The Word Whiz's Guide to New York Elementary School Vocabulary Chris Kensler, 2001. Some kids collect baseball cards, I collect words. Hi, I'm the Word Whiz. I didn't become a Whiz all on my own; my parents and teachers helped me. And together you and I can help your child master more than 400 vocabulary words that elementary school students need to know for tests in class and when doing homework. Really important words for subjects like English, Language Arts, narrator, opinion, scene, antonym, motivation, Math, average, volume, numerator, intersect, quadrilateral, Social Studies, equator, consequences, citizen, minority, tyranny, Science, mammal, nutrients, soluble, condensation, recycle. I've also included words commonly used in questions on New York State tests such as probability, estimate, and represent. I made up some really fun activities to help your student learn these words. Since I'm in elementary school, my exercises involve things kids my age are interested in like TV, movies, games, sports, and music. They come with WhizTips, extra hints on how to learn vocabulary words and ace tests. On the Test, examples of how the words are used on the New York State tests. I also wrote this huge WhizWord list in back with kid friendly and parent friendly definitions and sample sentences. The words in this book will come in handy for the rest of your child's life. So let's get started.

The book captures the most current thinking, research, and analysis on the full range of issues in educating students with learning disabilities from its definition to the most recent case law and interpretations of federal law on educating these students in the general education classroom. The contributors' words speak sufficiently mellifluously and exactly about their contributions to the education of all students in particular those with disabilities. This book of essays was written to pay tribute to Barbara D. Bateman who, along with Sam Kirk, coined the term learning disabilities. Its content reflects the significance of her contributions to the field of special education.
