The Friendly Young Ladies Mary Renault, 2014-10-02 Elsie sheltered and naive is seventeen and unhappy stifled by life with her bickering parents in a bleak Cornish village she falls in love with the first presentable young man she meets Peter an ambitious London doctor On his advice she runs away from home and goes to live with her sister Leonora who escaped eight years earlier But there are surprises in store for conventional Elsie as her sister has a rather bohemian lifestyle not only does Leo live in a houseboat on the Thames where she writes Westerns for a living she shares her boat and her bed with Helen When Peter pays a visit turning his attention from one friendly young lady to the next he disturbs the calm for each of them with results unforeseen by all Mary Renault wrote this delightfully provocative novel in 1943 partly in answer to the despair characteristic of Radclyffe Hall's The Well of Loneliness The result is this witty and stylish social comedy History's Queer Stories Natalie Marena Nobitz, 2018-10-04 Critical analysis of the dramatisation of homosexuality in British fiction about the Second World War is noticeable only by its relative absence from the field Whereas feminist literary criticism has broadened the canon of war fiction to include narratives by and about women queer scholars have seldom focused on literary representations of homosexuality during the war Natalie Marena Nobitz closes a glaring gap in the critical attention of four novels dealing with the disruption of gender roles and institutionalised heteronormativity Walter Baxter's Look Down in Mercy 1951 Mary Renault's The Charioteer 1953 Sarah Waters' The Night Watch 2006 and Adam Fitzroy's Make Do and Mend 2012 Sarah Waters Kaye Mitchell, 2013-09-12 Leading scholars explore the work of Sarah Waters from a full range of critical perspectives Includes a new interview with the author The Friendly Young Ladies Mary Renault, 1984 Set in 1937 The Friendly Young Ladies is a romantic comedy of off-Bloomsbury bohemia Sheltered naive and just eighteen Elsie leaves the stifling environment of her parents' home in Cornwall to seek out her sister Leo who had run away nine years earlier She finds Leo sharing a houseboat and a bed with the beautiful fair-haired Helen While Elsie's arrival seems innocent enough it is the first of a series of events that will turn Helen and Leo's contented life inside out Soon a randy young doctor is chasing after all three women at once a neighborly friendship begins to show an erotic tinge and long quiet ghosts from Leo's past begin to surface Before long no one is sure just who feels what for whom Mary Renault wrote this delightfully provocative novel in the early 1940s creating characters that are lighthearted charming and free-spirited partly in answer to the despair characteristic of Radclyffe Hall's The Well of Loneliness or Lillian Hellman's The Children's Hour The result is a witty and stylish story that offers exceptional insight into the world of upcoming writers and artists of the 1930s London chronicling their rejection of society's established sexual mores and their heroic pursuits of art and life The Masks of Mary Renault Caroline Zilboorg, 2013-10-10 Born Eileen Mary Challans in London in 1905 Mary Renault wrote six successful contemporary novels before turning to the historical fiction about ancient Greece for which she is best known While Renault's novels are still highly regarded her life and work have never been completely examined Caroline Zilboorg seeks to remedy this in The Masks of Mary Renault by exploring Renault's identity as a gifted writer and a sexual woman in a society in which neither of these identities was clear or easy. Although Renault's life was anything but ordinary, this fact has often been obscured by her writing. The daughter of a doctor, she grew up comfortably and attended a boarding school in Bristol. She received a degree in English from St Hugh's College in Oxford in 1928 but she chose not to pursue an academic career. Instead, she decided to attend the Radcliffe Infirmary in Oxford where she trained to be a nurse. With the outbreak of the Second World War, she was assigned to the Winford Emergency Hospital in Bristol and briefly worked with Dunkirk evacuees. She went on to work in the Radcliffe Infirmary's brain surgery ward and was there until 1945. It was during her nurse's training that Renault met Julie Mullard, who became her lifelong companion. This important lesbian relationship both resolved and posed many problems for Renault, not the least of which was how she was to write about issues at once intensely personal and socially challenging. In 1939, Renault published her first novel under a pseudonym in order to mask her identity. It was a time when she was struggling not only with her vocation nursing and writing but also with her sexual identity in the social and moral context of English life during the war. In 1948, Renault left England with Mullard for South Africa and never returned. It was in South Africa that she made the shift from her early contemporary novels of manners to the mature historical novels of Hellenic life. The classical settings allowed Renault to mask material too explosive to deal with directly while simultaneously giving her an academic freedom to write about subjects vital to her. Among them: war, peace, career, women's roles, female and male homosexuality and bisexuality. Renault's reception complicates an understanding of her achievement for she has a special status within the academic community where she is both widely read and little written about. Her interest in sexuality and specifically in homosexuality and bisexuality in fluid gender roles and identities warrants a rereading and reevaluation of her work. Eloquently written and extensively researched, The Masks of Mary Renault will be of special value to anyone interested in women's studies or English literature. 259 Feminist Book Fair Group, 1984. Literary Cultures E. Brown, M. Grover, 2011-11-30. The literary middle ground, once dismissed by academia as insignificant, is the site of powerful anxieties about cultural authority that continue to this day. In short, the middlebrow matters. These essays examine the prejudices and aspirations at work in the battle of the brows and show that cultural value is always relative and situational. Waterstone's Guide to Books Waterstone & Co., Ltd, 1989. Waterstone's Guide to Books Waterstone & Co, 1989. British Book News British Council, 1991.
