A Child's World Diane E. Papalia, Sally Wendkos Olds, 2003 This chronologically organized text designed for the Child Development course is well known for the author team's clear accessible writing style and innovative pedagogical learning system A Child's World builds on these strengths with full integration of current Canadian child development research statistics and examples and detailed coverage of Canadian policies and institutions that impact child development A continual focus on the diverse groups that comprise our multicultural society makes the text relevant to students' experiences Applauded by reviewers and adopters for its combination of research coverage with applications and real life examples the text continues to include superior coverage of cross cultural and social policy topics Child Development Laura E. Levine, Joyce Munsch, 2016-12-01 In the Third Edition of the topically organized Child Development An Active Learning Approach authors Laura E. Levine and Joyce A. Munsch invite students to take an active journey toward understanding the latest findings from the field of child development Using robust pedagogical tools built into the chapter narratives students are challenged to confront myths and misconceptions participate in real world activities with children and independently and utilize video resources and research tools to pursue knowledge and develop critical thinking skills on their own This new edition covers the latest findings on developmental neuroscience positive youth development the role of fathers and more with topics of diversity and culture integrated throughout More than a textbook this one of a kind resource will continue to serve students as they go on to graduate studies to work with children and adolescents professionally and to care for children of their own The Space of the World Nick Couldry, 2024-09-17 Over the past thirty years humanity has made a huge mistake We handed over to big tech decisions that have allowed them to build what has become our space of the world the highly artificial space of social media platforms where much of our social life now unfolds This has proved reckless and has huge social consequences The toxic effects on social life young people's mental health and political solidarity are well known but the key factor underlying all this has been missed the fact that humanity allowed business to construct our space of the world at all and then exploit it for profit In the process we ignored two millennia of political thought about the conditions under which a healthy or even a non violent politics is possible We endangered the one resource that is in desperately short supply in the face of catastrophic climate change solidarity Is human solidarity possible in a world of continuous digital connection and commercially managed platforms and what if it isn't In the first book of his trilogy Humanising the Future Nick Couldry offers a radical new vision of how to design our digital spaces so that they build rather than erode both solidarity and community This trenchant and vividly written book stresses that we cannot afford not to care for our space of the world We need to rebuild it together Inhabiting Borders, Routes Home Ala Sirriyeh, 2016-05-23 In recent years there has been growing interest in the experiences of young people seeking asylum in Europe While the significance of the role of age is recognized both youth transitions and trajectories beyond the age of eighteen are still largely unexplored the role and impact of mobility predominantly centering on experiences of movement from country of origin to country of settlement Inhabiting Borders Routes Home contends that in considering migration and settlement experiences of young refugees it is also important to consider the role of their mobility through age and transitions in the country of settlement Based on narrative research with young refugees this book explores how migration journeys are intertwined with life course journeys and transitions into adulthood shedding light on the manner in which gender intersects with age in experiences of migration and settlement with close attention to the processes by which home is understood and constructed Through the concept of home the book draws together and reflects on interconnections between integration in areas such as education or housing and experiences of social networks Examining experiences of the asylum process and the manner in which they are interwoven within a wider narrative of home both within and beyond Inhabiting Borders Routes Home will be of interest to social scientists working in the areas of migration asylum intersectionality and the life course

What if everything you knew about education was wrong? David Didau, 2015-06-10

If you feel a bit cross at the presumption of some oik daring to suggest everything you know about education might be wrong please take it with a pinch of salt What if everything you knew about education was wrong is just a title Of course you probably think a great many things that aren't wrong The aim of the book is to help you murder your darlings David Didau will question your most deeply held assumptions about teaching and learning expose them to the fiery eye of reason and see if they can still walk in a straight line after the experience It seems reasonable to suggest that only if a theory or approach can withstand the fiercest scrutiny should it be encouraged in classrooms David makes no apologies for this why wouldn't you be sceptical of what you're told and what you think you know As educated professionals we ought to strive to assemble a more accurate informed or at least considered understanding of the world around us Here David shares with you some tools to help you question your assumptions and assist you in picking through what you believe He will stew findings from the shiny white laboratories of cognitive psychology stir in a generous dash of classroom research and serve up a side order of experience and observation Whether you spit it out or lap it up matters not If you come out the other end having vigorously and violently disagreed with him you'll at least have had to think hard about what you believe The book draws on research from the field of cognitive science to expertly analyse some of the unexamined meta beliefs in education In Part 1 Why we're wrong David dismantles what we think we know examining cognitive traps and biases assumptions gut feelings and the problem of evidence Part 2 delves deeper Through the threshold looking at progress liminality and threshold concepts the science of learning and the difference between novices and experts In Part 3 David asks us the question What could we do differently and offers some considered insights into spacing and interleaving the testing effect the generation effect reducing feedback and why difficult is desirable While Part 4 challenges us to consider What else might we be getting wrong cogitating formative assessment lesson observation grit and growth differentiation praise motivation and creativity The Psychologist ,2006 Revolution in Psychology Ian Parker,2007-06-20 Leading psychologist argues we need to revolutionise the discipline Psychology Nevid,Jeffrey S.
