Future Ethics Climate Change And Apocalyptic Imagination:

Future Ethics Stefan Skrimshire, 2010-10-14 Examines the ethical and philosophical questions confronting activists policy makers and educators in the battle against climate change

Aesthetics and Architecture Edward Winters, 2007-08-19 The Continuum Aesthetics Series looks at the aesthetic questions and issues raised by all major art forms Stimulating engaging and highly readable the series offers food for thought not only for students of aesthetics but also for anyone with an interest in philosophy and the arts Aesthetics and Architecture places analytical philosophical aesthetics at the heart of thinking about and looking at architecture The book looks at classic and contemporary aesthetic and philosophical views of architecture It considers with stimulating insight and great clarity how Classicism Modernism Structuralism Post structuralism and Situationism have influenced architectural aesthetics and shaped our view of the built environment It also explores the challenges to the various intellectual and cultural movements that inform how people create and look at buildings The book moves on to investigate the aesthetic qualities demands and approaches specific to architecture and architectural thinking concluding with a programme for contemporary architecture Anyone studying or interested in architecture or philosophical aesthetics will find this book a rich source of ideas insight and information Combining a clear and engaging style with a sophisticated treatment of a fascinating subject Aesthetics and Architecture is a valuable contribution to contemporary aesthetics one that revitalises the way we look at the form purpose and meaning of our built environment

Environmental Crisis in Young Adult Fiction A. Curry, 2013-02-18 This pioneering study is the first full length treatment of feminism and the environment in children s literature Drawing on the history philosophy and ethics of ecofeminism it examines the ways in which post apocalyptic landscapes in young adult fiction reflect contemporary attitudes towards environmental crisis and human responsibility

Emotions, Moral Formation, and Christian Politics Jonathan M. Cahill, 2024-08-22 This volume addresses the social relational nature of moral formation emotions and moral agency Drawing on Barth s theological anthropology and his relational conception of the self Cahill argues that Barth envisions moral progress as rooted in the growth of the community Cahill also explores Barth s view of emotion in conversation with the study of emotions in psychology sociology neuroscience and philosophy Building on Barth and these other disciplines Cahill argues for a relational and cognitive conception of emotions while highlighting emotions critical role in regulating group and social relations Emotions are fundamental to interpersonal interactions to group relations and for the reinforcement and disruption of social structures This account of moral formation and emotion is illustrated through the example of climate change A community shaped by love for God solidarity with other creatures and a concern for all of creation leads to an awareness of hegemonic forces and fosters emotions shaped by the kingdom of God that enables the struggle for climate justice

Catastrophes Nitzan Lebovic, Andreas Killen, 2014-07-28 Catastrophic scenarios dominate our contemporary mindset Catastrophic events and predictions have spurred new interest in re examining the history of earlier disasters and the social and conceptual resources they have mobilized The essays gathered in this volume reconsider the history and theory of different catastrophes and their aftermath The emphasis is on the need to distance this process of reconsideration from previous teleological representations of catastrophes as an endpoint and to begin considering their operative aspects which unmask the nature of social and political structures Among the essays in this volume are analyses by leading scholars in their respective fields concerning the role of catastrophes in theology in the history of industrial accidents in theory of history in the history of law in catastrophe films in the history of cybernetics in post Holocaust discussions of reparations and in climate change

The Apocalypse in Film Karen A. Ritzenhoff, Angela Krewani, 2015-12-30 We live in a world at risk Dire predictions about our future or the demise of planet earth persist Even fictional representations depict narratives of decay and the end of a commonly shared social reality Along with recurring Hollywood blockbusters that imagine the end of the world there has been a new wave of zombie features as well as independent films that offer various visions of the future The Apocalypse in Film Dystopias Disasters and Other Visions about the End of the World offers an overview of Armageddon in film from the silent era to the present This collection of essays discusses how such films reflect social anxieties ones that are linked to economic ecological and cultural factors Featuring a broad spectrum of international scholars specializing in different historical genres and methodologies these essays look at a number of films including the silent classic The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse the black comedy Dr Strangelove or How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb the Mayan calendar disaster epic 2012 and in particular Lars Von Trier's Melancholia the focus of several essays As some filmmakers translate the anxiety about a changing global climate and geo political relations into visions of the apocalypse others articulate worries about the planet's future by depicting chemical warfare environmental disasters or human made destruction This book analyzes the emergence of apocalyptic and dystopic narratives and explores the political and social situations on which these films are based Contributing to the dialogue on dystopic culture in war and peace The Apocalypse in Film will be of interest to scholars in film and media studies border studies gender studies sociology and political science

