

Courage

Sub-Concepts Covered: Vulnerability, Humility, Kindness

Kindness in the Classroom lessons teach kindness skills through a step-by-step framework of Inspire, Empower, Act, Reflect and Share. Each lesson starts with the 'share' step to reinforce learning from previous lessons. The 'act' piece is woven into the lessons but really takes place in the projects.

In the Courage Unit, students will have the chance to recognize what makes them courageous, which also includes feeling empowered to say "yes" to good choices and "no" to bad choices, even when it feels hard to do so. Students will also explore what they are passionate about and determine if they have the courage to follow that passion. Finally, students will experience how good it feels to honor the courage of others through "random acts of kindness." Sometimes simply being kind to others takes courage and vulnerability, and this unit will give students an opportunity to recognize and embrace these concepts.

Unit Objective

Students will:

- Recognize that being our best selves takes courage & sometimes risk.
- Practice respectful ways of saying "no" to peer pressure.
- Discuss the role of courage in making change in a community.
- Discuss the experience and impact of engaging in random acts of kindness.

Student Introduction

Welcome to the Courage Unit! This unit will give you an opportunity to recognize all the great ways in which you show courage, vulnerability, and humility - all of which can feel somewhat scary, but all of which are also incredibly rewarding. In this unit you will be encouraged to try some new things - get out of your comfort zone a bit - and evaluate what it is you are really excited about could empower you and others for good. You will also get a chance to practice saying "no" to things that you know are not good for you (which takes courage!), and end with the opportunity to recognize others for their courageous acts! Let's get started with our first lesson!

- Courage, vulnerability, humility
- Role play: Responding to Peer Pressure
- Making positive change
