Gender And Civil Society Routledge Advances In International Relations And Global Politics:

Gender and Peacebuilding Maureen P. Flaherty, Thomas G. Matyók, Sean Byrne, Hamdesa Tusso, 2015-10-16 The twenty first century has brought with it a shift from the notion of human security being located in secure national borders to the need to secure the safety freedom and dignity of all Despite efforts to equalize women s status in the world evidenced by changes in many international projects requiring a gender focus women and men experience most of the world in very different ways according to gender Further the reality is that humans who do not all fall neatly into one of these categories male or female often find their lives further challenged In the 1980s Peace and Conflict Studies first began to acknowledge and study the different experiences males and females have during war and peace Since then there have been books about women and war women working at grassroots levels to build peace women and transitional justice women and peace education and women s views of human security All of these works have contributed to the discourse of our changing world This book brings together some of those themes and voices and adds more with the final product being more than the sum of its parts We add to the conversation a book that considers foundational fundamental issues that span from the interpersonal to the global Many of the chapters describe empirical research completed with author and community shared here for the first time Part One is a collection of case studies documenting challenges and responses to peacebuilding by women from various parts of the world Part Two focuses on Peace and Conflict Studies PACS as a discipline examining not only what is but also what should be taught This section critiques today s efforts at teaching Peace and Conflict Studies and provides suggestions of how this important work might be shared in more open and equitable ways Part Three enters territory found even less in the PACS literature In this section our authors confront patriarchy engage in a discussion about the contribution queer theory makes to PACS and tussle with the notion of inclusivity with considerations of both gender and disability It then ends with a discussion about the contribution feminist methodologies make to PACS Gender and Civil Society Jude Howell, Diane Mulligan, 2004-09-30 The international scope of the case studies means that the book will appeal to the international market Civil society and gender studies are both widely studied and previous titles in these areas have sold well There are no competing titles that consider both civil society and women s political activities Gender, UN Peacebuilding, and the Politics of Space Laura J. Shepherd, 2017-08-02 The United Nations Peacebuilding Commission UNPBC was established in December 2005 to develop outlines of best practice in post conflict reconstruction and to secure the political and material resources necessary to assist states in transition from conflict to peacetime Currently the organization is involved in reconstruction and peacebuilding activities in six countries Yet a 2010 review by permanent representatives to the United Nations found that the hopes of the UN peacebuilding architecture despite committed and dedicated efforts had yet to be realized Two of these hopes relate to gender and power specifically that peacebuilding efforts integrate a gender perspective and that the Commission consult with civil society NGOs and women s organizations This book is the first to offer an extensive and dedicated analysis of the activities of the UN Peacebuilding Commission with regard to both gender politics broadly conceived and the gendered dynamics of civil society participation in peacebuilding activities Laura J Shepherd draws upon original fieldwork that she conducted at the UN to argue that the gendered and spatial politics of peacebuilding not only feminizes civil society organizations but also perpetuates hierarchies that privilege the international over the domestic realms The book argues that the dominant representations of women gender and civil society in UN peacebuilding discourse produce spatial hierarchies that paradoxically undermine the contemporary emphasis on bottom up governance of peacebuilding activities

Yearbook of International Organizations 2014-2015 (Volume 4) Union Of International Associations, Union of International Associations, 2014-09-17 The Yearbook of International Organizations provides the most extensive coverage of non profit international organizations currently available Detailed profiles of international non governmental and intergovernmental organizations IGO collected and documented by the Union of International Associations can be found here In addition to the history aims and activities of international organizations with their events publications and contact details the volumes of the Yearbook include networks between associations biographies of key people involved and extensive statistical data Providing both an international organizations and research bibliography Volume 4 cites over 46 000 publications and information resources supplied by international organizations and provides nearly 18 000 research citations under 40 subject headings This volume also includes a research bibliography on international organizations and transnational associations

The Peacebuilding Process in Postwar Liberia Alžběta Šváblová, 2021 Who are the most important actors in the peacebuilding process in post war Liberia How do they interact in specific institutions on the ground and what are the factors behind the slow pace of the post war reform process This book designed as a qualitative case study with a strong descriptive component provides answers to these questions It highlights the importance of the domestic political landscape for the ultimate fate of the reforms and the role of influential individuals in the process Its findings indicate that despite a rich critical academic debate the current practice of peacebuilding remains shaped by the neo liberal paradigm and remains rather disconnected from the post conflict realities and individuals on the ground of Social Science ,2008 Negotiating the Boundaries of Political Action Melinda Jane Adams,2004 Civil Society, Democratization and the Search for Human Security Duncan McDuie-Ra,2009 This book examines the relationship between civil society and human security in the Indian state of Meghalaya part of the region known as Northeast India Civil society has been revived over the last two decades and is now one of the key concepts in development politics and international aid The concept has gained particular significance as part of attempts to analyse and instigate grassroots democratisation through widespread political participation This is seen as enabling a broader range of issues to be politicised and made a part of political agendas at the local national and global levels However there are few studies that examine the constraints on civil society at the local level even in contexts where civil society may appear to be active and vibrant Those studies that do exist tend to focus on the constraints coming from the state overlooking the constraints that come from within civil society itself During the same period human security has gained prominence as a challenge to state centric conceptions of security and as an alternative approach to development by focusing on the security and insecurity of groups and individuals The concept has been taken up by international organisations development agencies and bilateral donors as a more effective way to understand the difficulties people face in their everyday lives that go beyond conventional categories and indicators In order for those experiencing insecurity to identify and contest the causes of insecurity participation in civil society is necessary Gender and Civil Society Jude Howell,Diane Mulligan,2005 Over the last two decades there has been considerable enthusiasm for the concept of civil society amongst researchers practitioners and activists Yet despite this enthusiasm for the concept the gendered nature of civil society and the impact of feminist organizing on civil society has received minimal attention This edited volume seeks to address this gap and considers how the political environment and nature of the state shapes the way women organize the issues they address and their capacity to affect changes in state policies on gender is the women s movement structurally different from other civil society organizations does the gender lens alter our vision of civil society The chapters in this volume pursue two or more of these questions and cover a diversity of contexts including the US East and Central Europe China the Middle East Africa South East Asia Central America and Chile This book not only draws together the concepts of gender and civil society but also adopts an international perspective highlighting the diverse trajectories of women organizing in different country contexts and the historical cultural and political specificities of civil society Civil Society, Conflicts and the Politicization of Human Rights Raffaele Marchetti,Nathalie Tocci,2011 This publication explores violence conflict and peace It focuses on the non governmental component in ethno political conflicts Civil society actors or conflict society organizations CoSOs are increasingly central in view of the complexity of contemporary ethno political conflicts CoSOs are key players in ethno political conflicts both as violators and as promoters of human rights Nevertheless the precise relationships underpinning the human rights civil society conflict nexus have not been fully examined This volume analyses the impact of civil society on ethno political conflicts through their human rights related activities and identifies the means to strengthen the complementarity between civil society and international governmental actors in promoting peace These aims are addressed in case studies on Bosnia Herzegovina Cyprus Turkey s Kurdish question and Israel Palestine Women & Gender in Central and Eastern Europe, Russia, and Eurasia: Southeastern and East Central Europe Mary Fleming Zirin, 2007 A multidisciplinary and multilingual bibliography on Women and Gender in East Central Europe and the Balkans Vol 1 and The Lands of the Former Soviet Union Vol 2 This two volume set deals with the topics ranging from legal status and marital customs to economic participation and gender roles
