Figure Studies Claudia Emerson, 2008-09-01 Poet Claudia Emerson begins Figure Studies with a twenty five poem lyric sequence called All Girls School offering intricate views of a richly imagined boarding school for girls Whether focused on a lesson a teacher or the girls themselves as they collectively school or refuse to the poems explore ways girls are trained in the broadest sense of the word Gossips the second section is a shorter sequence narrated by women as they talk about other women in a variety of isolations these poems told from the outside looking in highlight a speculative voicing of all the gossips cannot know In Early Lessons the third section children narrate as they also observe similarly solitary women the children's innocence allowing them to see in farther than the gossips can The fourth section offers studies of women and men in situations in which gender with all of its complexities figures powerfully The follow up to the Pulitzer Prize winning collection Late Wife Figure Studies upholds Emerson's place among contemporary poetry's elite The Mannequin above Main Street Motors When the only ladies dress shop closed she was left on the street for trash unsalvageable one arm missing lost at the shoulder one leg at the hip But she was wearing a blue sequined negligee and blonde wig so they helped themselves to her on a lark drunken impulse and for years kept her leaning in a corner beside an attic window rendered invisible The dusk was also perpetual in the garage below punctuated only by bare bulbs hung close over the engines An oily grime coated the walls and a decade of calendars promoted stock car drivers women in dated swimsuits even their bodies out of fashion Radio distorted there cigarette smoke moaned the pedal steel conceding to that place a greater echoing sorrow So lame forgotten prank she remained back turned forever to the dark storage behind her gaze leveled just above anyone's who could have looked up to mistake in the cast of her face fresh longing her expression still reluctant figure for it

Painter,1903 Pinion Claudia Emerson,2002-02-01 In this eloquent long poem Claudia Emerson employs the voices of two family members on a small southern farm to examine the universal complexities of place generation memory and identity Alternating between the voices of Preacher and Sister Pinion is narrated by the younger surviving sister Rose in whose memory the now gone family and farm vividly live on In the dream that recurs like a bird returning the place is still as it was as though they went away years ago fully intending to be back by first dark Sister tells of her observances in day to day life in the 1920s and her struggle to take care of her father grown brothers and Rose the change of life baby after the death of her mother The hens had hidden their heads beneath their wings they blinded themselves as I dusted the kneading bowl with flour sifted fine as silk and so I disappeared as I sank my fists into it Preacher feels keenly the burden of running the farm and fears being the last one to live on the place I was held fast there pinioned not dying growing numb and light wait crazed and finally calm Both wrestle with a desire for independence and the duty to home they are bound to by birth neither marries or leaves Pinion is ultimately a wrenching elegy that Rose creates She is the one who escaped only to realize I survive them all but I find I have become the house they keep The Virginia Quarterly Review ,2008 Ungrafted Claudia Emerson,2024-12-09 The poetry of Claudia Emerson is marked by a precise evocative handling of subjects drawn from her upbringing in the rural South yet recognizable to readers across cultures complicated family histories the eccentricities of place the frustrations of illness the pleasures of language and environment Speakers drawn from history and local settings recount narratives of loss struggle and perseverance The natural world glistens with beauty and vitality Cancer overtakes the body producing a suspended state of existence Everyday objects suggest universal truths and mysteries Ungrafted offers more than two dozen previously uncollected poems left in manuscript at the time of Emerson's death alongside generous selections from all her previous books Assembled by her longtime editor Dave Smith Ungrafted adds a final volume to the legacy of the writer described by the Richmond Times Dispatch as one of the most honored decorated and revered poets in Virginia history The Southern literary messenger ,1841 The Southern Review ,2008 Southern Literary
