Global Cultures A Transnational Short Fiction Reader:

Global Cultures Elisabeth Young-Bruehl, 1994 An anthology of 62 stories from around the non Euro American world providing new definitions of cultural diversity and commonality and an invaluable tool for teachers responding to the growing need for multicultural literature

A Biography of Story, A Brief History of Humanity Trish Nicholson, 2016-11-10 An entertaining cultural history and a highly original take on the power of stories in societies past and present Trish Nicholson brings us a unique interweaving of literature and history seen through the eyes of storytellers making a fascinating journey for general readers and students alike From tales of the Bedouin to Homer Aesop and Valmiki and from Celtic bards and Icelandic skalds to Chaucer Rabelais Shakespeare Scott and Chekhov some of the many storytellers featured will be familiar to you others from Africa Asia and the Pacific may be fresh discoveries Beginning with oral tales of our foraging ancestors the emergence of writing the great migrations the age of exploration and the invention of printing through to the industrial revolution and the digital age Nicholson brings us voices from all corners of the world Combining this extraordinary breadth with telling myths epics fables fairy tales and legends she reveals their story power in the comedy and tragedy of human affairs And what of Story's future A Biography of Story A Brief History of Humanity is our own human epic thoroughly researched and referenced and told with the imaginative flair of an accomplished storyteller This is a book lover's book illustrated and handsomely presented in hardback and paperback volumes designed to have and to hold Key selling points Unique in scope beginning with pre history through to the digital age Deeply researched but written in an easy entertaining and accessible style with imagination and humour Ideal foundation reading for students of literature history writing and humanities

Epistolarity and World Literature, 1980-2010 Rachel Bower, 2017-09-29 This book examines the striking resurgence of the literary letter at the end of the long twentieth century It explores how authors returned to epistolary conventions to create dialogue across national linguistic and cultural borders and repositions a range of contemporary and postcolonial authors never considered together before including Monica Ali John Berger Amitav Ghosh Michael Ondaatje and Alice Walker Through a series of situated readings the book shows how the return to epistolarity is underpinned by ideals relating to dialogue and human connection Several of the works use letters to present non anglophone material to the anglophone reader Others use letters to challenge policed borders the prison occupied territory the nation state Elsewhere letters are used to connect correspondents in different cultural and linguistic contexts Common to all of the works considered in this book is the appeal that they make to us as readers and the responsibility they place on us to respond to this address By taking the epistle as its starting point and pursuing Auerbach's speculative ideal of weltliteratur this book turns away from the dominant trend of distant reading in world literature and shows that it is in the close situated analysis of form and composition that the concept of world literature emerges most clearly This study seeks to re think the ways in which we read world literature and shows how the literary letter in old and new forms speaks powerfully again in this period

World

Writing Mary Gallagher, 2008-08-16 Much has been said about the relationship between globalization and culture and the political implications of that relationship. There has been little effort made however to investigate the effect of globalization on poetics or on the ethical moment of literature. World Writing is therefore concerned with studying the intersection of contemporary ethics, poetics and globalization through historical and critical readings of writing from various parts of the world. Following an introductory chapter by Mary Gallagher which maps this conceptual terrain, the contributors investigate how globalization inflects the necessary relationship between poetics, culture, ethics and politics. Among the essays are Celia Britton's reading of douard Glissant on languages in the globalized world; Mary Gallagher's comparison of Glissant's poetics of cultural diversity with the ethics of Emmanuel Levinas; David Palumbo Liu's exploration of the ethics of postcolonial fiction in J. M. Coetzee's work; Mary Louise Pratt's critique based on recent Latin American writing of the prematurely celebratory nature of globalization; and Julia Kristeva's argument for the value of poetics and the ethics of hospitality. What emerges is an intricate discussion of the elusive relationship between the realms of ethics, poetics and politics as they intersect in our changing world.

At Home in the World Timothy Brennan, 1997 The concept of global cultures such as postcolonial hybrid nationalism and cosmopolitanism are common. This book aims to expose the drama played out under the guise of globalism and to present a critique of cosmopolitanism while exploring forces acting against globalism.

The Translation Zone

Emily Apter, 2011-10-16 Translation before 9/11 was deemed primarily an instrument of international relations, business, education and culture. Today it seems more than ever a matter of war and peace. In The Translation Zone Emily Apter argues that the field of translation studies, habitually confined to a framework of linguistic fidelity to an original, is ripe for expansion as the basis for a new comparative literature. Organized around a series of propositions that range from the idea that nothing is translatable to the idea that everything is translatable, The Translation Zone examines the vital role of translation studies in the invention of comparative literature as a discipline. Apter emphasizes language wars including the role of mistranslation in the art of war, linguistic incommensurability in translation studies, the tension between textual and cultural translation, the role of translation in shaping a global literary canon, the resistance to Anglophone dominance and the impact of translation technologies on the very notion of how translation is defined. The book speaks to a range of disciplines and spans the globe. Ultimately The Translation Zone maintains that a new comparative literature must take stock of the political impact of translation technologies on the definition of foreign or symbolic languages in the humanities while recognizing the complexity of language politics in a world at once more monolingual and more multilingual.
