Give Me the Word Laura Fabrycky, 2015-11-17 Laura Fabrycky presents a collection of poems that invite the reader to wait and worship in the anticipation of Advent to see the world afresh through a child's eyes to grieve alongside friends stung by a loved one's death and to feel the nearness of humor and tragedy abroad Written over fifteen years from various locations in America and the Middle East and in witness to several seasons of life these are poems that ring with the making of daily life and embody the quotidian joys and heartaches that are true for all people everywhere This beautiful volume makes a superb gift for the Advent and Christmas seasons as well as for those who value the place of poetry in everyday life

Poetry, Practical Theology and Reflective Practice Mark Pryce, 2019-03-13 This groundbreaking study offers an innovative critical analysis of poetry as a resource for reflective practice in the context of continuing professional development In the contemporary drive in all professions for greater rigour in education training and development little attention is paid to the inner shape of learning and meaning making for individuals and groups especially ways in which individuals are formed for the task of their work Building on empirical research into the author's professional practice the book takes the use of poetry in clergy continuing ministerial development as a case study to examine the value of poetry in professional learning Setting out the advantages and limitations of poetry as a stimulant for imaginative critical reflexivity and formation within professional reflective practice the study develops a practical model for group reflection around poetry distilling pedagogical approaches for working effectively with poetry in continuing professional development Drawing together a number of strands of thinking about poetry Practical Theology and reflective practice into a tightly argued study the book is an important methodological resource It makes available a range of primary and secondary sources offering researchers into professional practice a model of ethnographic research in Practical Theology which embraces innovative methods for reflexivity and theological reflection including the value of auto ethnographic poetry

Marian Poem-Prayers in the Modern Age Jean Ward, 2025-10-16 This book explores a range of twentieth and twenty first century poem prayers directed to or involving Mary In readings of works by T S Eliot David Jones Geoffrey Hill Elizabeth Jennings Hilary Davies Rowan Williams and others Ward traces the resurgence of interest in Mary from the late nineteenth century to the present day By the early twentieth century the once widespread and fervent cult of the Virgin Mary had for more than three hundred years been largely absent from England's religious life Similarly the figure of Mary had almost vanished from English poetry only to return gradually as Marian devotion began to revive in the nineteenth century The perception of this devotion as somehow un-English dominant since the Reformation presented a challenge to poets engaged with the Marian theme in the modern day Marian Poem Prayers in the Modern Age examines how male and female poets from both Roman Catholic and Anglican backgrounds responded to this situation The book also argues that the figure of Mary is a type of John Henry Newman's category of real assent commitment that is not merely intellectual but involves the totality of a person's being in relation to God

