

GENERALIZATION

GAP

Once, I asked if I could go to a party on Saturday night which finished at 11:30 p.m. Conservative as they were, my parents agreed, but on the condition that my dad came to pick me up at 10 p.m. I argued and argued about it but in the end, I had to agree. I knew I was going to be really embarrassed when my father came to pick me up, so I spent the whole party worrying. I didn't speak to my parents for three days after that. My mother tried to explain how they both felt, but I didn't want to listen. It was then that I decided to break the rules they had set down. So instead of coming home at 10 p.m. I would arrive at 11 p.m and then refuse to tell them where I had been. I somehow felt that if I broke their rules, they would realise that I was old enough to look after myself, and leave me alone. However, the arguments got worse and worse, and the more they tried to keep me in the house, the more dog-headed I got and the more I sneaked out.

Finally, one Saturday night I didn't come home till 2 a.m. My father wanted to know why I was so late. I refused to tell him. We had a huge argument which ended with me getting a taxi to my sister's house.

What went wrong ?

Now, let's talk. Do you believe your parents...

	Very much	Well enough	Not enough
Ensure you have a happy family life ?
Make sure you get a very good education ?
Help you when you are in trouble?
Give you enough pocket money?

With reference to the text, circle the right alternative:

- What do you think these parents' problem is?
 - They don't want their daughter to make friends.
 - They don't love her.
 - They are too conservative and overprotective.
- For Jane, the most important thing in a family is...
 - Helping each other.
 - Respecting each other's private life.
 - Care and protection.
 - Loving each other.

Read and answer the following questions:

- Do Jane's parents want her to go to parties and stay up late?
- Do you agree with her or with her parents? Why?
.....
- Do you think her parents chose the best way to solve her teenage problems ?
.....

In the text, which word means...

(Paragraph 3) someone who doesn't listen to advice =

International Handbook of Reading Education Betty J. Eller, John Hladczuk, 1992-07-27 As major political and social changes continue to sweep through the countries of the world and more and more nations move toward forms of social democracy the importance of being able to read has taken on a new urgency The burden of government commerce education and social welfare is moving increasingly toward the individual and with it the need to turn basic reading skills into the sophisticated ability to analyze comprehend and debate the whole world of language in front of him This book offers an opportunity to see how the process of learning to read is being handled in a broad cross section of countries in the world representing the First Second and Third Worlds Each of the twenty six country surveys has been written by an international scholar indigenous to that land and follows the same basic pattern in examining reading education Following a brief introduction to the nation and its particular educational characteristics ten reading associated factors are fully discussed and analyzed These factors include the language of the country in question its reading policy the goals of reading illiteracy issues pertaining to the rate and diagnosis of reading disabilities reading readiness programs the teacher qualification procedure the source and availability of materials in reading the financing of reading education and research thrusts in the field of reading Each chapter then concludes with a summary and brief bibliography of important reference sources within that country This unique study will be an essential reference tool for students and practitioners in the fields of education and reading literacy as well as a valuable addition to both public and academic libraries

Language Development and Disorders W. Yule, M. Rutter, 1987 Communication disabilities are common although their precise nature and degree of severity vary greatly among individuals They are among the most handicapping of disabilities because they isolate a person and in so doing restrict social educational and occupational opportunities One of the purposes of this book was to bring together theoretical practical and clinical knowledge from several disciplines that bear on language and communication into some reasonably accessible form The intent is to provide a broad and multi faceted view of language development and language disorders Thus contributions from education linguistics psychology pediatrics psychiatry neurology neuropsychology and speech therapy are included They describe our current knowledge of language development suggest classifications for language pathology outline what is known of the epidemiology of language difficulties consider assessment and therapy alternative communication systems and the impact of the new technology on communication aids The variety of perspectives that it provides will make it particularly useful to the range of specialists who are concerned with the development of communication skills and language disorders Reading Under Control Judith Graham, Alison

Psycholinguistics Gerry T. M. Altmann, 2002 The Remedial Teacher's Handbook Peter S. Westwood, 1975 Eye Guidance in Reading and Scene Perception G. Underwood, 1998-07-16 The distinguished contributors to this volume have been set the problem of describing how we know where to move our eyes There is a great deal of current interest in the use of eye movement recordings to investigate various mental processes The common theme is that variations in eye movements indicate variations in the processing of what is being perceived whether in reading driving or scene perception However a number of problems of interpretation are now emerging and this edited volume sets out to address these problems The book investigates controversies concerning the variations in eye movements associated with reading ability concerning the extent to which text is used by the guidance mechanism while reading concerning the relationship between eye movements and the control of other body movements the relationship between what is inspected and what is perceived and concerning the role of visual control attention in the acquisition of complex perceptual motor skills in addition to the nature of the guidance mechanism itself The origins of the volume are in discussions held at a meeting of the European Society for Cognitive Psychology ESCOP that was held in Wurzburg in September 1996 The discussions concerned the landing effect in reading an effect that if substantiated would provide evidence of the use of parafoveal information in eye guidance and these discussions were explored in more detail at a small meeting in Chamonix in February 1997 Many of the contributors to this volume were present at the meeting but the arguments were not resolved in Chamonix either Other leaders in the field were invited to contribute to the discussion and this volume is the product The argument remains unresolved but the problem is certainly clearer Reading United Kingdom Reading Association, John Gilliland, 1977
