Danaher, 2015-12-03 Many years ago as I was pondering a problem I felt the urge to pick up a pen and write Out came something vaguely resembling a poem At least it was verse that rhymed When I finished and read it I realized that from somewhere inside of me had come an answer to the issue that was troubling me To me it felt like an answered prayer and for many years this is how I meditated I called these early poems my prayer poems Sometimes I would share them with family and friends and often people especially my mother would say I should write them in a book as others may also benefit from them or enjoy them Over the years I added other type of poems to these early prayer poems and I found poetic verse a great way to express my feelings about the world around me about issues about the people that came across my life about love about humor but mostly I wrote to help myself deal with situations When illness struck I suddenly had more time and decided to turn this into a proper hobby I found these poems a great way to communicate But the rest of my story is in the introduction of my book I will leave you with a poem and hope that you enjoy the others in my book The Sunset In the far horizon Near the edge of the ocean Glows the sky a brilliant red Evening s glorious gift Before the dark of night Overshadows the land once more Relaxing on the warm sand Glad to be alive The United Methodist Periodical Index , 1981

Fathering the Map Robert Pack, 1993-09-15 Poetry wrote Wordsworth is the breath and finer spirit of all knowledge it is the impassioned expression which is the countenance of all Science Robert Pack s new book is a heady mixture of the finer spirit A selection from his last five books along with a collection of new poems Fathering the Map takes us from the personal reflections distilled in the lyrics of Waking to My Name 1980 to the worldly reckonings of Inheritance 1992 and back again In the dramatic monologues of Faces in a Single Tree 1984 in the narrative of a wayward life from womb to double ending in Clayfield Rejoices Clayfield Laments 1987 in a cosmic tour conducted by the physicist Heinz Pagels with Before It Vanishes

1990 Pack has fashioned poems of intimate experience scientific meditations philosophical wonder poems that breathe the knowledge of man and woman young and old artist and human animal Pack's work has won the acclaim of writers critics and readers from Robert Penn Warren to Cynthia Ozick to Stephen Jay Gould who comments that the precious contacts of science and poetry are now sadly rare but Bob Pack revitalizes the ancient union with incisive poems that sing with lyricism or bite with insight but always seem to add wisdom to the scientist's epigram The poet improves his style and spirit as he extends his reach Howard Nemerov has written and in his new work Pack reaches back to some of his earliest memories and so forward to a personal mythology that circles from the primal instant to the present ecological crisis Robert Pack's poetry is deeply rooted in his won family life Richard Wilbur has remarked and yet his imagination has always included us all And Cynthia Ozick has said of Pack's poetry We rejoice as we read The Magic Apple Tree Elaine Feinstein, 1971
