French Photography, from Its Origins to the Present Claude Nori, 1979 Photographers Peter E. Palmquist, 2000

Photography and Its Origins Tanya Sheehan, Andres Zervigon, 2014-11-20 Recent decades have seen a flourishing interest in and speculation about the origins of photography Spurred by rediscoveries of first photographs and proclamations of photography's death in the digital age scholars have been rethinking who and what invented the medium Photography and Its Origins reflects on this interest in photography's beginnings by reframing it in critical and specifically historiographical terms How and why do we write about the origins of the medium Whom or what do we rely on to construct those narratives What's at stake in choosing to tell stories of photography's genesis in one way or another And what kind of work can those stories do Edited by Tanya Sheehan and Andr s Mario Zervig n this collection of 16 original essays illustrated with 32 colour images showcases prominent and emerging voices in the field of photography studies Their research cuts across disciplines and methodologies shedding new light on old questions about histories and their writing Photography and Its Origins will serve as a valuable resource for students and scholars in art history visual and media studies and the history of science and technology Vision and Textuality Stephen W. Melville, Bill Readings, 1995 The influence of contemporary literary theory on art history is increasingly evident but there is little or no agreement about the nature and consequence of this new intersection of the visual and the textual Vision and Textuality brings together essays by many of the most influential scholars in the field both young and more established writers from the United States England and France to address the emergent terms and practices of contemporary art history With essays by Rosalind Krauss Hal Foster Norman Bryson Victor Burgin Martin Jay Louis Marin Thomas Crow Griselda Pollock and others the volume is organized into sections devoted to the discipline of art history the implications of semiotics the new cultural history of art and the impact of psychoanalysis The works discussed in these essays range from Rembrandt's Danae to Jorge Immendorf's Caf Deutschland from Vauxhall Gardens to Max Ernst and from the Imagines of Philostratus to William Godwin's novel Caleb Williams Each section is preceded by a short introduction that offers further contexts for considering the essays that follow while the editors' general introduction presents an overall exploration of the relation between vision and textuality in a variety of both institutional and theoretical contexts Among other issues it examines the relevance of aesthetics the current concern with modernism and postmodernism and the possible development of new disciplinary formations in the humanities Contributors Mieke Bal John Bender Norman Bryson Victor Burgin Thomas Crow Peter de Bolla Hal Foster Michael Holly Martin Jay Rosalind Krauss Fran oise Lucbert Louis Martin Stephen Melville Griselda Pollock Bill Readings Irit Rogoff Bennet Schaber John Tagg Burning with Desire Geoffrey Batchen, 1999-03-15 In an 1828 letter to his partner Nicphore Ni pce Louis Daguerre wrote I am burning with desire to see your experiments from nature In this book Geoffrey Batchen analyzes the desire to photograph as it emerged within the philosophical and scientific milieus that preceded the actual invention of photography Recent accounts of photography's identity tend to divide between the postmodern view that all identity is determined by context and a formalist effort to define the fundamental characteristics of photography as a medium. Batchen critiques both approaches by way of a detailed discussion of photography's conception in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. He examines the output of the various nominees for first photographer then incorporates this information into a mode of historical criticism informed by the work of Michel Foucault and Jacques Derrida. The result is a way of thinking about photography that persuasively accords with the medium's undeniable conceptual, political, and historical complexity. A History of Women Photographers Naomi Rosenblum, 1994. In a work of staggering beauty and immense learning, Rosenblum presents a comprehensive history of women's accomplishments in photography around the world and throughout the entire history of the medium from the mid 1800s to the present. She explores the work of some 240 photographers from Anna Atkins, Julia Margaret Cameron, and Frances Benjamin Johnston to Tina Modotti, Lisette Model, Margaret Bourke-White, Louise Dahl-Wolfe, Susan Meiselas, and Cindy Sherman. Includes 263 photographs, 30 in color. Extensive bibliography. Annotation copyright by Book News Inc., Portland, OR. The British Journal of Photography, 1874. The Cromer Collection of Nineteenth-century French Photography, 2022-05-31. A deep dive into the pioneering collection of nineteenth-century French photographs, equipment, and ephemera which is a cornerstone of the George Eastman Museum. In the early twentieth century, Parisian photographer, amateur historian, and collector Gabriel Cromer (1873-1934) amassed a collection that traced photography's prehistory, invention, and development to about 1890. His dream was to found a national museum of the photographic arts in France. Although Cromer's ambition was never realized, his collection was central to establishing the world's first museum dedicated to photography, the George Eastman Museum. The Cromer Collection of Nineteenth-Century French Photography considers the origin and circulation of the collection as well as the influence it has had on photography as a field of study. The book's six essays, written by French and American scholars, explore the Cromer Collection's complex passage across markets, borders, and functions. For more than half a century, curators and scholars worldwide have drawn extensively on the Gabriel Cromer Collection for exhibitions and publications; this book provides the first focused scholarly study of the foundational resource.