The Arizona Quarterly, 2016 The Environmental Apocalypse Jakub Kowalewski, 2022-11-16 This volume brings together scholars working in diverse traditions of the humanities in order to offer a comprehensive analysis of the environmental catastrophe as the modern day apocalypse Drawing on philosophy theology history literature art history psychoanalysis as well as queer and decolonial theories the authors included in this book expound the meaning of the climate apocalypse reveal its presence in our everyday experiences and examine its impact on our intellectual imaginative and moral practices Importantly the chapters show that eco apocalypticism can inform progressively transformative discourses about climate change In so doing they demonstrate the fruitfulness of understanding the environmental catastrophe from within an apocalyptic framework carving a much needed path between two unsatisfactory approaches to the climate disaster first the conservative impulse to preserve the status quo responsible for today's crisis and second the reckless acceptance of the destructive effects of climate change This book will be an invaluable resource for students and scholars interested in the contributions of both apocalypticism and the humanities to contemporary ecological debates Environment and Planning, 2009 Arts & Humanities Citation Index, 1987 A multidisciplinary index covering the journal literature of the arts and humanities It fully covers 1 144 of the world's leading arts and humanities journals and it indexes individually selected relevant items from over 6 800 major science and social science journals The Apocalyptic Dimensions of Climate Change Jan Alber, 2021-09-07 Climate change and the apocalypse are frequently associated in the popular imagination of the twenty first century This collection of essays brings together climatologists theologians historians literary scholars and philosophers to address and critically assess this association The contributing authors are concerned among other things with the relation between cultural and scientific discourses on climate change the role of apocalyptic images and narratives in representing environmental issues and the tension between reality and fiction in apocalyptic representations of catastrophes By focusing on how figures in fictional texts interact with their environment and deal with the consequences of climate change this volume foregrounds the broader social and cultural function of apocalyptic narratives of climate change By evoking a sense of collective human destiny in the face of the ultimate catastrophe apocalyptic narratives have both cautionary and inspirational functions Determining the extent to which such narratives square with scientific knowledge of climate change is one of the main aims of this book A Perfect Moral Storm Stephen Mark Gardiner, Stephen M. Gardiner, 2013-03-21 Climate change is genuinely global dominantly intergenerational and takes place in a setting where our prescriptive theories are weak This perfect moral storm poses a profound challenge to humanity This book explains the storm how it makes sense of our current malaise and why better ethics can help This book argues that despite decades of awareness we are currently accelerating hard into the climate problem in a way that defies standard explanations It claims that this suggests that our current focus on the scientific and economic questions is too narrow and that the tendency to see the political problem as a traditional tragedy of the commons facing nation states is too optimistic Instead the key issue is that the current generation and especially the most affluent are in a position to pass on most of the costs of their behavior and especially the most serious harms to the global poor future generations and nonhuman nature This tyranny of the contemporary is a deeper problem than the traditional tragedy of the commons Moreover the book argues that this diagnosis helps to explain both the past failures of international climate policy e g the shadow solutions of Kyoto and Copenhagen and the current push towards geoengineering Part of the solution it argues is better public ethics We must work harder on articulating both the ethical problem and moral constraints on solutions In addition there is a role for defensive moral and political philosophy aimed at preserving the quality of public discourse The Apocalyptic Imagination S. Brent Plate, 1999-01-01 Imagining the Future of Climate Change Shelley Streeby, 2018-01-31 NoDAPL native American and indigenous science fiction and futurisms Climate refugees in the greenhouse world archiving global warming with Octavia E

Butler Climate change as a world problem shaping change in the wake of disaster Ethics for the Coming Storm Laurie Zoloth, 2023 How can we come to understand our existence on this earth surrounded by air and light and water while living in a place we deliberately and carelessly abuse where resources are becoming scarce and where the well being and basic health of our neighbors is threatened In Ethics for the Coming Storm Laurie Zoloth argues that our debates about environmental issues have largely been driven by the language of economics and political power and have become both deeply divisive and symbolic turning our differing truth claims and moral appeals into signs of identity This discourse has utterly failed to change the human behavior or political and economic structures necessary to face global warming head on So Zoloth turns to another language found in the texts and traditions of Jewish thought the language of Scripture the Talmud and philosophy of Judaism which she contends offers a different kind of argument for such a change In fact Zoloth claims the traditions histories and texts of Jewish thought address precisely the sort of existential crisis that we now face and thus deepen and enrich our public discourse about what to do and who to be This book uses a careful attention to rabbinic and philosophical sources in Jewish thought to provide a novel framework through which we can reassess the choices we make that affect our climate our environment and our social structures

