Discourse Analysis Putting Our Worlds Into Words:

Discourse Analysis Susan Strauss, Parastou Feiz, 2013-12-17 This introductory textbook presents a variety of approaches and perspectives that can be employed to analyze any sample of discourse. The perspectives come from multiple disciplines including linguistics, sociolinguistics, and linguistic anthropology, all of which shed light on meaning and the interactional construction of meaning through language use. Students without prior experience in discourse analysis will appreciate and understand the micro-macro relationship of language use in everyday contexts in professional and academic settings in languages other than English and in a wide variety of media outlets. Each chapter is supported by examples of spoken and written discourse from various types of data sources including conversations, commercials, university lectures, textbooks, print ads, and blogs, and concludes with hands-on opportunities for readers to actually do discourse analysis on their own. Students can also utilize the book's comprehensive companion website with flash cards for key terms, quizzes, and additional data samples for in-class activities and self-study. With its accessible multi-disciplinary approach and comprehensive data samples from a variety of sources, Discourse Analysis is the ideal core text for the discourse analysis course in applied linguistics, English education, and communication programs. Applied Language Learning, 2016

Research Questions in Language Education and Applied Linguistics Hassan Mohebbi, Christine Coombe, 2022-01-13 This volume encompasses the range of research questions on language-related problems that arise in language teaching, learning, and assessment. The 150 chapters are written by experts in the field who each offer their insights into current and future directions of research and who suggest several highly relevant research questions. Topics include but are not limited to language skills teaching, language skills assessment and testing, measurement, feedback, discourse analysis, pragmatics, semantics, language learning through technology, CALL, MALL, ESP, EAP, ERPP, TBLT, materials development, genre analysis, needs analysis, corpus content-based language teaching, language teaching and learning strategies, individual differences, research methods, classroom research, form-focused instruction, age effects, literacy, proficiency, and teacher education and teacher development. The book serves as a reference and offers inspiration to researchers and students in language education. An important skill in reviewing the research literature is following a study's plan of attack. Broadly, this means that before accepting and acting upon the findings, one considers:

- a) the research question: Is it clear and focused? Measurable?
- b) the subjects examined: the methods deployed and the measures chosen. Do they fit the study's goal and have the potential to yield useful results?
- c) the analysis of the data: Do the data lead to the discussion presented? Has the author reasonably interpreted results to reach the conclusion?

Mohebbi and Coombe's book Research Questions in Language Education and Applied Linguistics: A Reference Guide helps budding researchers take the first step and develop a solid research question. As the field of language education evolves, we need continual research to improve our instructional and assessment practices and our understanding of the learners' language learning processes. This book, with its remarkable 150 topics and 10 times the number of potential research questions provides a wealth of ideas that will help early career researchers conduct studies that move our field forward and grow our knowledge base Deborah J Short Ph D Director Academic Language Research Training Past President TESOL International Association 2021 22 As a teacher in graduate programs in TESOL I frequently come across the frustration of students at centering their research interests on a particular topic and developing research questions which are worth pursuing so as to make a contribution to the field This frustration stems from the fact that our field is so vast and interrelated that it is often impossible to properly address all that interests them Hence I wholeheartedly welcome this most relevant and innovative addition to the research literature in the field of TESOL and Applied Linguistics Coombe and Mohebbi have created a real tour de force that stands to inform budding researchers in the field for many years to come Additionally the cutting edge depiction of the field and all it has to offer will no doubt update the research agendas of many seasoned researchers around the world The 150 chapters are organized in a most powerful yet deceptively simple way offering a positioning within the topic suggesting questions that might direct inquiry and offering a basic set of bibliographic tools to start the reader in the path towards research What is more the nine sections in which the chapters are organized leave no area of the field unexplored Dr Gabriel Diaz Maggioli Academic Advisor Institute of Education Universidad ORT del Uruguay President IATEFL Chapter Metacognition in Academic Writing Learning Dimensions is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com
