Living into God's Dream Catherine Meeks, 2016-11-01 An unflinching look at the failure to achieve an equitable society with faith based approaches to a meaningful racial reconciliation While the dream of post racial America remains unfulfilled and the current turmoil George Floyd and Breonna Taylor to name a few this examination of racism is more relevant and consequential than ever Living into God s Dream combines frontline personal stories with theoretical and theological reflections It aims to forge new and truthful conversations on race and doesn t shy away from difficult discussions such as reasons for the failure of past efforts to achieve genuine racial reconciliation and the necessity to honor rage and grief in the process of moving to forgiveness and racial healing This collection of nine essays is honest pragmatic and courageous in its real world view of racism and how people of faith and conscience can work together to dismantle racism Review questions at the end of the book appropriate for individual or group study can engender deeper discussions and reflections     Ain't Gonna Let Nobody Turn Me Around Therese Taylor-Stinson, 2017-10-01 Following up on the popularity of the groundbreaking anthology Embodied Spirits: Stories of Spiritual Directors of Color this book continues the work of filling a void in the world of contemplative spirituality in stories of the contemplative spiritual journeys of people of color Like the first book Ain't Gonna Let Nobody Turn Me Around incorporates stories from members of their encounters with othering and disparaging treatment across issues and their understandings of contemplative practice and the call to action that follows This volume seeks to give voice to these issues from those whom have lived with them and to seek peace and healing for the unresolved trauma that continues to separate us In a world of resurgent racism and bias against those whose skin color nationality religion gender or sexuality are seen as other these are voices that need to be heard     The Index, 1878     Spiritual Directors Kay Gray, 1996