The Poetics of Noise from Dada to Punk John Melillo, 2020-09-03 By reinterpreting 20th century poetry as a listening to and writing through noise The Poetics of Noise from Dada to Punk constructs a literary history of noise through poetic sound and performance This book traces how poets figure noise in the disfiguration of poetic voice Materializing in the threshold between the heard and the unheard noise emerges in the differentiation and otherness of sound It arises in the folding of an outside into the inside of poetic performance both on and off the page Through a series of case studies ranging from verse by ear witnesses to the First World War Dadaist provocations jazz modernist song and poetry early New York City punk rock contemporary sound poetry and noise music The Poetics of Noise from Dada to Punk describes productive failures of communication that theorize listening against the grain of sound's sense Rewriting the Word "God" Romana Huk, 2025 Innovative poetry philosophy theology and new sciences converge in the project of rewriting the word God In Rewriting the Word God Romana Huk examines the substantive connections between innovative poetry of the last century and contemporary theology and philosophy Along the way we encounter ten poets who have without abandoning their inherited or chosen faith traditions radically rethought conceptualizations of divinity human ontology and the real From the startlingly proto phenomenological encounters with nature by Gerard Manley Hopkins to the post deconstructive pursuit of oracular speech in Fanny Howe these poets have found inspiration in a wide range of sources from ancient religious texts to modern philosophical movements But what unites them is their willingness to continually change experiment and challenge the status quo both in their religious beliefs and their poetic practice Huk shows how these poets have used their work to explore ultimate questions of life and death meaning and purpose and the relationship between humans and materiality humans and other humans which for these poets sheds light on humanity's relationship with the divine She also highlights the ways in which they have engaged with social and political issues in their poetry to speak out against injustice and oppression Rewriting the Word God is a thought provoking and inspiring work that will challenge current perceptions of both religion and poetry from new positions at the intersection of faith art philosophy science literary theory and culture Religious Books, 1876-1982, 1983 Prepared by the R R Bowker Company's Department of Bibliography in collaboration with the Publications Systems Department Page opposite t p Includes indexes Author Index 3901 4069 Title Index 4071 4389 Children's Books in Print R R Bowker Publishing, Bowker, 1999-12 Waiting on the Word Malcolm Guite, 2015-08-31 For every day from Advent Sunday to Christmas Day and beyond the bestselling poet Malcolm Guite chooses a favourite poem from across the Christian spiritual and English literary traditions and offers incisive seasonal reflections on it A scholar of poetry as well as a renowned poet himself his knowledge is deep and wide and he offers readers a soul food feast for Advent Among the classic writers he includes are George Herbert John Donne Milton Tennyson and Christina Rossetti as well as contemporary poets like Scott Cairns Luci Shaw and Grevel Lindop He also includes a selection of his own highly praised work The Advent, and Other Poems and Hymns William D. Murphy, 1873 People of Advent Maryann Beckman, 2013-11 Advent is a season of waiting and wonder It is a time of reflection on the beauty of the moment and the longing in our heart for something more This collection of poems challenges us to look past the ongoing distractions of this busy season while reminding readers that the heart of the season is the heart of time Jesus In a style that is reverent and faith filled the poet offers a collection of poems reflecting on the beauty and wonder of Advent At the Bottom of the Year David Craig, 2021-10-25 Each Advent season is new Those most recent have been tumultuous COVID bitterly cold snows visionaries speaking frankly of a coming apocalypse But other things as well our own issues the creeping age factor the death of loved ones Advent like a creaking old metal gate corrects us every time It lets us know that only one thing matters the stable that little crib where cows chewed hay Children and childlike adults still find all the consolation they need there We wait for a Jesus who only does joyous endings whose glory is in that star in snowy fields in those who have passed on and in those who will These poems celebrate the sweetness of His coming His presence We must learn to be still to wait for and with the One who gives us Life Praise Him David Craig s poetry full of life spontaneity and God has always brought joy to my heart But At the Bottom of the Year opens up life in a way that scatters God like shards of light through a fallen but hopeful world Warm human and seasoned by a puckish sense of humor this volume of poetry could not have arrived at a more auspicious moment Drink it to the dregs MICHAEL MARTIN editor of JESUS THE IMAGINATION A Journal of Spiritual Revolution David Craig has done it again this time giving us a fascinating collection of Advent poems in the tradition of the ancient ghazel but with a sense of the dailiness of life in our moment as husband father and now grandfather And here s the thing it s a dailiness sparkling with the sacramental alive with the presence of Jesus the King walking or gliding past the modest homes and Kentucky Fried Chicken diner in a dream world we inhabit in all its sadness and disappointment but also its brilliant wit and yes that mysterious sense of heading home on the journey each of us walks PAUL MARIANI poet biographer author of Ordinary Time For David Craig God is in the details His world is beautifully sacramental and so is his poetry In his poems frost covered blades of grass convey grace as do metal casings pinecones in the snow other people especially those close to him and every carefully chosen word Expecting the wondrous is what Advent is all about and so is every one of these poems David Craig has a gift for seeing the infinite ways in which matter and spirit are intertwined and how expectations of redemption fill every moment A wonderful and poignant celebration of the Word made flesh perfectly laced with humor CARLOS EIRE historian author of Waiting for Snow in Havana The Advent William D. Murphy, 2019-08-31 Rethinking Christmas S T Kimbrough Jr., 2020-06-15 In the poems that appear here imagination plays a significant role We do not know exactly what people expect or anticipate at Advent but we know it can be radically different depending on one s situation in life the poor the homeless those enveloped in war the wealthy the desperately ill or injured What one awaits does not change the nature of Christ s coming but it greatly influences how Christ is received One thing is quite clear it is the love of God that descends to earth in this child a child of peace and goodwill If one is not awaiting these things one s celebration may be well meaning but very wrong headed These poems imagine what Advent and Christmas are not and what they might be How might they be seen through the eyes of the poor and marginalized How might they be viewed by a business concern How are they misunderstood What does Christmas mean when a bell rings on Christmas Day and a church building has been destroyed and all that remains is the bell tower The Advent of Winter and Other Poems and Songs Advent, 1852 Advent and Other Poems Rachel Alice Bodine, 1896 Voices of the Advent William William Mitchell, 2007-12-01 In Voices of the Advent poet William Mitchell recreates the timeless Christmas story with a most vivid sense of place and time as the various participants speak in these moving and thoughtful poems This is a book of poetry for all seasons including the season of joy and the season of despair By letting us read the words of the biblical characters as they might have actually spoken them the book provides a source of inspiration to readers today Most readable and absorbing poetry This edition contains twenty six poems each with an accompanying full page illustration
