Eco Targets Goal Functions And Orientors:

Eco Targets, Goal Functions, and Orientors Felix Müller, Maren Leupelt, 2012-12-06 This volume comprises the proceedings of the International Workshop on Ecological Goal Functions held at the Schleswig Holstein Cultural Center of Salzaug August 30 September 4 1996 The conference first in a series intended to be convened at Salzaug at 1 2 year intervals to address various aspects of theoretical and application oriented ecology was initiated organized and carried out under the auspices of the Ecology Center of the Kiel University It featured key note addresses invited lectures submitted papers and posters 32 contributions written by authors from eight countries were selected to be presented in this book From the very rich discussions of the workshop some general characteristics emerged which might become important for a deeper understanding of the nature of evolving systems or in other words systems with a history described by variables with a high degree of interdependence These characteristics include the following Speaking of goal functions is a convenient fa on de parler since a logical analysis of the formal structure of teleological and causal explanations shows that both are analogous with regard to the inherent structural typology and the basic mode of explanation Teleological interpretations introduce motives or objectives of actors into the set of antecedent conditions relevant for system evolution and are consequently a subset of causal interpretations Nutrients and Eutrophication in Estuaries and Coastal Waters Emma Orive, M.

Elliott, Victor N. de Jonge, 2013-11-11 This volume focuses on the nutrient and organic matter inputs in estuaries and other coastal ecosystems their effects on geochemistry and community structure and possibilities for recovery of the systems to a trophic state that is beneficial for man and nature The book provides many examples of the effects of the enhanced supply of nutrients and organic matter on the chemical features of the water and on the structure metabolism and trophic pathways of the biological communities Also included are several case studies providing considerable insight into the response of the different coastal ecosystems to long term changes in the trophic state of the water Current knowledge on modeling as a tool to manage the trophic state of the coastal ecosystems is also dealt with making this book one of interests to scientist and students as well as managers

Handbook of Ecosystem Theories and Management Felix Muller, 2000-02-10 As part of the Environmental and Ecological Modeling Handbooks series the Handbook of Ecosystem Theories and Management provides a comprehensive overview of ecosystem theory and the tools ecological engineering ecological modeling ecotoxicology and ecological economics to manage these systems The book is laid out to provide a summary or survey of each topic using many tables and figures Concepts definitions important findings basic hypotheses important correlations between theories and observation with illustrative graphs are included The comprehensive treatment of ecosystem theory and application of theoretical tools and the integration of classical theory and real world examples sets this book apart It covers newly emerging topical areas as well as nontraditional topical areas i e chaos that will interest professionals trained in previous decades and enlighten those now entering into formal training The general approach taken by the authors makes this an essential reference and handbook for professionals and students

Long-Term Ecological Research Felix Müller, Cornelia Baessler, Hendrik Schubert, Stefan Klotz, 2010-06-21 Ecosystems change on a multitude of spatial and temporal scales While analyses of ecosystem dynamics in short timespans have received much attention the impacts of changes in the long term have to a great extent been neglected provoking a lack of information and methodological know how in this area This book fills this gap by focusing on studies dealing with the investigation of complex long term ecological processes with regard to global change the development of early warning systems and the acquisition of a scientific basis for strategic conservation management and the sustainable use of ecosystems Within this book theoretical ecological questions of long term processes as well as an international dimension of long term monitoring observations and research are brought together The outcome is an overview on different aspects of long term ecological research Aquatic as well as terrestrial ecosystems are represented

Understanding and Solving Environmental Problems in the 21st Century R. Costanza, S.E. Jorgensen, 2002-06-05 The aim of this book is to encourage integration of the natural and social sciences with the policy and design making community and thereby develop a deeper understanding of complex environmental problems Its fundamental themes are integrated modeling and assessment complex adaptive hierarchical systems ecosystem services science and decision making ecosystem health and human health quality of life and the distribution of wealth and resources This book will act as a state of the art assessment of integrated environmental science and its relation to real world problem solving It is aimed not only at the academic community but also as a sourcebook for managers policy makers and the informed public It deals both with the state of the science and the level of consensus among scientists on key environmental issues The concepts underlying this book were developed at the 2nd EcoSummit workshop held in Halifax Nova Scotia June 2000 with active participation from all delegates and attempts to present their collective view Journal of Ecological Anthropology, 2003
