Environmental Anthropology Engaging Ecotopia Bioregionalism Permaculture And Ecovillages Environmental Anthropology And Ethnobiology:

Environmental Anthropology Engaging Ecotopia Joshua Lockyer, James R. Veteto, 2013-04-01 In order to move global society towards a sustainable ecotopia solutions must be engaged in specific places and communities and the authors here argue for re orienting environmental anthropology from a problem oriented towards a solutions focused endeavor Using case studies from around the world the contributors scholar activists and activist practitioners examine the interrelationships between three prominent environmental social movements bioregionalism a worldview and political ecology that grounds environmental action and experience permaculture a design science for putting the bioregional vision into action and ecovillages the ever dynamic settings for creating sustainable local cultures

Indigeneity and the Sacred Fausto Sarmiento, Sarah Hitchner, 2017-06-01 This book presents current research in the political ecology of indigenous revival and its role in nature conservation in critical areas in the Americas An important contribution to evolving studies on conservation of sacred natural sites SNS the book elucidates the complexity of development scenarios within cultural landscapes related to the appropriation of religion environmental change in indigenous territories and new conservation management approaches Indigeneity and the Sacred explores how these struggles for land rights and political power are embedded within physical landscapes and how indigenous identity is reconstituted as globalizing forces simultaneously threaten and promote the notion of indigeneity

Ecological Nostalgias Olivia Angé, David Berliner, 2020-11-01 Introducing the study of econostalgias through a variety of rich ethnographic cases this volume argues that a strictly human centered approach does not account for contemporary longings triggered by ecosystem upheavals In this time of climate change this book explores how nostalgia for fading ecologies unfolds into the interstitial spaces between the biological the political and the social regret and hope the past the present and the future

Urban Pollution Eveline Dürr, Rivke Jaffe, 2010-08-01 Re examining Mary Douglas work on pollution and concepts of purity this volume explores modern expressions of these themes in urban areas examining the intersections of material and cultural pollution It presents ethnographic case studies from a range of cities affected by globalization processes such as neoliberal urban policies privatization of urban space continued migration and spatialized ethnic tension What has changed since the appearance of Purity and Danger How have anthropological views on pollution changed accordingly This volume focuses on cultural meanings and values that are attached to conceptions of clean and dirty purity and impurity healthy and unhealthy environments and addresses the implications of pollution with regard to discrimination class urban poverty social hierarchies and ethnic segregation in cities

At Home on the Waves Tanya J. King, Gary Robinson, 2019-02-18 Contemporary public discourses about the ocean are routinely characterized by scientific and environmentalist narratives that imagine and idealize marine spaces in which humans are absent In contrast this collection explores the variety of ways in which people have long made themselves at home at sea and continue to live intimately with it In doing so it brings together both ethnographic and archaeological research much of it with an explicit Ingoldian approach on a wide range of geographical areas and historical periods Trees, Knots, and Outriggers Frederick H. Damon, 2016-10-01 Trees Knots and Outriggers Kaynen Muyuw is the culmination of twenty five years of work by Frederick H Damon and his attention to cultural adaptations to the environment in Melanesia Damon details the intricacies of indigenous knowledge and practice in his sweeping synthesis of symbolic and structuralist anthropology with recent developments in historical ecology This book is a long conversation between the author s many Papua New Guinea informants teachers and friends and scientists in Australia Europe and the United States in which a spirit of adventure and discovery is palpable Birds of Passage Mark-Anthony Falzon, 2020-07-01 Bird migration between Europe and Africa is a fraught journey particularly in the Mediterranean where migratory birds are shot and trapped in large numbers In Malta thousands of hunters share a shrinking countryside They also rub shoulders with a strong bird protection and conservation lobby Drawing on years of ethnographic fieldwork this book traces the complex interactions between hunters birds and the landscapes they inhabit as well as the dynamics and politics of bird conservation Birds of Passage looks at the practice and meaning of hunting in a specific context and raises broader questions about human wildlife interactions and the uncertain outcomes of conservation Things Fall Apart? Pauline von Hellermann, 2013-09-01 Governance failure and corruption are increasingly identified as key causes of tropical deforestation In Nigeria s Edo State once the showcase of scientific forestry in West Africa large scale forest conversion and the virtual depletion of timber stocks are invariably attributed to recent failures in forest management and are seen as yet another instance of how things fall apart in Nigeria Through an in depth historical and ethnographic study of forestry in Edo State this book challenges this routine linking of political and ecological crisis narratives It shows that the roots of many of today s problems lie in scientific forest management itself rather than its recent abandonment and moreover that many illegal local practices improve rather than reduce biodiversity and forest cover The book therefore challenges preconceptions about contemporary Nigeria and highlights the need to reevaluate current understandings of what constitutes good governance in tropical forestry Beyond the Lens of Conservation Eva Keller, 2015-02-01 The global agenda of Nature conservation has led to the creation of the Masoala National Park in Madagascar and to an exhibit in its support at a Swiss zoo the centerpiece of which is a mini rainforest replica Does such a cooperation also trigger a connection between ordinary people in these two far flung places The study investigates how the Malagasy farmers living at the edge of the park perceive the conservation enterprise and what people in Switzerland see when looking towards Madagascar through the lens of the zoo exhibit It crystallizes that the stories told in either place have almost nothing in common one focuses on power and history the other on morality and progress Thus instead of building a bridge Nature conservation widens the gap between people in the North and the South Sustainable Development Paul Sillitoe, 2014-08-01 With growing evidence of unsustainable use of the world s resources such as hydrocarbon reserves and related environmental pollution as in alarming climate change predictions sustainable development is arguably the prominent issue of the 21st century This volume gives a wide ranging introduction focusing on the arid Gulf region where the challenges of sustainable development are starkly evident The Gulf relies on non renewable oil and gas exports to supply the world s insatiable CO2 emitting energy demands and has built unsustainable conurbations with water supplies dependent on energy hungry desalination plants and deep aquifers pumped beyond natural replenishment rates Sustainable Development has an interdisciplinary focus bringing together university faculty and government personnel from the Gulf Europe and North America including social and natural scientists environmentalists and economists architects and planners to discuss topics such as sustainable natural resource use and urbanization industrial and technological development economy and politics history and geography