An Inconvenient Apocalypse Wes Jackson, Robert Jensen, 2022-09-01 Confronting harsh ecological realities and the multiple cascading crises facing our world today An Inconvenient Apocalypse argues that humanity's future will be defined not by expansion but by contraction For decades our world has understood that we are on the brink of an apocalypse and yet the only implemented solutions have been small and convenient feel good initiatives that avoid unpleasant truths about the root causes of our impending disaster Wes Jackson and Robert Jensen argue that we must reconsider the origins of the consumption crisis and the challenges we face in creating a survivable future Longstanding assumptions about economic growth and technological progress the dream of a future of endless bounty are no longer tenable The climate crisis has already progressed beyond simple or nondisruptive solutions The end result will be apocalyptic the only question now is how bad it will be Jackson and Jensen examine how geographic determinism shaped our past and led to today's social injustice consumerist culture and high energy high technology dystopias The solution requires addressing today's systemic failures and confronting human nature by recognizing the limits of our ability to predict how those failures will play out over time Though these massive challenges can feel overwhelming Jackson and Jensen weave a secular reading of theological concepts the prophetic the apocalyptic a saving remnant and grace to chart a collective realistic path for humanity not only to survive our apocalypse but also to emerge on the other side with a renewed appreciation of the larger living world

The Ministry for the Future Kim Stanley Robinson, 2020-10-08 Established in 2025 the purpose of the new organisation was simple To advocate for the world's future generations and to protect all living creatures present and future It soon became known as the Ministry for the Future and this is its story From legendary science fiction author Kim Stanley Robinson comes a vision of climate change unlike any ever imagined Told entirely through fictional eye witness accounts The Ministry For The Future is a masterpiece of the imagination the story of how climate change will affect us all over the decades to come Its setting is not a desolate post apocalyptic world but a future that is almost upon us and in which we might just overcome the extraordinary challenges we face It is a novel both immediate and impactful desperate and hopeful in equal measure and it is one of the most powerful and original books on climate change ever written Also by Kim Stanley Robinson Red Moon New York 21402312AuroraShaman

The Pivotal Generation Henry Shue, 2022-01-11 We all recognize that climate change is a supremely important issue of our time which requires both trans national and trans generational collaboration and shared responsibility What we haven't yet fully appreciated argues political philosopher Henry Shue are the ethical considerations surrounding the fact that the next one or two decades will determine whether climate change which already has led us to dangerous effects will surge into inescapably disastrous effects The people alive today thus represent a pivotal generation in human history For the past two centuries humans have undermined our climate at an increasing rate in ways that the present generations are the first to fully understand and the last to be able to reverse But our responsibility for decisive and immediate action rests on three special features of the relation of our present to the future that many have failed to realize 1 future generations face dangers greater than ours even if we act robustly 2 the worsening dangers for future generations are currently without limit and 3 a less robust effort by us is likely to allow climate change to pass critical tipping points for severely worse and potentially unavoidable future dangers Shue a renowned scholar of ethics politics and international relations who has been studying the ethics of climate change for the last two decades guides us through what our ethical responsibilities to others are both across the world but especially over time and what those commitments require us to do in addressing the climate change crisis now and forcefully

Post-Apocalyptic Environmentalism Carl Cassegård, Håkan Thörn, 2022-10-21 This book analyses how the environmental movement has developed three overarching narratives that co exist and compete within it The first is the narrative of green progress which has been prominent from the start in environmentalist thought and which is today expressed in the idea of sustainable development and in eco modernism The second is the apocalyptic narrative which urges us to act in order to avert a future catastrophe and which rose to prominence with Rachel Carson and other classics of post war environmentalism and experienced a renaissance with the climate activism of the 2000s The third is the postapocalyptic narrative according to which catastrophe is already an unavoidable fact The centrepiece of the book is its discussion of the postapocalyptic narrative which has become influential in the recent decade especially in the wake of the disillusionment following the failed climate summit in Copenhagen 2009 Climate change resource exhaustion pollution and species extinction signal that catastrophes have already become realities here and now for an enormous number of people and other lifeforms The book probes the possibilities and limitations of the environmental movement in grappling with these issues and turning them into relevant action

Apocalyptic California MaryKate Messimer, 2023-04-25 This book explores concepts of environmentalism and feminism in science fiction novels written by women By extrapolating the future of climate change the authors of these texts model how readers can apply utopian feminist and environmental theories in their own lives Chapter One establishes an understanding of ecofeminist environmental thinking through original research conducted at the Ursula K Le Guin archive at the University of Oregon Chapter Two shows an example of climate change dystopia set in California in Claire Vaye Watkins novel Gold Fame Citrus The final chapters explore utopian visions of queer ecologies in books by Octavia Butler and N K Jemisin Because climate change is so difficult for individuals to grapple with a new perspective is needed to survive it The queer ecological philosophy in these novels points to a way of life that can reduce environmental harm in an era of climate change
