The Substance of a Discourse Aaron L. Lindsley, 2017-12-15 Excerpt from The Substance of a Discourse Delivered in the Presbyterian Church of South Salem Westchester Co N Y November 29 1856 But the reproach which attaches to this sin is not confined to individual and social life It exerts directly and indirectly an incalculable influence upon the Public Affairs of the Country The moral consequences of the universal thirst for gain is felt in all the departments of government As its selfish ends induce the disregard of personal and social duties so they lead to the neglect and violation of civil and political obligations Its intense application leaves no time to devote to the common interests Of citizenship Gain asks to be let alone in the prosecution Of its selfish ends and relinquishes the highest aims of government to other hands Add to this the indifference of many good men to the honors of office their aversion to partizan wrangling and their criminal neglect of political duties and the wide spread corruption Of politics proceeding from Opposite sources is explained But that disregard of these Obligations which attend the vehement pursuit of gain is less excusable than any other because the defence which it sets up is entirely selfish Men who have a taste for serving the people and a dislike for labor push themselves forward and demagogues are thus lifted into place and power The injuries which such men are capable of inflicting upon the Country are incalculable for it is never safe to confide important interests to corrupt hands No barrier is impregnable to their insidious assaults They reduce the science of politics to a contraband trade in offices and emoluments The safeguards of liberty which patriotism would vigilantly defend they covertly invade or openly disregard About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Discourse Delivered in the Second Presbyterian Church (Classic Reprint) Isaac N. Shannon, 2015-07-08 Excerpt from Discourse Delivered in the Second Presbyterian Church We deem it appropriate to this day the Seventy sixth Anniversary of American Independence to acknowledge the gracious dealings of God with this nation We regard our past history as an index to our future destiny What God has already wrought in this land is the pledge of still greater things to come He has planted and prospered this nation for important purposes and those purposes may be learned in part from our past history and present condition It becomes us then not only to acknowledge His providential care in general but to study the peculiar dispensations of His providence with a view to determine our present duty and our future destiny among the nations of the earth We propose therefore in this discourse to take a brief religious view of our history and political institutions About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works A Discourse Delivered Thanksgiving Day, November 20, 1856 E. them as instruments in delivering the oppressed from bondage and that in doing this he defeats the counsels and purposes of bad men Cyrus was raised up to deliver the Hebrew people from their long captivity In Babylon as Moses had been long before to deliver the ancestors of the same people from slavery in Egypt The applicability Of this thought to the circumstances of our country I trust you will perceive as we advance If the principle is correct the hand of God should be recognized alike in the arrangements by which such men are raised up in the work which they accomplish in their removal however that removal may occur and in the lasting benefits which he has conferred through their instrumentality on the oppressed on a nation or on the world at large About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Historical Discourse Henry W.
