The first commercial motorcycle was built by Edward Butler in Great Britain in 1884. It employed a horizontal single cylinder engine mounted between two steerable front wheels and a drive shaft connected to the rear wheel. By 1900 many motorcycles were being produced as they were made by adding a motor centrally mounted on the frame. The demand for a better motorcycle led to a competition between motorcycles. The Gordon Tourist Trophy motorcycle races were held in the Isle of Man in 1907 as the first endurance races. Since then, the proving ground for many new designs has been the supercharged multi-cylinder engine mounted on aerodynamic frame. In this simple DIY guide you will learn the basics of constructing a motorcycle and how to reconstruct one the way you want. You will also find out what you need to ensure your bike is perfect the way you want it. After reading this book you will see how easy it is to build a motorcycle from the scratch.
