Imperialism, Crisis and Class Struggle Henry Veltmeyer, 2010 This book of essays written in honour of James Petras address some of the most critical issues of our time those of imperialism crisis and class struggle These issues allow the authors to identify both the the enduring verities and contemporary face of capitalism and Petras contributions A Theory of Global Capitalism William I. D'Costa, 2015-11-19 International mobility is not a new concept as people have moved throughout history voluntarily and forcibly for personal familial economic political and professional reasons Yet the mobility of technical talent in the global economy is relatively new largely voluntary structurally determined by market forces and influenced by immigration policies With over a decade's worth of extensive research in India Japan Finland and Singapore this book provides an alternative understanding of how capitalism functions at the global level by specifically analyzing the international movement of technical professionals between India and Japan There are three factors that inform this study the services transition away from manufacturing the movement of technical professionals in the world economy and the demographic crisis facing Japan The dynamics of changing capitalism are examined by theorizing the emergence of the services sector in the USA and Japan analyzing the pronounced social inequality in India that is the basis for the global supply of highly skilled technical professionals and providing considerable empirical data on the flows of professionals to these two countries to indicate Japan's institutional inflexibility in accommodating foreign talent The author anticipates that Japanese industry will shed some of its institutional rigidity due to the pressures of competition and the scarcity of technical professionals Providing a wealth of information on the topic of international mobility this book is an essential addition for

Globalization and the Mission of the Church Neil J. Ormerod, Shane Clifton, 2009-11-26 Various social political economic and cultural commentators are presently arguing that human history is reaching a decisive stage in its development a stage marked by increased interconnection between peoples the compression of space and time a sharing of ideas at unprecedented levels global trade and finance and so on The shorthand word used to encompass these phenomena is globalization Some embrace it others reject it while still others dispute its existence But with the abundance of literature and debate that it generates the topic cannot be ignored From its inception in the missionary mandate of Jesus Matthew 28 Christianity has had a global dimension to its mission Christianity is not a spectator to globalization but one of its agents one of the forces at work which have extended interconnection between peoples shared ideas and promoted social political and cultural links The purpose of the present work is not to provide a complete response to the question of the mission of the church in a globalizing world but to establish a framework within which answers may be sought Grounded in the writings of Bernard Lonergan and Robert Doran it develops a theology of history and addresses the churches response to the impact of globalization on vital social cultural personal and religious values The project brings together the perspectives of Catholicism and Pentecostalism the former providing a depth of wisdom and tradition the latter drawing on the insight of a newly emerging movement that has taken root in every continent with remarkable energy and enthusiasm of transnational retailers the effect of China's rise on world income distribution and labor and the consequences of a stronger China for its two most powerful neighbors Russia and Japan The concluding chapter questions whether China's growth is sustainable and if it will ultimately shift the center of global capitalism from the West to the East This cutting edge collection of works by leading global political economists links current events to long term trends in global capitalist development to provide a comprehensive analysis of China's impact on the world Scholars of China world systems and globalization international relations and political economy will find this assessment worthy of study and an important starting point for further research Contributors Richard P Appelbaum Giovanni Arrighi Edna Bonacich J zsef B r cz Paul S Ciccantell John Gulick Ho Fung Hung Stephanie Luce Beverly J Silver Alvin Y So and Lu Zhang Globalization in the 21st Century B.
