Discourse And Politeness Ambivalent Face In Japanese:

Discourse and Politeness Naomi Geyer, 2008-01-06 Discourse and Politeness examines Japanese institutional discourse and attempts to clarify the relationship between politeness facework and speaker identity The book seeks to establish an empirically grounded analysis of facework as the basis for evaluating politeness and describes facework in delicate situations such as disagreement teasing and talking about troubles which have rarely been discussed in politeness studies Insightful and cutting edge this research monograph will be of interest to researchers in discourse analysis sociolinguistics and Japanese language Handbook of Japanese Sociolinguistics Yoshiyuki Asahi, Mayumi Usami, Fumio Inoue, 2022-04-04

Locher, Sage L. Graham, 2010 This handbook focuses on the interpersonal aspects of language in use exploring key concepts such as face im politeness identity or gender as well as mitigation respect deference and humour in a variety of settings The volume includes theoretical overviews as well as empirical studies from experts in a range of disciplines within linguistics and communication studies and provides a multifaceted perspective on both theoretical and applied approaches to the role of language in relational work Face and Enactment of Identities in the L2 Classroom Joshua Alexander Kidd, 2016-03-03 This book examines student identities as revealed through the pragmatics of face as observed in the context of English L2 classroom interaction between Japanese students and a native speaker teacher Classroom recordings together with retrospective interviews reveal specific points during learning activities when the students and their teacher's interpretations of classroom communication deviate from what was intended This research study is a potent reminder that what students and teachers may consider as standard and conventionally acceptable language use and behaviour within the classroom context can differ dramatically according to social cultural and individual frames of reference The book outlines an innovative teacher professional development programme which encourages teachers to reflect on and where desired modify or discontinue existing pedagogic practices

Navigating Friendships in Interaction Cade Bushnell, Stephen J. Moody, 2023-12-14 Bushnell and Moody present a rich investigation into the navigation of friendships adopting discursive and ethnographic perspectives to examine Japanese Chinese Korean and English interactional data Since the definition of friendship is hard to pin down most sociocultural anthropologists have tended to focus on issues of kinship and descent while leaving friendship as a residual or interstitial issue However this book puts friendship as the central focus and offers unique perspectives from the participants themselves The interactional work implicated in the accomplishment of making and being friends and the trials and tribulations of friendship are both explored through the many detailed analyses showing how the participants navigate the calm and rough waters of friendship in and through their everyday interactions Researchers undergraduates and postgraduate students in the fields of conversation analysis pragmatics and other social sciences will benefit from the real life examples in the book as well as the analysis

Language and Culture at Work Stephanie Schnurr, Olga Zayts, 2017-01-20 This book provides an overview of the complex role that culture plays in workplace contexts In eight chapters the authors cover the core aspects of culture at work from making decisions and negotiating power to gender and identity Drawing on insights from a range of studies they propose a new integrated framework for researching culture at work from a sociolinguistic perspective and they apply it to the significant corpus of authentic workplace data they have collected from numerous settings in the UK Hong Kong and New Zealand This is key reading for researchers and recommended for advanced students of workplace and intercultural communication sociolinguistics and discourse studies

FACE: (New) Facets of a Sociopragmatic Concept, 2024-12-02 Face has become a key concept in current socio pragmatics By virtue of its metaphorical force it enables researchers to explain universal processes of human communication mostly reflected in language use Yet being an English construct in intercultural comparison face provokes critical debates putting in doubt namely its relation to im politeness theories The 8 articles in this volume tie on these issues putting face under linguistic scrutiny With different approaches and methods some re consider the notion of face comparing labels and expressions in lingua cultures other than English others explore the verbal enactment of face in selected speech acts conversational moves and interactional settings

More Polite/less Polite Miki Iida,2008 In my dissertation I would like to introduce the concept of the discourse of politeness to explain how the use of politeness is foregrounded in social life in Japan and how it is part of the complex sense making processes Scholars in cultural and linguistic anthropology and in related disciplines have argued that the use of politeness constitutes the critical aspect of everyday interaction in Japan and it is fundamentally related to the ways both the self and society are structured and maintained The literature on politeness has been criticized however for it assumes the appropriateness or the situationally proper manner should be shared between the participants in consensual way In other words the literature on the Japanese sense of self holds the view that those who belong to the same group internalize the same habituated normative behaviors and thus have the same expectations and same criteria when they see others In my dissertation I focus on the process of interpretation and see how people mobilize the planes of comparison more polite less polite and variously assess the situation of interaction in which they are located I will rather show the discourse of politeness is embedded in and interacts with other potentially conflicting discourses and how people invoke and variously manipulate the tensions through the discourse of politeness In order to show the complexities and openness of the ways people mobilize the discourse of politeness I conducted the fieldwork at beauty salons in Japan in 2004 In particular through an analysis of hair salons in Japan I demonstrate how through the use of politeness people in an interactive situation define the sense of social distance between each other and attach various meanings to them In my analysis of the interactions at hair salons in Japan I thus use this concept the discourse of politeness to chart out the creative and emergent ways people mobilize the contextually specific planes of comparison work on to locate each other and give meaning to their relatedness in and through the process of interaction

include a section of abstracts Politeness in Interaction Naomi Fujita, 2001 Politeness Strategies Used in Invitations in Japanese, 2021 This study explored how Japanese as Foreign Language JFL utilizes politeness strategies compared to native speakers of Japanese J1 in invitation discourses within the framework of Interlanguage Pragmatics ILP Invitation is one of the speech acts that requires careful consideration when conveying speakers intentions through speech It is assumed that JFL will struggle with appropriately inviting friends in different cultures while utilizing the politeness strategies in their invitation discourse in Japanese Szatrowski 1993 revealed that there are thoughtful utterances to each other the discernment utterance by the inviter and considerate utterance by the invitee in the Japanese invitation discourse Native Japanese speakers create the invitation discourse mutually unlike English turn taking discourse In order to analyze JFL and J1 s discourse data were collected from a roleplay conversation with four different scenarios The participants invited the researcher to act as their friends both close and distant for two types of events a group event and a one on one event In all variations the invitee showed slight hesitation and said she had an exam the next day The discourse was analyzed in terms of the invitation discourse and the follow up discourse after the invitee s hesitation The data showed that 1 intermediate level of JFL used the polite speech styles with the close friend and the distant friend carefully for the invitation although J1 utilized a casual style and a mixed style tactfully to their friends 2 JFL differentiated the invitation structures between the negative and affirmative forms depending on the level of intimacy while J1 used mainly a negative style and various indirect ways in their invitation 3 the negative politeness strategy used the most by JFL gave deference in the invitation utterance while J1 minimized the imposition of the invitee the most 4 JFL used less than half the amount of the politeness strategies of J1 for the follow up utterances 5 for the one on one invitation more than half of JFL gave up their invitation after the invitee s hesitation in the follow up utterance and 6 J1 used more politeness strategies with the close friend than the distant friend in the follow up utterances both for the group event and the one on one event From the results of these findings I suggest four steps that instructors can use to teach Japanese invitation discourse
