Pronunciation Teaching and Research Martha C. Pennington, Pamela Rogerson-Revell, 2018-09-07 This book offers contemporary perspectives on English pronunciation teaching and research in the context of increasing multilingualism and English as an international language. It reviews current theory and practice in pronunciation pedagogy, language learning, language assessment and technological developments and presents an expanded view of pronunciation in communication education and employment. Its eight chapters provide a comprehensive and up to date analysis of pronunciation and the linguistic and social functions it fulfils. Topics include pronunciation in first and second language acquisition, instructional approaches and factors impacting teachers' curriculum decisions, methods for assessing pronunciation, the use of technology for pronunciation teaching, learning and testing pronunciation, issues of teachers who are second language speakers and applications of pronunciation research and pedagogy in L1 literacy and speech therapy, forensic linguistics and health, workplace and political communication. The chapters also critically examine the research base supporting specific teaching approaches and identify research gaps in need of further investigation. This rigorous work will provide an invaluable resource for teachers and teacher educators in addition to researchers in the fields of applied linguistics, phonology and communication. An Introduction to English Lexicology Howard Jackson, Etienne Zé Amvela, 2021-10-21 What are words?

is the second volume in a series of three books called Within Language Beyond Theories which focuses on current linguistic research surpassing the limits of contemporary theoretical frameworks in order to provide new insights into the structure of the language system and to offer more comprehensive accounts of linguistic phenomena from a number of the world's languages. The volume is composed of eighteen chapters each focusing on a significant issue in the field of applied linguistics.

Pragmatics of Accents Gaëlle Planchenault, Livia Poljak, 2021-10-15 What impact do accents have on our lives as we interact with one another? Are accents more than simple sets of phonetic features that allow us to differentiate from one dialect variety or style to the other? What power relationships are at work when we speak with what those around us perceive as an accent? In the 12 chapters of this volume, an international group of sociolinguists, applied linguists, anthropologists, and scholars in media studies develop an innovative approach that we describe as the pragmatics of accents. In this volume, we present a variety of languages and go beyond the traditional structural description of accents. From ideologies in national contexts to L2 education to accent discrimination in the media and the workplace, this volume embraces a new perspective that focuses on the use of accents as symbolic resources and emphasizes the importance of context in the human experience of accents.

Pronunciation for English as an International Language Ee-Ling Low, 2014-09-15 Pronunciation plays a crucial role in learning English as an international language yet often remains marginalised by educators due to a lack of required phonetic and phonological knowledge. Pronunciation for English as an International Language bridges the gap between phonetics, phonology, and pronunciation and provides the reader with a research-based guide on how best to teach the English language. The book follows an easy-to-follow format which ensures the reader will have a comprehensive grasp of each given topic by the end of the chapter. Key ideas explored include articulation of English speech sounds and basic transcription, connected speech processes, current issues in English language pronunciation teaching, multimedia in English language pronunciation practice, using speech analysis to investigate pronunciation features, and using the latest research. Pronunciation for English as an International Language will facilitate effective teaching and learning for any individual involved in teaching English as a second foreign or international language.
