Deans and Truants Gene Andrew Jarrett, 2013-03-01 For a work to be considered African American literature does it need to focus on black characters or political themes Must it represent these within a specific stylistic range Or is it enough for the author to be identified as African American In Deans and Truants Gene Andrew Jarrett traces the shifting definitions of African American literature and the authors who wrote beyond those boundaries at the cost of critical dismissal and at times obscurity From the late nineteenth century to the end of the twentieth de facto deans critics and authors as different as William Howells Alain Locke Richard Wright and Amiri Baraka prescribed the shifting parameters of realism and racial subject matter appropriate to authentic African American literature while truant authors such as Paul Laurence Dunbar George S Schuyler Frank Yerby and Toni Morrison perhaps the most celebrated African American author of the twentieth century wrote literature anomalous to those standards Jarrett explores the issues at stake when Howells the Dean of American Letters argues in 1896 that only Dunbar's entirely black verse written in dialect would succeed Three decades later Locke the cultural arbiter of the Harlem Renaissance stands in contrast to Schuyler a journalist and novelist who questions the existence of a peculiarly black or New Negro art Next Wright's 1937 blueprint for African American writing sets the terms of the Chicago Renaissance but Yerby's version of historical romance approaches race and realism in alternative literary ways Finally Deans and Truants measures the gravitational pull of the late 1960s Black Aesthetic in Baraka's editorial silence on Toni Morrison's first and only short story Recitatif Drawing from a wealth of biographical historical and literary sources Deans and Truants describes the changing notions of race politics and gender that framed and were framed by the authors and critics of African American culture for more than a century

Social Fact, Biological Fiction: The Deconstruction of Race in Toni Morrison's "Recitatif" Stefan Löchle, 2009-08-18 Seminar paper from the year 2008 in the subject American Studies Literature grade 1.0 University of Constance Fachgruppe Literaturwissenschaft British and American Studies course American Literature and Culture Part Two Minority Literatures language English abstract This term paper examines how Morrison exposes the category of race to be mere biological fiction but still serves to structure people's expectations towards each other in everyday interactions the main questions tackled in the term paper will be the following What is the understanding of the term race as presented by Morrison in Recitatif What are the interrelations of race and gender with regard to Afro American women What are the social facts surrounding certain attributes of race

James Baldwin and Toni Morrison: Comparative Critical and Theoretical Essays L. Scott, 2006-10-16 This collection of comparative critical and theoretical essays examines James Baldwin and Toni Morrison's reciprocal literary relationship By reading these authors side by side this collection forges new avenues of discovery and interpretation related to their representations of African American and American literature and cultural experience

Theory of Racelessness Sheena Michele Mason, 2022-05-27 This book presents a skeptical eliminativist philosophy of race and the theory of racelessness a methodological and pedagogical framework for analyzing race and racism It explores the history of skeptical eliminativism and constructionist eliminativism within the history of African American philosophy and literary studies and its consistent connection with movements for civil rights Sheena M Mason considers how current anti racist efforts reflect naturalist conservationist and constructionist reconstructionist philosophies of race that prevent more people from fully confronting the problem of racism not race thereby enabling racism to persist She then offers a three part solution for how scholars and people aspiring toward anti racism can avoid unintentionally upholding racism using literary studies as a case study to show how race often translates into racism itself The theory of racelessness helps more people undo racism by undoing the belief in race

Audionarratology Jarmila Mildorf, Till Kinzel, 2016-04-25 Audionarratology is a new postclassical narratology that explores interfaces of sound voice music and narrative in different media and across disciplinary boundaries Drawing on sound studies and transmedial narratology audionarratology combines concepts from both while also offering fresh insights Sound studies investigate sound in its various manifestations from disciplinary angles as varied as anthropology history sociology acoustics articulatory phonetics musicology or sound psychology Still a specifically narrative focus is often missing Narratology has broadened its scope to look at narratives from transdisciplinary and transmedial perspectives However there is a bias towards visual or audio visual media such as comics and graphic novels film TV hyperfiction and pictorial art The aim of this book is to foreground the oral and aural sides of storytelling asking how sound voice and music support narrative structure or even assume narrative functions in their own right It brings together cutting edge research on forms of sound narration hitherto neglected in narratology radio plays audiobooks audio guides mobile phone theatre performance poetry concept albums digital stories computer games songs

