Engineering the System of Healthcare Delivery William B. Rouse, Denis A. Cortese, 2010 As the United States continues to debate reform of its healthcare system this book argues that providing health insurance for all without improving the delivery system will not improve the current problems of access affordability and quality The US healthcare system has many excellent components strong scientific input extraordinary technology for diagnosis and treatment dedicated staff and top class facilities among them But the system has evolved haphazardly over time and although it has not failed entirely the authors argue that like any system where attention is paid to individual components at the expense of the system as a whole it can never hope to succeed Above all they point out that the US system does not provide high value healthcare it has the highest costs in the world and yet many other countries have lower infant mortality rates and better life expectancy Together with a team of highly regarded thought leaders the authors of this publication advocate a complete rethinking of healthcare from a systems perspective an engineering approach to healthcare and they then describe how to set about it Covering a wide range of subjects including health care costs and economics barriers to change integrated health systems electronic records and computer based patient support as well as patient safety and palliative and chronic care this book will be of interest to all those involved in healthcare provision whose goal is affordable care to promote healthy high quality lives

Architecting the Future Enterprise Deborah J. Nightingale, Donna H. Rhodes, 2024-06-11 Two experts in enterprise architecting lay out a holistic approach to creating a blueprint for future enterprise transformation Every enterprise evolves continuously driven by changing needs or new opportunities Most often this happens gradually with small adjustments to strategy organization processes or infrastructure But sometimes enterprises need to go beyond minor fixes and transform themselves in response to a disruptive event or dramatically changing circumstances a merger for example or a new competitor In this book enterprise architecting experts Deborah Nightingale and Donna Rhodes offer a framework for enterprise transformation Successful transformation they believe starts with a holistic approach taking into consideration all facets of the enterprise and its environment rather than focusing solely on one factor information technology for example or organizational structure This is architecting the future enterprise creating a blueprint for what the enterprise will look like after the transformation Nightingale and Rhodes introduce the ARIES Architecting Innovative Enterprise Strategy framework including a ten enterprise element model and an architecting process model and show how to apply it from start to finish They explain how to create a holistic vision for the future enterprise and how to generate concepts and alternative architectures they describe techniques for evaluating possible architectures tools for implementation planning and strategies for communicating with stakeholders Nightingale and Rhodes offer real world examples throughout drawing on their work at MIT with an extensive case study of enterprise transformation at a medical device manufacturer An appendix offers two additional architecting projects Seven Architecting Imperatives Make architecting the initial activity in transformation Develop a comprehensive understanding of the enterprise landscape Understand what stakeholders value and how that may change in the future Use multiple perspectives to see the whole enterprise Create an architecting team suited to the transformation challenges Engage all levels of leadership in transformation Architect for the enterprise's changing world

Rouse,2025-01-31 Society seems increasingly complex in part due to constant breaking news likes tweets etc Considerable change is being entertained or at least debated Significant decisions are required Decision making lately has been flawed laced with contention hesitancy and poor outcomes The author has long helped clients and sponsors to understand complexity address needs for change formulate plans and make decisions to invest resources to execute these plans His engagement with them has focused on formulating problems devising possible solutions and deciding which solutions merited investment This book represents the author s reflections on these engagements associated challenges and typical outcomes These stories are reports about clients or sponsors problems and how he and his colleagues went about addressing these problems of complexity change and decision making The clients or customers for these services included over 100 enterprises in industry government and academia Most were large many in the US but quite a few were in Europe Asia Africa and Latin America Geography mattered in these engagements but did not dominate The chapters in this book represent his reports on what he learned and what he could generalize across airplanes automobiles banking computers communications insurance pharmaceuticals retail satellites semiconductors and telecoms working with stakeholders from companies agencies and academia Joyce in the Belly of the Big Truck; Workbook Joyce A. Cascio,2005-05 Bigger Pictures for Innovation William B. Rouse,2023-02-07 This book comprises a set of stories about being an engineer for many decades and the lessons the author learned from research and practice These lessons focus on people and organizations often enabled by technology The settings range from airplanes power plants and communication networks to ecosystems that enable education healthcare and transportation All of these settings are laced with behavioral and social phenomena that need to be understood and influenced The author s work in these domains has often led to the question Well why does it work like that He invariably sought to understand the bigger picture to find the sources of requirements constraints norms and values He wanted to understand what could be changed albeit often with much effort to overcome resistance He found that higher levels of an ecosystem often provide the resources and dictate the constraints imposed on lower levels These prescriptions are not just commands They also reflect values and cultural norms Thus the answers to the question were not just technical and economic Often the answers reflected eons of social and political priorities The endeavors related in the book frequently involved addressing emerging realities rather than just the status quo This book is an ongoing discovery of these bigger pictures The stories and the lessons related in this book provide useful perspectives on change The understanding of people and organizations that emerges from these lessons can help to enable transformative change

Fundamental change is an intensely human centric endeavor not just for the people and organizations aspiring to change but also for the people helping them You will meet many of these people in this book as the stories unfold The genesis of this book originated in a decision made early in the author s career He had developed a habit of asking at the end of each day What did I really accomplish today This was sometimes frustrating as he was not sure the day had yielded any significant accomplishments One day it dawned on him that this was the wrong question He needed to ask What did I learn today It is always possible to learn most recently about public health and climate change In planning this book the author first thought in terms of accomplishments such as projects conducted systems built and articles and books published He could not imagine this being interesting to readers Then it struck him It is much more interesting to report on what he learned about people and organizations including how he helped them accomplish their goals This is a book of stories about how these lessons emerged

Innovations for Transformation William B. Rouse,2025-07-17

This book chronicles how four resort cities Asheville Aspen Key West and Laguna Beach addressed failing economic situations to reinvent themselves and prosper The author explores bottom up reinventions of local community value propositions often driven by economic forces that require reinvention due to declining or disappearing traditional economic opportunities The author foregoes broad national policies and focuses on a wide range of citizen groups local institutions and businesses that coalesce to understand what is happening or has happened to their community These cities then formulate future aspirations with new value propositions and experiment to determine what works The investment becomes focused on emergent successes The book addresses four community ecosystems and a spectrum of contexts For example mountains vs oceans and venues for entertainment vs thought leadership These four ecosystems were reinvented creatively to enable great economic and societal successes In particular the energy provided by bottom up innovation was crucial The information presented in this book is drawn from two sources First historical accounts of such initiatives are leveraged Second and more substantial are findings synthesized from extensive interviews in Asheville NC
