Global Dreams Anouk de Koning, 2009-06-01 At the start of the twenty first century Cairo's cityscape has acquired a spectacular global touch Its luxurious five star hotels high rise office buildings immaculately clean malls and swanky coffee shops serving caf latte and caesar salad along with the budding gated communities in the city's desert expanses exemplify three decades of economic liberalization In the surrounding social landscape the gradual abrogation of the Nasser era structures that provided many with low cost goods and services is dearly felt This new study examines Cairo's experience of economic liberalization in an era of globalization It asks what happened to a postcolonial middle class that was once the carrier of national aspirations and dreams It explores how young middle class professionals navigate Cairo's increasingly divided landscape and discusses the rise of a young uppermiddle class presence in the work leisure and public spaces of the city

A Society of Young Women Amelie Le Renard, 2014-06-25 The cities of Saudi Arabia are among the most gender segregated in the world In recent years the Saudi government has felt increasing international pressure to offer greater roles for women in society Implicit in these calls for reform however is an assumption that the only real society is male society Little consideration has been given to the rapidly evolving activities within women's spaces This book joins young urban women in their daily lives in the workplace on the female university campus at the mall to show how these women are transforming Saudi cities from within and creating their own urban professional consumerist lifestyles As young Saudi women are emerging as an increasingly visible social group they are shaping new social norms Their shared urban spaces offer women the opportunity to shed certain constraints and imagine themselves in new roles But to feel included in this peer group women must adhere to new constraints to be sophisticated fashionable feminine and modern The position of other women poor rural or non Saudi women is increasingly marginalized While young urban women may embody the image of a reformed Saudi nation the reform project ultimately remains incomplete drawing new hierarchies and lines of exclusion among women

Re-visioning the Public in Post-reform Urban China Junxi Qian, 2017-08-02 This book offers a theoretical intervention into the normative ideals of public space that are deeply rooted in Western urbanism It disrupts the binaries of presence absence inclusion exclusion by presenting a series of case studies that vividly convey the complexity and vicissitude of grassroots spatial practices It engages powerfully with the question of what constitutes the urban public in our everyday cities Moreover it provides a fresh perspective on the proliferating scholarship on Chinese urbanism in the reform era by seriously considering the ways in which ordinary urban inhabitants respond to and negotiate the impacts of rapid social change and the reshuffling of the systems of values and ideologies The urban public therefore is analyzed as an important field in which identities and cultural differences are formed and performed This book is a worthwhile read for anyone interested in theories of urban public space in general or urban transformation of post reform China in particular      Do Muslim Women Need Saving? Lila Abu-Lughod, 2013-11-12 Do Muslim Women Need Saving is an indictment of a mindset that has justified all manner of foreign interference including military invasion in the name of rescuing women from Islam It offers a detailed moving portrait of the actual experiences of ordinary Muslim women and of the contingencies with which they live

1990s which in turn enabled the development of pious markets for leisure and art thus facilitating the return of artists as veiled actresses or religiously committed performers Revisiting the story she began in A Trade like Any Other Female Singers and Dancers in Egypt Karin van Nieuwkerk draws on extensive fieldwork among performers to offer a unique history of the religious revival in Egypt through the lens of the performing arts She highlights the narratives of celebrities who retired in the 1980s and early 1990s including their spiritual journeys and their influence on the pietization of their fans among whom are the wealthy relatively secular strata of Egyptian society Van Nieuwkerk then turns to the emergence of a polemic public sphere in which secularists and Islamists debated Islam art and gender in the 1990s Finally she analyzes the Islamist project of art with a mission and the development of Islamic aesthetics questioning whether the outcome has been to Islamize popular art or rather to popularize Islam The result is an intimate thirty year history of two spheres that have tremendous importance for Egypt art production and piety