Cross-Rhythms Keren Omry, 2011-10-20 Cross Rhythms investigates the literary uses and effects of blues and jazz in African American literature of the twentieth century Texts by James Baldwin Ralph Ellison Langston Hughes Zora Neale Hurston Gayl Jones Toni Morrison and Ishmael Reed variously adopt or are consciously informed by a jazz aesthetic this aesthetic becomes part of a strategy of ethnic identification and provides a medium with which to consider the legacy of trauma in African American history These diverse writers are all thoroughly immersed in a socio cultural context and a literary aesthetic that embodies shifting conceptions of ethnic identity across the twentieth century The emergence of blues and jazz is likewise a crucial product of as well as catalyst for this context and in their own aesthetic explorations of notions of ethnicity these writers consciously engage with this musical milieu By examining the highly varied manifestations of a jazz aesthetic as possibly the fundamental common denominator which links these writers this study attempts to identify an underlying unifying principle As the different writers write against essentializing or organic categories of race the very fact of a shared engagement with jazz sensibilities in their work redefines the basis of African American communal identity

Recitatif Toni Morrison, 2022-02-01 NEW YORK TIMES BEST SELLER A beautiful arresting story about race and the relationships that shape us through life by the legendary Nobel Prize winner for the first time in a beautifully produced stand alone edition with an introduction by Zadie Smith A puzzle of a story then a game When Morrison called Recitatif an experiment she meant it The subject of the experiment is the reader Zadie Smith award winning best selling author of White Teeth In this 1983 short story the only short story Morrison ever wrote we meet Twyla and Roberta who have known each other since they were eight years old and spent four months together as roommates in St Bonaventure shelter Inseparable then they lose touch as they grow older only later to find each other again at a diner a grocery store and again at a protest Seemingly at opposite ends of every problem and at each other's throats each time they meet the two women still cannot deny the deep bond their shared experience has forged between them Another work of genius by this masterly writer Recitatif keeps Twyla's and Roberta's races ambiguous throughout the story Morrison herself described Recitatif a story which will keep readers thinking and discussing for years to come as an experiment in the removal of all racial codes from a narrative about two characters of different races for whom racial identity is crucial We know that one is white and one is Black but which is which And who is right about the race of the woman the girls tormented at the orphanage A remarkable look into what keeps us together and what keeps us apart and how perceptions are made tangible by reality Recitatif is a gift to readers in these changing times Collaborating(,) Literature(,) and Composition Frank Gaughan, Peter H. Khost, 2007 The disciplines of English and composition seem particularly prone to crisis driven proclamations our kids don't read the great works or they don't read at all or they can't write Crisis talk notwithstanding educators are left to theorize and practice ways to teach reading and writing with intelligence compassion and integrity However it often seems that theoretical formulations do not sufficiently explain their practicable applications and practicable discussions too rarely rise above the level of swapping recipes sharing assignments that work well in one context but may not in another Therefore the editors of this volume submit this collection of essays that strives to harmonize the all too often discordant qualities of theory and practice Each co authored essay illustrates and analyzes various classroom based strategies for productive collaboration between literature and composition This collection envisions a reciprocal to composing literature literaturing composition which entails living through literature as Louise Rosenblatt has it This process regards the literary text as a medium for creative action so that one reads not to criticize so much as to imagine new compositional possibilities The eight essays in this collection are divided into four sections which span topics that include textuality and critical pedagogy argumentation and hybrid genres student engagement and popular culture and materiality and assessment Publisher's website The Art of Musical Phrasing in the Eighteenth Century Stephanie Vial, 2008 This book is the collection of papers that came out of an interdisciplinary symposium held in the spring of 1991 in the Republic of San Marino The conference Effects of War on Society was planned as the first in a series aimed ultimately at placing in perspective the sociocultural variables that make outbreaks of war probable and delineating for researchers and policy makers alike some important steps that can be taken to control these variables This is Volume 1 of a series entitled Studies on the Nature of War which the University of Rochester Press has been publishing from Volume 2 War and Ethnicity Global Connections and Local Violence 1997 after much demand we are now distributing this book on behalf of the conference organizers The Center for Interdisciplinary Research on Social Stress in San Marino Short Story ,1997
