Feminist Periodicals, 2002 The Velveteen Father Jesse Green, 2000 A beautifully written memoir about a gay man becoming an adoptive parent. The Velveteen Father goes right to the heart of the question of what it means to have children and what it means to be an adult. The New York Times Magazine, 2002 Woman-defined Motherhood Jane Price Knowles, Ellen Cole, 1990 Finally here is an enlightening and empowering book that defines motherhood from a feminist perspective and then explores the implications of that definition. Feminist authors examine some of women's full, rich, and varied thoughts and experiences about motherhood. In contrast to the too often accepted male notions of what constitutes a good mother or a normal family, this important book presents a comprehensive and balanced view of motherhood as women have observed and experienced it. The major issues surrounding motherhood today are closely examined: the pervasive problem of mother-blaming and mother-hating and solutions to overcome it; ageism, sexism, and motherhood relationships between mothers and daughters; relationships between stepmothers and stepchildren; motherhood and sex roles within the family; adoption, infertility, and childlessness. Special insight is also provided into the concerns of women who are mothers: lesbians, women of color, mothers of biracial children, and adoptive mothers of children from different cultures. Woman Defined Motherhood is must reading for women, including both mothers and daughters, for therapists and other professionals supporting women, and for anyone interested in mothering. Gendered Bodies Judith Lorber, Lisa Jean Moore, 2007 For centuries, the biological sciences have dissected, measured, and probed the human body as a product of nature.
