Donadey, 2020-10-07 The Algerian War in Film Fifty Years Later 2004 2012 examines the cultural political and aesthetic significance of narrative films made during the fiftieth anniversary period of the war between 2004 and 2012 This period was a fruitful one in which film became a central medium generating varied representations of the war and Anne Donadey argues that the fiftieth anniversary film production contributed to France s move from a period of the return of the repressed to one of difficult anamnesis Donadey provides a close analysis of twenty narrative films made during this period on both side of the Mediterranean observing that while some films continue to center on the point of view of only one stake holding group a number of films open up new opportunities for multicultural French audiences to envision the war through the eyes of Algerian characters on screen and other films bring memories from various groups together in thoughtful articulations that represent the complexity of the situation Donadey takes this analysis a step further to analyze what types of gendered representations emerge in these films given the important participation of Algerian women in the revolutionary war Scholars of Francophone studies film women s studies and history will find this book particularly useful Catalogue of the Printed Books in the Library of the British Museum British Library, 1946 The French Idea of History Carolina

Armenteros, 2011-07-07 A fierce absolutist a furious theocrat the champion of the hardest narrowest and most inflexible dogmatism part learned doctor part inquisitor part executioner Thus did mile Faguet describe Joseph Marie de Maistre 1753 1821 in his 1899 history of nineteenth century thought This view of the influential thinker as a reactionary has with little variation held sway ever since In The French Idea of History Carolina Armenteros recovers a very different figure one with a far more subtle understanding of and response to the events of his day Maistre emerges from this deeply learned book as the crucial bridge between the Enlightenment and the historicized thought of the nineteenth century Armenteros demonstrates that Maistre inaugurated a specifically French way of thinking about past present and future that held sway not only among conservative political theorists but also among intellectuals generally considered to belong to the left particularly the Utopian Socialists The historical rupture represented by the French Revolution compelled contemporaries to reflect on the nature and meaning of history Some who remained religious during those years felt history with particular intensity awakening suddenly to the fear that God might have abandoned humankind This profound spiritual anxiety emerged in Maistre s work under his pen everything knowledge society religion government the human body had to be historicized and temporalized in order to be known The imperative was to end history by uncovering its essence Socialists positivists and traditionalists drew on Maistre s historical ideas to construct the collective good and design the future The dream that history held the key to human renewal and the obliteration of violence faded after the 1848 revolutions but it permanently changed French social political moral and religious thought