Researching with Proximity Outi Rantala, Veera Kinnunen, Emily Höckert, 2023-10-26 This open access book presents a series of speculative experimental modes of inquiry in the present times of environmental damage that have come to be known as the age of the Anthropocene Throughout the book authors develop more nuanced ways of engaging with the environmentally vulnerable Arctic They counter distancing exoticising and even apocalyptic imaginaries of the Arctic by staying proximate with mundane places and beings of the north The volume engages and plays with familiar tourism concepts such as hospitality visiting difference care openness and distance while expanding the focus from binary and human centric approaches of hosts and guests to questions of wellbeing among multispecies communities The transdisciplinary group of contributors share a curiosity about how staying proximate may provide theoretical depth and epistemological openings to attend to current tensions and to diversify the ways we do and enact research Thus each chapter provides a methodological experiment with proximity developing diverse ways of envisioning and storying more than human worlds

Routledge Handbook of Environmental Anthropology Helen Kopnina, Eleanor Shoreman-Ouimet, 2016-08-12 Environmental Anthropology studies historic and present human environment interactions This volume illustrates the ways in which today s environmental anthropologists are constructing new paradigms for understanding the multiplicity of players pressures and ecologies in every environment and the value of cultural knowledge of landscapes This Handbook provides a comprehensive survey of contemporary topics in environmental anthropology and thorough discussions on the current state and prospective future of the field in seven key sections As the contributions to this Handbook demonstrate the subfield of environmental anthropology is responding to cultural adaptations and responses to environmental changes in multiple and complex ways As a discipline concerned primarily with human environment interaction environmental anthropologists recognize that we are now working within a pressure cooker of rapid environmental damage that is forcing behavioural and often cultural changes around the world As we see in the breadth of topics presented in this volume these environmental challenges have inspired renewed foci on traditional topics such as food procurement ethnobiology and spiritual ecology and a broad new range of subjects such as resilience nonhuman rights architectural anthropology industrialism and education This volume enables scholars and students quick access to both established and trending environmental anthropological explorations into theory methodology and practice Edges, Fringes, Frontiers Thomas Henfrey, 2018-09-14 Based on an ethnographic account of subsistence use of Amazonian forests by Wapishana people in Guyana Edges Frontiers Fringes examines the social cultural and behavioral bases for sustainability and resilience in indigenous resource use Developing an original framework for holistic analysis it demonstrates that flexible interplay among multiple modes of environmental understanding and decision making allows the Wapishana to navigate socio ecological complexity successfully in ways that reconcile short term material needs with long term maintenance and enhancement of the resource base Environmental Anthropology and Ethnobiology, 20?? Environmental Anthropology Today Helen Kopnina, Eleanor Shoreman-Ouimet, 2011-08-05 Today we face some of the greatest environmental challenges in global history Understanding the damage being done and the varied ethics and efforts contributing to its repair is of vital importance This volume poses the question What can increasing the emphasis on the environment in environmental anthropology along with the science of its problems and the theoretical and methodological tools of anthropological practice do to aid conservation efforts policy initiatives and our overall understanding of how to survive as citizens of the planet Environmental Anthropology Today combines a range of new ethnographic work with chapters exploring key theoretical and methodological issues and draws on disciplines such as sociology and environmental science as well as anthropology to illuminate those issues The case studies include work on North America Europe India Africa Asia and South America offering the reader a stimulating and thoughtful survey of the work currently being conducted in the field Environmental Anthropology Patricia K. Townsend, 2017-11-10 Environmental anthropologists organize the realities of interdependent lands plants animals and human beings advocate for the neediest among them and provide guidance for conservation efforts But can anthropologists studies of small scale systems contribute to policies that address profoundly interconnected global problems Townsend explores this question in her concise introduction to environmental anthropology While maintaining the structure and clarity of previous editions the third edition has been thoroughly revised to include new research Newly added