Reconstructing Obesity Megan B. McCullough, Jessica A. Hardin, 2013-10-01 In the crowded and busy arena of obesity and fat studies there is a lack of attention to the lived experiences of people how and why they eat what they do and how people in cross cultural settings understand risk health and bodies This volume addresses the lacuna by drawing on ethnographic methods and analytical emic explorations in order to consider the impact of cultural difference embodiment and local knowledge on understanding obesity It is through this reconstruction of how obesity and fatness are studied and understood that a new discussion will be introduced and a new set of analytical explorations about obesity research and the effectiveness of obesity interventions will be established

Fatness, Obesity, and Disadvantage in the Australian Suburbs Megan Warin, Tanya Zivkovic, 2019-03-18 This ethnography takes the reader into the Australian suburbs to learn about food eating and bodies during the highly political context of one of Australia's largest childhood obesity interventions While there is ample evidence about the number of people who are overweight or obese and an abundance of information about what and how to eat obesity remains a problem in high income countries such as Australia Rather than rely on common assumptions that people are making all the wrong choices this volume reveals the challenges of eating healthy when money is scarce and how different versions of being fat and doing fat happen in everyday worlds of precarity Without acknowledgement of the multiple realities of fatness and obesity interventions will continue to have limited reach

Handbook of Obesity Prevention Shiriki Kumanyika, Ross Brownson, 2007-09-23 Comprehensive in scope and meticulously researched Handbook of Obesity Prevention analyzes the intricate causes of this public health crisis and sets out concrete multilevel strategies for meeting it head on This innovative handbook starts by clearly defining obesity in clinical epidemiologic and financial terms From there expert contributors provide insights on current issues methods and controversies in the field focusing on new opportunities for prevention successful interventions and initiatives and guidelines for planning and implementing programs and evaluating results This systematic approach to large scale social and policy change gives all parties involved from individual practitioners to multinational corporations the tools to set and attain realistic goals based on solid evidence and best practice in public health

Development and Evaluation of an Intervention for the Prevention of Childhood Obesity in a Multiethnic Population, 2016

Obesity Alexandra A. Brewis, 2011 In a world now filled with more people who are overweight than underweight public health and medical perspectives paint obesity as a catastrophic epidemic that threatens to overwhelm health systems and undermine life expectancies globally In many societies being obese also creates profound personal suffering because it is so culturally stigmatized Yet despite loud messages about the health and social costs of being obese weight gain is a seemingly universal aspect of the modern human condition Grounded in a holistic anthropological approach and using a range of ethnographic and ecological case studies Obesity shows that the human tendency to become and stay fat makes perfect sense in terms of evolved human inclinations and the physical and social realities of modern life Drawing on her own fieldwork in the rural United States Mexico and the Pacific Islands over the last two decades Alexandra A Brewis addresses such critical questions as why obesity is defined as a problem and why some groups are so much more at risk than others She suggests innovative ways that anthropology and other social sciences can use community based research to address the serious public health and social justice concerns provoked by the global spread of obesity Childhood Obesity Prevention Judi A. Sedivy,2001 Obesity Interventions in Underserved Communities Virginia M. Brennan, Shiriki K. Kumanyika, Ruth Enid Zambrana, 2014-12-08 Groundbreaking approaches to preventing and reducing obesity among minority low income and other medically underserved communities in the United States The obesity epidemic has a disproportionate impact on communities that are hard hit by social and economic disadvantages In Obesity Interventions in Underserved Communities a diverse group of researchers explores effective models for treating and preventing obesity in such communities The volume provides overviews of the literature at specific junctures of society and health e g the effectiveness of preschool obesity prevention programs as well as commentaries that shape our understanding of particular parts of the obesity epidemic and field reports on innovative approaches to combating obesity in racial ethnic minority and other medically underserved populations in the United States Authors make specific recommendations to policy makers which are designed to reverse the rising rate of obesity dramatically The thirty one literature reviews commentaries and field reports collected here address obesity prevention and treatment programs implemented across a spectrum of underserved populations with particular attention paid to children and adolescents Aimed at students clinicians and community workers in public health and health policy as well as family medicine and pediatrics sociology childhood education and nutrition and deeply informed by fieldwork this book demonstrates the importance of taking a full contextual view both historical and current when considering the challenge of reversing upward obesity trends among ethnic minorities impoverished people and other underserved populations The Feasibility of Applying a Systems Approach to Developing Childhood Obesity Prevention Interventions in Makkah, Saudi Arabia Mohammed A.
