Hassan, Muhammad Nawaz, Lorenzo Barbanti, Sajid Masood, 2025-03-24 Salinity stress is serious abiotic stress that negatively affects crop productivity and global food security One of the top ten threats to the world's land resources the extent of soil salinity is increasing by 1.5 million hectares every year Salinity stress is a global problem that threatens food productivity food security and ecosystems Salinity affects seed germination plant growth nutrient and water uptake physiology and molecular responses Increasing industrialization and anthropogenic activities further aggravate salinity stress Global population is continuously rising necessitating a substantial increase in crop production to meet food needs Therefore proper measures must be taken to improve crop productivity on salt affected soils to ensure global food security Recent studies have shown that the negative effects of salinity stress in plants can be countered by various biochemical physiological and molecular mechanisms at both tissue and whole plant levels Progress in metabolomics transcriptomics and proteomics has enabled the identification of various stress induced proteins metabolites and transcription factors that can be used to develop salinity tolerance in plants Moreover advances in genomics and biotechnology allow for the breeding of salt tolerant cultivars with improved production potential in salt affected soils Introductory Botany for Plant Identification Elizabeth L.

King, 1992 Computational Botany Paolo Remagnino, Simon Mayo, Paul Wilkin, James Cope, Don Kirkup, 2016-12-09 This book discusses innovative methods for mining information from images of plants especially leaves and highlights the diagnostic features that can be implemented in fully automatic systems for identifying plant species Adopting a multidisciplinary approach it explores the problem of plant species identification covering both the concepts of taxonomy and morphology It then provides an overview of morphometrics including the historical background and the main steps in the morphometric analysis of leaves together with a number of applications The core of the book focuses on novel diagnostic methods for plant species identification developed from a computer scientist's perspective It then concludes with a chapter on the characterization of botanists' visions which highlights important cognitive aspects that can be implemented in a computer system to more accurately replicate the human expert's fixation process The book not only represents an authoritative guide to advanced computational tools for plant identification but provides experts in botany computer science and pattern recognition with new ideas and challenges As such it is expected to foster both closer collaborations and further technological developments in the emerging field of automatic plant identification
