Rethinking Bail Max Travers, Emma Colvin, Isabelle Bartkowiak-Théron, Rick Sarre, Andrew Day, Christine Bond, 2020-06-30 This book arises from a research project funded in Australia by the Criminology Research Council The topic bail reform has attracted attention from criminologists and law reformers over many years In the USA a reform movement has argued that risk analysis and pre trial services should replace the bail bond system the state of California may introduce this system in 2020 In the United Kingdom Europe and Australia there have been concerns about tough bail laws that have contributed to a rise in imprisonment rates The approach in this book is distinctive The inter disciplinary authors include criminologists an academic lawyer and a forensic psychologist together with qualitative researchers with backgrounds in sociology and anthropology The book advances a policy argument through presenting descriptive statistics interviews with practitioners and detailed accounts of bail applications and their outcomes There is discussion of methodological issues throughout the book including the challenges of obtaining data from the courts Police Misconduct in Brooklyn Brian A. Maule, 2017-11-03 This Brief explores police misconduct through the lens of a 5 year study of civil liability cases against the New York Police Department in Kings County Brooklyn New York The confluence of police misconduct and civil liability is an issue of growing concern for many communities throughout the United States One measure of the severity of these concerns is the increase in the number of lawsuits alleging police misconduct and the civil liability resulting from these lawsuits Using Brooklyn New York as a case study the author of this Brief uses lawsuits that resulted in a settlement or jury award over a five year period as its measure of police misconduct Police misconduct has many tangible and intangible consequences for a community such as violations of the law police brutality social consequences and long term public trust of the police On a very practical level as the author demonstrates the up front financial costs of prevention training and support to curb police misconduct are less expensive than the costs of civil liability payments for lawsuits This perspective creates a strong argument for policymakers for enhancing police training and police misconduct prevention programs This work will be of interest to researchers in police studies as well sociology and public policy

Philosophy of Artificial Intelligence and Its Place in Society Moutinho, Luiz, Cavique, Luís, Bigné, Enrique, 2023-10-16. The early 2020s have been marked by a surge of interest in artificial intelligence (AI) and it has grown to be one of the hottest topics in computer science, business, technology, research, and educational technologies. Despite AI winters in the 1970s and 1990s where interest and subsequently adequate funding for AI research ceased, and as the technology and its usefulness become more perceptible, often with brilliant results, society is once again ready to investigate this powerful technology and its potential. However, a challenge arises when AI is called into question in an ethical context. It is important that we explore how it can contribute to the resolution of ethical, social, and environmental issues, and also to address growing concerns around AI developing emergent bias, as well as the human application of AI for malicious purposes. With recent AI based writing technologies, concerns around academic integrity abound and challenge our perceptions of authenticity in writing. A careful assessment of these technologies, their usefulness, and potential harm, and strategic solutions to maintaining ethical standards and regulation of the technology is a necessity for the maintenance of civilized life. Amidst these tools, Philosophy of Artificial Intelligence and Its Place in Society evaluates various aspects of artificial intelligence, including the range of technologies, their advantages and disadvantages, and how AI systems operate. Spanning from machine learning to deep learning, philosophical insights, societal concerns, and the newest approaches to AI, it helps to develop an appreciation for and breadth of knowledge across the full range of AI sub-disciplines, including neural networks, evolutionary computation, computer vision, robotics, expert systems, speech processing, and natural language processing. Led by Dr. Luiz Moutinho of the University of Suffolk in the United Kingdom, who has won several awards for his academic literature, this book provides academic, market scholars, researchers, and students of philosophy, sociology, economics, and education, as well as corporate scientists, with a comprehensive collection of core research, elements, concepts, advances, applications, evidence, and outcomes related to artificial intelligence.

Ethics in Crime and Justice Joycelyn M. Pollock, 1998. This text provides readers with the information needed to solve moral dilemmas within the complicated criminal justice system. It begins with a straightforward presentation of the major ethical systems, followed by a discussion of moral development and the ideal of justice. The book includes not only philosophical information but practical applications as well.
