Global Corruption Money Power And Ethics In The Modern World:

Global Corruption Laurence Cockcroft, 2012-08-31 Corruption is a key factor in sustaining appallingly high levels of poverty in many developing countries particularly in relation to the poor provision of basic services such as education and health. It is also a major reason why growth rate increases in Africa and South Asia have failed to benefit large segments of the population. Corruption drives the over exploitation of natural resources capturing their value for a small elite whether timber from Indonesia or coltan from the Congo. In the developed world corrupt party funding undermines political systems and lays policy open to heavy financial lobbying. In this book Laurence Cockcroft shows how corruption has to be seen as the result of the interplay between elite embedded networks greed and organized crime. The growth of corruption has been facilitated by globalization the integration of new and expanding markets into the world economy and the rapid expansion of offshore financial facilities which provide a home to largely unregulated pools of finance derived from personal fortunes organized crime and pricing malpractice in international trade. This book shows how the current international interest in corruption follows the fifty years of the Cold War in which corruption was regarded in international policy making circles as off the table. Cockcroft describes the change of attitude from the 1990s onwards and the initiatives which have been designed to combat corruption over the last twenty years from individual prosecutors to governments to civil society and to progressive business and assesses their impact to date. The modest and uneven progress made indicates that corruption is a continuing threat and one which is likely to become one of the most serious problems of the twenty first century.

The West and China in Africa Alemayehu Mekonnen, 2015-11-13 The West and China in Africa Civilization without Justice is an outcome of Dr Alemayehu Mekonnen's personal intellectual struggle life experience and an attempt to understand Christ and his message within the cultural context of Africa. The intellectual struggle has to do with the paradoxical reality of Africa's situation. An attempt to reconcile the seemingly irreconcilable situation of Africa tests and stretches anyone's mind beyond limit. According to archaeological and geological findings Africa is the first habitat of humanity and yet it is the least habitable place in the world today. The continent is extremely rich with natural resources but it is known for poverty disease malnutrition and starvation. As some Afro centric scholars argue Africa is the birthplace of world civilization and yet it is known for destruction. Social instability is rampant coup d'etat and counter coup d'etat is common. Displacement and the number of refugees are ever increasing. As a person of African origin and now a US citizen Mekonnen was able to see realities objectively in the eyes of an African and