are a chapter on the environmental impact of war and recommended readings and films Townsend begins with a historical overview of the field illustrating how earlier ideas and approaches help to understand how today's populations adapt to their physical and biological environments She then transitions to a closer look at global environmental issues including such topics as rapid expansion of the world economic system and inequality loss of biodiversity and its implications for human health and injustices of climate change resource extraction and toxic waste disposal The final chapters caution that meaningful change requires social movements and policy changes in addition to individual actions Landscape Ethnoecology Leslie Main Johnson, Eugene S. Hunn, 2010-02-01 Although anthropologists and cultural geographers have explored place in various senses little cross cultural examination of kinds of place or ecotopes has been presented from an ethno ecological perspective In this volume indigenous and local understandings of landscape are investigated in order to better understand how human communities relate to their terrestrial and aquatic resources The contributors go beyond the traditional ecological knowledge TEK literature and offer valuable insights on ecology and on land and resources management emphasizing the perception of landscape above the level of species and their folk classification Focusing on the ways traditional people perceive and manage land and biotic resources within diverse regional and cultural settings the contributors address theoretical issues and present case studies from North America Mexico Amazonia tropical Asia Africa and Europe Environmental Anthropology Patricia K. Townsend, 2008-06-25

Environmental anthropologists organize the realities of interdependent lands plants animals and human beings advocate for the neediest among them and provide understandings that preserve what is needed for the survival of a diverse world Can the things that anthropologists have learned in their studies of small scale systems have any relevance for developing policies to address global problems Townsend explores this dilemma in her captivating concise exploration of environmental anthropology and its place among the disciplines subfields Maintaining the structure and clarity of the previous edition the second edition has been revised throughout to include new research expanded discussions of climate change and a chapter devoted to spiritual ecology In the historical overview of the field Townsend shows how ideas and approaches developed earlier are relevant to understanding how today's local populations adapt to their physical and biological environments She next presents a closer look at global environmental issues rapid expansion of the world economic system disease and poverty the loss of biodiversity and its implications for human health to demonstrate the effects of interactions between local and global communities As a capstone she gives thoughtful consideration to how as professionals and as individuals we can move toward personal engagement with environmental problems The Environment in Anthropology, Second Edition Nora Haenn, Allison Harnish, Richard Wilk, 2016-04-26 Presents ecology and current environmental studies from an anthropological point of view The Environment in Anthropology presents ecology and current environmental studies from an anthropological point of view From the classics to the most current scholarship this text connects the theory and practice in environment and anthropology providing readers with a strong intellectual foundation as well as offering practical tools for solving environmental problems Haenn Wilk and Harnish pose the most urgent questions of environmental protection How are environmental problems mediated by cultural values What are the environmental effects of urbanization When do environmentalists goals and actions conflict with those of indigenous peoples How can we assess the impact of environmentally correct businesses They also cover the fundamental topics of population growth large scale development biodiversity conservation sustainable environmental management indigenous groups consumption and globalization This revised edition addresses new topics such as water toxic waste neoliberalism environmental history environmental activism and REDD Reducing Emissions from Deforestation and Forest Degradation and it situates anthropology in the multi disciplinary field of environmental research It also offers readers a guide for developing their own plan for environmental action This volume offers an introduction to the breadth of ecological and environmental anthropology as well as to its historical trends and current developments Balancing landmark essays with cutting edge scholarship bridging theory and practice and offering suggestions for further reading and new directions for research The Environment in Anthropology continues to provide the ideal introduction to a burgeoning field Environmentalism and Cultural Theory Kay Milton, 1996 First Published in 1996 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company
