TRIPS plus 20 Hanns Ullrich, Reto M. Hilty, Matthias Lamping, Josef Drexler, 2016-01-29 This book examines the impact and shortcomings of the TRIPS Agreement which was signed in Marrakesh on 15 April 1994. Over the last 20 years the framework conditions have changed fundamentally. New technologies have emerged, markets have expanded beyond national borders, some developing states have become global players, the terms of international competition have changed, and the intellectual property system faces increasing friction with public policies. The contributions to this book inquire into whether the TRIPS Agreement should still be seen only as part of an international trade regulation or whether it needs to be understood or even reconceptualized as a framework regulation for the international protection of intellectual property. The purpose therefore is not to define the terms of an outright revision of the TRIPS Agreement but rather to discuss the framework conditions for an interpretative evolution that could make the Agreement better suited to the expectations and needs of today's global economy.

Intellectual Property and Public Health in the Developing World Monirul Azam, 2016-05-30 Across the world, developing countries are attempting to balance the international standards of intellectual property concerning pharmaceutical patents against the urgent need for accessible and affordable medicines. In this timely and necessary book, Monirul Azam examines the attempts of several developing countries to walk this fine line. He evaluates the experiences of Brazil, China, India, and South Africa for lessons to guide Bangladesh and developing nations everywhere. Azam's legal expertise, concern for public welfare, and compelling grasp of principal case studies make Intellectual Property and Public Health in the Developing World a definitive work. The developing world is striving to meet the requirements of the World Trade Organization's TRIPS Agreement on intellectual property. This book sets out with lucidity and insight the background of the TRIPS Agreement and its implications for pharmaceutical patents, the consequences for developing countries, and the efforts of certain representative nations to comply with international stipulations while still maintaining local industry and public health. Azam then brings the weight of this research to bear on the particular case of Bangladesh, offering a number of specific policy recommendations for the Bangladeshi government and for governments the world over. Intellectual Property and Public Health in the Developing World is a must read for public policy makers, academics, and students, non-governmental organizations, and readers everywhere who are interested in making sure that developing nations meet the health care needs of their people.
