Atlanta Greeks Stephen P. Georgeson, 2015-11-16 By 1890 the first Greek immigrants to Atlanta had settled into an area still widely populated by Confederate veterans In a city without the large immigrant presence common in the nation's major urban areas the Greeks were initially received as undesirable visitors by the state's and city's leaders While the Greek Orthodox Church of Atlanta endured financial hardship it continued to aid funerals hospitals and orphanages These Greeks moved from the city's streets as fruit vendors into more established businesses Christ Gyfteas's fruit stand at the corner of Broad and Marietta became the California Fruit Company By 1911 40 percent of Greeks were proprietors or partners in a variety of businesses like cafés restaurants soda fountains and groceries Author Stephen Georgeson explores the Greek immigrants' experiences in their first three decades in Atlanta The Greek Americans , The Greek Americans Alice Scourby, 1984 The Greeks in America J. P. Xenides, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1922 edition Excerpt Chapter III THE GREEKS IN AMERICA Continued SOCIAL CONDITIONS Improved social conditions Now as a rule people are living in more sanitary conditions than formerly Greeks like other immigrants adapt themselves to circumstances Those who arrive at any port in the United States searching for work are glad to find a place to put their head The whole family of four five or more get along for a time in one room hut as soon as they get work and improve their circumstances they seek better quarters with improved conditions of living EDUCATION Coffee houses Greeks have brought to America their customs and modes of recreation from the old country Coffee houses provide the principal recreation for men People flock to these places day and night sitting around tables sipping black coffee smoking cigars or more commonly cigarettes or the narghile and discussing everything business news of national interest and of course the politics of Greece and the attitude of Americans towards them At times they discuss American politics There are often animated discussions that might be taken for quarrels by those who do not understand Greek but it is all verbal no blows exchanged excepting the blows the tables or chairs receive Greeks like the Latin people accompany their words with multiple gestures of hands and head maybe even the foot or the whole body Games Certain games are played in almost all the coffee houses cards backgammon chess and dominoes Cards are the most common game They are often played for pastime and recreation Gambling But unfortunately gambling is frequently connected with them Almost every answer to my questionnaire mentioned gambling as the chief evil among the Greeks in America Id Greek Americans Charles C.
