives of people labelled intellectually disabled this book examines the ways in which disabled subjects are constituted regulated governed and violated through an account of abjection Extending interdisciplinary dialogues and approaches it abandons a construct of violence which by law requires a stable notion of a victim and a perpetrator and moves to a theorisation of abjection to explore the ways in which disabled subjects are re produced constituted and treated through time Deploying a wide range of interdisciplinary approaches this book sits at the intersections of criminology and sociology re thinks notions of dis ability violence and subjectivity and utilises crip and queer theory to imagine dis ability differently It will be of interest to all scholars and students of disability studies sociology and criminology and specifically those working the areas of life history work post structuralism hate crime and post modern criminology Disability Hate Crime David Wilkin, 2019-11-10 This book examines the experiences of disabled people on public transport to reveal the everyday abuses that many experience there and the resilience that they need in order to conduct an ordinary life This work represents an intertwining of personal journeys with its author writing from first hand experience and now working as one of the leading researchers of disability hate crime DHC in the UK DHC is an under researched area and the findings in this book have implications beyond the public transport context This book draws on a sample of 56 victim participants and includes data drawn from public transport regulators service operators and staff in the UK Wilkin argues that established legislation needs to be recognised and implemented by regulatory and local authorities in order to reach equality objectives on public transport Each chapter is clearly structured accessibly written and includes key definitions which will speak to practitioners and academics with an interest in victimology policing social policy gender studies disability studies migration studies equality studies and religious studies This book also examines how effectively authorities and service providers safeguard disabled people on UK public transport and reveals adaptive approaches to researching with disabled people Footnotes, 2004 Disability Hate Speech Mark Sherry, Terje Olsen, Janikke Solstad Vedeler, John Eriksen, 2019-11-08 This book the first to specifically focus on disability hate speech explains what disability hate speech is why it is important what laws regulate it both online and in person and how it is different from other forms of hate Unfortunately disability is often ignored or overlooked in academic legal political and cultural analyses of the broader problem of hate speech Its unique personal ideological economic political and legal dimensions have not been recognized until now Disability hate speech is an everyday experience for many people leaving terrible psycho emotional scars This book includes personal testimonies from victims discussing the personal impact of disability hate speech explaining in detail how such hatred affects them It also presents

legal historical psychological and cultural analyses including the results of the first surveys and in depth interviews ever conducted on this topic in some countries This book makes a vital contribution to understanding disability hatred and prejudice and will be of particular interest to those studying issues associated with hate speech disability psychology law and prejudice

Understanding Disability and Everyday Hate Leah Burch,2021-11-05 This book examines disability hate crime It focusses on key questions concerning the ways in which hate is understood and experienced within the context of the everyday in addition to the unique ways that hate can hurt and be resisted It introduces readers to questions surrounding the conceptual framework of hate and policy context in England and Wales and extends these discussions to center upon the experiences of disabled people It presents a conceptual reconsideration of hate crime that connects hate disability and everyday lives and spaces using an affective embodied and emotional understanding of these experiences Drawing on empirical data this framework helps to attend to the diverse ways that disabled people negotiate respond to and resist hate within the context of their everyday lives The book argues that the affective capacity of disabled people can be enhanced through their reflections upon hateful experiences and general experiences of navigating a disabling social world By working with the concept of affective possibility this book offers a more affirmative approach to harnessing the everyday forms of resistance already present within disabled people s lives It speaks to academics students and practitioners interested in disability affect studies hate crime studies sociology and criminology
