Does SNAP Decrease Food Insecurity? Mark Nord, 2009 Self selection by more food needy households into the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP formerly called the Food Stamp Program makes it difficult to observe positive effects of the program in survey data This study investigates self selection and ameliorative program effects by examining households food security month by month for several months prior to initial receipt of SNAP benefits and for several months after joining the program Food security is observed to deteriorate in the 6 months prior to beginning to receive SNAP benefits and to improve shortly after The results clearly demonstrate the self selection by households into SNAP at a time when they are more severely food insecure Charts and tables

Does Snap Decrease Food Insecurity? Untangling the Self-Selection Effect United States Department of Agriculture, 2015-08-06 Self selection by more food needy households into the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP formerly called the Food Stamp Program makes it difficult to observe positive effects of the program in survey data This study investigates self selection and ameliorative program effects by examining households food security month by month for several months prior to initial receipt of SNAP benefits and for several months after joining the program Two year panels are constructed by matching the same households interviewed in the Current Population Survey Food Security Supplement in 2 consecutive years using data from 2001 to 2006 Food security is observed to deteriorate in the 6 months prior to beginning to receive SNAP benefits and to improve shortly after The results clearly demonstrate the self selection by households into SNAP at a time when they are more severely food insecure The results are consistent with a moderate ameliorative effect of SNAP reducing the prevalence of very low food security among recent entrants by about one third although they do not conclusively demonstrate that extent of amelioration

the Institute of Medicine Research Opportunities Concerning the Causes and Consequences of Child Food Insecurity and Hunger is the summary of that workshop convened in Fall 2012 to examine research gaps and opportunities to advance understanding of the causes and consequences of child hunger in the United States This report reviews the adequacy of current knowledge identifies substantial research gaps and considers data availability of economic health social cultural demographic and other factors that contribute to childhood hunger or food insecurity It also considers the geographic distribution of childhood hunger and food insecurity the extent to which existing federal assistance programs reduce childhood hunger and food insecurity childhood hunger and food insecurity persistence and the extent to which it is due to gaps in program coverage and the inability of potential participants to access programs or the insufficiency of program benefits or services Research Opportunities Concerning the Causes and Consequences of Child Food Insecurity and Hunger will be a resource to inform discussions about the public health and medical costs of childhood hunger and food insecurity through its focus on determinants of child food insecurity and hunger individual community and policy responses to hunger impacts of child food insecurity and hunger and measurement and surveillance issues

Alleviating Food Insecurity with SNAP Elaine Morton, 2016 The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP formerly called the Food Stamp Program is designed primarily to increase the food purchasing power of eligible low income households to help them buy a nutritionally adequate low cost diet This book describes the rules related to eligibility for SNAP benefits as well as the rules for benefits and their redemption It also provides an overview of the problem of food insecurity in the United States and the important role that SNAP plays in addressing it

The Effect of Snap Benefits for Food Insecurity David E. Davis, 2016 This paper investigates the effect of Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP benefits for food insecurity The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act ARRA temporarily increased SNAP benefits We use that increase as a natural experiment to identify the causal effect of endogenous SNAP benefits We estimate models of food insecurity with linear two stage least squares and non linear instrumental variable IV probit Results suggest that a per person SNAP dollar decreases food insecurity by 0.4% to 0.9% However effects are nonlinear The probability of food insecurity is highest and marginal effects are largest when benefit amounts are small

How Much Does SNAP Reduce Food Insecurity? Caroline Ratcliffe, Signe-Mary McKernan, 2010 In a country as wealthy and prosperous as the United States one would think that having enough to eat is not an issue However nearly 15 percent of all households and 39 percent of near poor households were food insecure in 2008 The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP formerly called the Food Stamp Program is the cornerstone of federal food assistance programs and serves as the first line of defense against food related hardship such as food insecurity Using the 1996 2001 and 2004 Survey of Income and Program Participation SIPP panels this paper measures SNAP s effectiveness in reducing food insecurity using a dummy endogenous variable model with instrumental variables to control for selection bias Recent changes in state SNAP policies and rules provide exogenous variation which we use to control for selection into the program Results from naive models that do not control for the endogeneity of SNAP receipt show that SNAP receipt is associated with higher food insecurity However instrumental variable models that control for the endogeneity of SNAP receipt suggest that SNAP receipt reduces the likelihood of being food insecure by roughly 30 percent and reduces the likelihood of being very food insecure by 20 percent These findings provide evidence that SNAP is meeting its key goal of reducing food related hardship

How Much Does SNAP Reduce Food Insecurity? Caroline E. Ratcliffe, Signe-Mary McKernan, 2015 Nearly 15 percent of all households and 39 percent of near poor households were food insecure in 2008 The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP formerly called the Food Stamp Program is the cornerstone of federal food assistance programs and serves as the first line of defense against food related hardship Using SIPP data this paper measures SNAP s effectiveness in reducing food insecurity using an instrumental variables approach to control for selection bias Our results suggest that SNAP receipt reduces the likelihood of being food insecure by roughly 30 percent and reduces the likelihood of being very food insecure by 20 percent

