Global Monitoring Report 2010 The MDGs After The Crisis:

Global Monitoring Report, 2010 International Monetary Fund, 2010-04-22 What is the human cost of the global economic crisis This year's Global Monitoring Report The MDGs after the Crisis examines the impact of the worst recession since the Great Depression on poverty and human development outcomes in developing countries Although the recovery is under way the impact of the crisis will be lasting and immeasurable The impressive precrisis progress in poverty reduction will slow particularly in low income countries in Africa No household in developing countries is immune Gaps will persist to 2020 In 2015 20 million more people in Sub Saharan Africa will be in extreme poverty and 53 million more people globally Even households above the 1 25 a day poverty line in higher income developing countries are coping by buying cheaper food delaying other purchases reducing visits to doctors working longer hours or taking multiple jobs The crisis will also have serious costs on human development indicators 1 2 million more children under age five and 265 000 more infants will die between 2009 and 2015 350 000 more students will not complete primary education in 2015 100 million fewer people will have access to safe drinking water in 2015 because of the crisis History tells us that if we let the recovery slide and allow the crisis to lead to widespread domestic policy failures and institutional breakdowns in poor countries the negative impact on human development outcomes especially on children and women will be disastrous The international financial institutions and international community responded strongly and quickly to the crisis but more is needed to sustain the recovery and regain the momentum in achieving the Millennium Development Goals MDGs Developing countries will also need to implement significant policy reforms and strengthen institutions to improve the efficiency of service delivery in the face of fiscal constraints Unlike previous crises however this one was not caused by domestic policy failure in developing countries So better development outcomes will also hinge on a rapid global economic recovery that improves export conditions terms of trade and affordable capital flows as well as meeting aid commitments to low income countries Global Monitoring Report 2010 seventh in this annual series is prepared jointly by the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund It provides a development perspective on the global economic crisis and assesses the impact on developing countries their growth poverty reduction and other MDGs Finally it sets out priorities for policy responses both by developing countries and by the international community Global Monitoring Report 2010 World Bank, International Monetary Fund, 2010-05-04 Global Monitoring Report 2010 The MDGs after the Crisis examines the impact of the worst recession since the Great Depression on poverty and human development outcomes in developing countries Although the recovery is under way the impact of the crisis will be lasting and immeasurable Global Monitoring Report 2011, 2011-01-01 Prepared jointly by The World Bank and the International Monetary Fund The Mutual Review of Development Effectiveness in Africa 2010 Promise and Performance OECD, United Nations Economic Commission for Africa, 2010-10-18 The UNECA OECD 2010 Mutual Review of Development Effectiveness in Africa Promise and Performance provides information on the main commitments made by Africa and its development partners the extent to which they have been delivered and their results and future policy priorities Global Monitoring Report International Monetary Fund, 2012-04-25 What has been the impact of yet another food price spike on developing countries ability to make progress toward the Millennium Development Goals MDGs How many poor people have been prevented from lifting themselves out of poverty How many people and how many children have seen their personal growth and development permanently harmed because their families could not afford to buy food Finally what can countries do to respond to higher and more volatile food prices Global Monitoring Report 2012 Food Prices Nutrition and the Millennium Development Goals examines these questions It summarizes the effects of food prices on several MDGs stressing that recent food price spikes have prevented millions of households from escaping extreme poverty The report advocates using agricultural policy to orchestrate a supply response deploying social safety nets to improve resilience strengthening nutritional policy to manage the implications of early childhood development and implementing trade policy to improve access to food markets reduce volatility and induce productivity gains The report acknowledges that one size does not fit all and that the sequencing and prioritization of various policy initiatives depend critically on the initial situation a country or region finds itself in It also discusses support by the international community The world has met two global MDG targets well before the 2015 deadline Estimates based on preliminary surveys indicate that the share of people living in extreme poverty in 2010 was half what it was in 1990 The world has also halved the share of people with no safe drinking water The goal of gender parity in primary and secondary education is on track to be met in 2015 and the goal of ensuring that children everywhere boys and girls alike are able to complete primary school is nearly on track But the MDGs closely linked to food and nutrition particularly those that aim to reduce child and maternal mortality are lagging Global Monitoring Report 2012 was prepared jointly by the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund with consultations and collaborations with regional development banks and other multilateral partners Managing Water Under Uncertainty and Risk: United Nations World Water Development Report #4 (3 Vols.) UNESCO, 2012-01-01 Released every three years since March 2003 the United Nations World Water Development Report WWDR a flagship UN Water report published by UNESCO has become the voice of the United Nations system in terms of the state use and management of the world's freshwater resources The report is primarily targeted at national decision makers and water resource managers but is also aimed at educating and informing a broader audience from governments to the private sector and civil society It underlines the important roles water plays in all social economic and environmental decisions highlighting policy implications across various sectors from local and municipal to regional and international levels Similarly to the first two editions this report includes a comprehensive and up to date assessment of several key challenge areas such as water for food energy and human health and governance challenges such as institutional reform knowledge and capacity building and financing each produced by individual UN agencies Economic, Social, and Cultural Rights in International Law Eibe Riedel, Gilles overlooked elements promote social equality and cultivate personal agency across Africa's diverse political economic landscapes Assessing Progress in Africa Towards the Millennium Development Goals, 2011 Assessing Progress in Africa Toward the Millennium Development Goals, 2010 The Global Social Crisis United Nations, United Nations. Department of Economic and Social Affairs, 2011 During 2008-2009 the world experienced its worst financial and economic crisis since the Great Depression of the 1930s. The crisis followed the effects of the food and fuel price hikes in 2007 and 2008. In 2009 global output contracted by 2 per cent. This 2011 Report on the World Social Situation reviews the ongoing adverse social consequences of these crises after an overview of its causes and transmission The Global Partnership for Development at a Critical Juncture MDG Gap Task Force, 2010 In September 2010 world leaders will take stock of MDG achievements to date at the High level Plenary Meeting of the United Nations General Assembly. Much progress has been made since 2000 but there is still a great deal more to be achieved in order to fulfill the promise of the MDGs. In this sense The global partnership for development stands at a critical juncture with only five years left until the 2015 deadline to delivery on the commitments made and to achieve the MDGs. Remaining gaps are still very large and there have been setbacks because of the global food energy and financial crises. The deadline for commitments in a number of crucial areas including increased aid volume improved aid effectiveness. And The conclusion of the Doha Round of trade negotiations is 2010 but there is little prospect of successful delivery. The 2010 issue of the report identifies the implementation gaps in the commitments made under MDG 8 and provides recommendations on how to address them. On strengthening the global partnership and ultimately supporting developing countries in achieving the MDGs World of Work Report 2012, 2012 The World of Work Report 2012 provides a comprehensive analysis of recent labour market and social trends, assesses risks of social unrest and presents employment projections for the next five years. The report emphasizes that while employment has begun to recover slowly job quality is deteriorating and there is a growing sense of unfairness. Moreover given the pressure on governments to rein in expenditure policy efforts have focused on structural reforms to boost employment creation. However if policy instruments are not carefully designed they could exacerbate the employment situation and aggravate further equity concerns with potentially long lasting adverse consequences for both the economy and society.
