Global Prescriptions Gendering Health And Human Rights:

Global Prescriptions Rosalind P. Petchesky, 2003-08 Global Prescriptions is a critical yet optimistic analysis of the role of transnational women's groups in setting the agendas for women's health in international and national settings. The book reviews a decade of women's participation in UN conferences, transnational networks, national advocacy efforts, and sexual and reproductive health provision, assessing both their strengths and weaknesses. It critiques the Cairo, Beijing, and Copenhagen conference documents and World Bank, WHO, and health sector reform policies. It also offers case studies of national level reform and advocacy efforts and appraises the controversy concerning TRIPS trade and essential AIDS drugs. The author takes into account the formidable political and ideological forces confronting global justice movements and also offers a sobering reassessment of transnational women's NGOs themselves and such problems as NGOization, fragmentation, and donor dependency. Petchesky argues that the power of women's transnational coalitions is only as great as their organic connection with grassroots social movements.

Gender Justice and the Law Elaine Wood, 2020-11-16 Gender Justice and the Law presents a collection of essays that examines how gender as a category of identity must continually be understood in relation to how structures of inequality define and shape its meaning. It asks how notions of justice shape gender identity and whether the legal justice system itself privileges notions of gender or is itself gendered. Shaped by politics and policy, Gender Justice essays contribute to understanding how theoretical practices of intersectionality relate to structures of inequality and relations formed as a result of their interaction. Given its theme, the collection's essays examine theoretical practices of intersectional identity at the nexus of gender and justice that might also relate to issues of sexuality, race, class, age, and ability.

Gender. Nation. Text. Lorraine Kelly, Tina-Karen Pusse, Jennifer Wood, 2017 This collection explores the multifarious manifestations of gender intrinsic to national ideologies, the use of gender in the construction and development of nation states, and the role of political, literary, and cinematographic discourses in cultural debates that define national and international borders in post-colonial societies. The selected essays focus primarily on Europe and Latin America and consider the implications of colonialism, dictatorship, and the transition to democracy on national identities, as well as the deliberate use of gendered language and images in the development of discourses of hegemony frequently used to underpin support for individual political regimes or as a call to arms to defend national patrimony. Series: Cultural Studies, Kulturwissenschaft, Estudios Culturales, Etudes Culturelles. Vol. 55. Subject: Gender Studies, Politics, Sociology, Cultural Studies.

The Oxford Handbook on the United Nations Thomas G. Weiss, Sam Daws, 2018-06-28 This Handbook provides in one volume an authoritative and independent treatment of the UN's seventy-year history, written by an international cast of more than 50 distinguished scholars, analysts, and practitioners. It provides a clear and penetrating examination of the UN's development since 1945 and the challenges and opportunities now facing the organization. It assesses the implications for the UN of rapid changes in the world, from technological innovation to shifting foreign policy priorities, and the UN's future place in a changing multilateral landscape Citations and additional readings contain a wealth of primary and secondary references to the history politics and law of the world organization This key reference also contains appendices of the UN Charter the Statute of the International Court of Justice and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights

Gender After Gender in Consumer Culture Elisabeth Tissier-Desbordes, Luca M. Visconti, 2020-12-23 Gender After Gender in Consumer Culture provides an updated discussion of how gender cuts across consumer culture in light of increasing gender fragmentation and integration with other identity positions Sex the biological distinction male female and gender which refers to a person's sense of being male female or any other combinations of these inform issues as varied as personal identity social interactions and market behaviours First contributions account for the increasing fluidity and or fragmentation of gender positions which reshape the interplay between consumers and marketers Second they provide a timely illustration of how consumption and markets concur in contrasting gender inequalities taken both individually and jointly e g at the intersection of ethnicity or positions of market marginalisation Third chapters question the role of gender in granting personal and societal well being as they reflect on the collective capacity of constantly undoing gender stereotypes Focusing on gender this book allows the reader to trace the links among cultural categories e g masculinity femininity gender identity social phenomena and market dis functioning The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue in the journal Consumption Markets Culture

The Difference that Gender Makes to International Peace and Security Sara E. Davies, Nicole George, Jacqui True, 2018-10-29 Fifteen years after the adoption of UN Security Council Resolution 1325 which establishes the Women Peace and Security agenda there is now a need to assess the impacts of gender equality efforts and to understand why and how gender equality reforms have advanced to the extent that they have This book examines how international peace and security is re envisioned from a gender perspective by mostly focusing on the nuances presented by the Asia Pacific region It argues that despite the diversity of political socio cultural and economic systems in the Asia Pacific women and girls in the region continue to experience similar forms of insecurities Several countries in the Asia Pacific have demonstrated relative peace and stability In addition women's leadership and participation in peacebuilding are and continue to be increasingly recognized in the region too However as the chapters in this book demonstrate applying a critical gender analysis allows for the interrogation of veneers of political order which can then mask or normalise everyday gendered insecurities The analysis of country cases such as Myanmar Cambodia and Fiji underscores a rethinking of the political order in the Asia Pacific which leaves existing gender inequalities intact The chapters in this book were originally published in a special issue in the International Feminist Journal of Politics

Global Prescriptions Rosalind P. Petchesky, 2003-08 Global Prescriptions is a critical yet optimistic analysis of the role of transnational women's groups in setting the agendas for women's health in international and national settings The book reviews a decade of women's participation in UN conferences transnational networks national advocacy efforts and sexual and reproductive health provision assessing both their strengths and weaknesses It critiques the Cairo Beijing and Copenhagen conference documents and World Bank WHO and health sector reform policies It also offers case studies of national level reform and advocacy efforts and appraises the controversy concerning TRIPS trade and essential AIDS drugs That controversy Petchesky argues starkly illuminates the collision course of transnational corporate and global trade agendas with the struggle for gender racial and regional equity and the human right to health The author takes into account the formidable political and ideological forces confronting global justice movements and also offers a sobering reassessment of transnational women s NGOs themselves and such problems as NGOization fragmentation and donor dependency Petchesky argues that the power of women s transnational coalitions is only as great as their organic connection with grassroots social movements