SNAP Matters Judith Bartfeld, Craig Gundersen, Timothy Smeeding, James P. Ziliak, 2015-11-25 In 1963 President Kennedy proposed making permanent a small pilot project called the Food Stamp Program FSP By 2013 the program s fiftieth year more than one in seven Americans received benefits at a cost of nearly 80 billion Renamed the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP in 2008 it currently faces sharp political pressure but the social science research necessary to guide policy is still nascent In SNAP Matters Judith Bartfeld Craig Gundersen Timothy M Smeeding and James P Ziliak bring together top scholars to begin asking and answering the questions that matter For example what are the antipoverty effects of SNAP Does SNAP cause obesity Or does it improve nutrition and health more broadly To what extent does SNAP work in tandem with other programs such as school breakfast and lunch Overall the volume concludes that SNAP is highly responsive to macroeconomic pressures and is one of the most effective antipoverty programs in the safety net but the volume also encourages policymakers students and researchers to continue examining this major pillar of social assistance in America

How Much Does the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program Reduce Food Insecurity? Caroline Ratcliffe, Signe-Mary McKernan, 2020 Nearly 15% of all U S households and 40% of near poor households were food insecure in 2009 The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP is the cornerstone of federal food assistance programs and serves as the first line of defense against food related hardship This paper measures the effectiveness of SNAP in reducing food insecurity using an instrumental variables approach to control for selection Our results suggest that receipt of SNAP benefits reduces the likelihood of being food insecure by roughly 30% and reduces the likelihood of being very food insecure by 20%      How Much Does the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program Reduce Food Insecurity? Caroline E. Ratcliffe, Signe-Mary McKernan, Sisi Zhang, 2013 Nearly 15% of all U S households and 40% of near poor households were food insecure in 2009 The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP is the cornerstone of federal food assistance programs and serves as the first line of defense against food related hardship This paper measures the effectiveness of SNAP in reducing food insecurity using an instrumental variables approach to control for selection Our results suggest that receipt of SNAP benefits reduces the likelihood of being food insecure by roughly 30% and reduces the likelihood of being very food insecure by 20%      Food Security Improved Following the 2009 ARRA Increase in SNAP Benefits Mark Nord, 2011-08 The Amer Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 ARRA increased benefit levels for the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP formerly known as the Food Stamp Program and expanded SNAP eligibility for jobless adults without children One goal of the program changes was to improve the food security of low income households The authors find that food expenditures by low income households increased by about 5.4% and their food insecurity declined by 2.2% from 2008 to 2009 Food security did not improve for households with incomes somewhat above the SNAP eligibility range Therefore ARRA SNAP enhancements contributed substantially to improvements for low income households This is a print on demand report      Long-Term Benefits of the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program White House, 2016-02-14 The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP is the cornerstone of U S efforts to alleviate hunger by supplementing the food budgets of low income households The large majority of SNAP recipients are children working parents elderly Americans and people with disabilities SNAP has also played an important role in lifting millions of people especially children out of poverty This report provides an overview of the problem of food insecurity in the U S and the important role that SNAP plays in addressing it Research shows that SNAP is highly effective at reducing food insecurity and in turn has important benefits for low income families especially for children These include improvements in short run health and academic performance as well as in long run health educational attainment and economic self sufficiency Figures This is a print on demand report      Investigating Treatment Effects of Participating Jointly in Snap and Wic when the Treatment is Validated Only for Snap Helen H. Jensen, Brent Kreider, Oleksandr Zhylyevskyy, 2019 USDA operates several food assistance programs aimed at alleviating food insecurity We study whether participation in both SNAP and WIC alleviates food insecurity compared with participation in SNAP alone We bound underlying causal effects by applying nonparametric treatment effect methods that allow for endogenous selection and underrepresented program participation when validation data are available for one program treatment but not the other We estimate average treatment effects using data from the National Household Food Acquisition and Purchase Survey FoodAPS FoodAPS includes administrative data to validate SNAP participation Information on local food prices allows us to construct a food expenditure based monotone instrumental variable that does not require a typical IV

exclusion restriction Under relatively weak monotonicity assumptions we identify that the impact of participating in both programs relative to SNAP alone is strictly positive suggesting that the programs are nonredundant This evidence can support improved design and targeting of food programs      Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (Snap) Participation Leads to Modest Changes in Diet Quality United States Department of Agriculture, United States Department of Agriculture Staff, 2015-07-17 Recent research has shown that the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program SNAP effectively reduces food insecurity Questions remain however about the extent to which SNAP affects the quality of adult participants diets These questions have surfaced in the context of the increasing public costs of diet related illnesses such as diabetes high blood cholesterol and heart disease and have led to discussions about restricting the use of SNAP benefits to purchase some food items This report examines Healthy Eating Index HEI scores for adults in low income households that do and do not participate in SNAP To disentangle the choice of whether to participate in SNAP from diet choices this model uses a unique data set that matches State level SNAP policy variables to individual level data from four waves of the National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey NHANES Two important kinds of results emerge the effect of SNAP on the diet quality of those who choose to enroll and a total comparison of SNAP participants and nonparticipants after SNAP s effects are taken into account On the first this report shows that SNAP participation results in a large increase in the likelihood of consuming whole fruit and a slightly lower consumption of dark green orange vegetables On the second the report finds that SNAP participants have slightly lower HEI scores both total and components than nonparticipants meaning that they have slightly lower diet quality They do however consume less saturated fat and sodium than nonparticipants
