Galileo Darwin And Hawking The Interplay Of Science Reason And Religion:

Galileo, Darwin, and Hawking Phil Dowe, 2005-03-15 The history of the interaction between science and religion is fraught with tension although as philosopher Phil Dowe demonstrates many thoughtful and religious people have also found harmony between these two crucial fields This fascinating book insightfully surveys the relationship of science reason and religion giving special attention to the most contentious topics cosmology evolution and miracles Providing a superb introduction to the philosophy of science Dowe s Galileo Darwin and Hawking contends that there are four basic ways to relate science and religion Two of them naturalism and religious science present these endeavors as antagonistic By contrast an independence view understands them as wholly unrelated Finally an interaction account sees religion and science as complementary perhaps even dependent on one another Dowe finds this last perspective the most historically and philosophically compelling He argues his case by exploring the history of science highlighting the life and work of three scientific giants Galileo Galilei Charles Darwin and Stephen Hawking

The History of Christianity Dyron B. Daugherty, 2019-07-08 Christianity has been accused of being misogynistic pro slavery and anti science and some say it is finally beginning its long decline This book provides an entirely different side to the stories about this faith Why did Christianity become the largest religion in the world Is it because it was misogynistic pro slavery anti science and set on condemning those who didn't join it This book investigates many of the misconceptions about Christianity and argues that there are good reasons this faith has become the world's largest The book includes chapters on various misconceptions related to the history of Christianity such as the beliefs that Jesus was a meek and mild carpenter the Roman emperor Constantine was insincere in his Christian faith medieval Europe was devoutly Christian and Christianity was anti science Each chapter explores how the historical misconception developed and spread and offers what we now believe to be the historical truth contradicting the fiction Excerpts from primary source documents provide evidence for the historical misconceptions and truths and help readers to respond critically to claims about Christian history

Cosmology Without God? David Alcalde, 2019-06-26 Is God a superfluous hypothesis for modern cosmology According to the normal understanding of modern science the answer should be affirmative because modern science is supposed to be free of metaphysical and theological presuppositions However despite its self proclaimed neutrality regarding metaphysics and theology modern science is full of metaphysical and theological presuppositions These can be summarized as a mechanistic understanding of nature a reduction of God to an external agent in competition with natural processes and creation to a worldly mechanism These presuppositions are deficient and untenable and they remain unconscious for the most part in the dialogue between science and theology making it intellectually impossible because of the reduced notions of God nature and creation assumed Using the coherent and unreduced image of God and nature provided by the Christian doctrine of creation ex nihilo Fr David Alcalde intends to uncover and criticize the incoherent theological assumptions inherent in a concrete branch of modern science which is modern cosmology The author points out the presence of these inadequate theological presuppositions in both the theologians who use modern cosmology to offer scientific proof for the existence of God and the atheistic cosmologists who use their science to reject the idea of God

The Earth Is Our Home Nelson Rivera, 2016-11-14 This book demonstrates that Mary Midgley's philosophy of evolution points the way towards considering the earth as our only true home since we are products of this planet and its evolving and complex life along with every other organism From the knowledge of ourselves as knowing animals with a biological as well as a cultural history Midgley proposes the elaboration of an evolutionary epistemology that situates us firmly on the earth together with other creatures while at the same time helping us to build knowledge of the world from the complexity of the human experience I like to call this approach by a known theological analogy a view from below that is from the underside of the world from the realms of nature and history Such an approach does not begin by assuming conceptions of design or order in nature a view that we term from above although it does not rule out the possibility of teleological or metaphysical constructions of reality in the long run This down to earth approach I consider essential for any philosophy or theology that wants to take evolutionary theory seriously while committed to a proper and non dismissive assessment of religious views
